BLIZZARD'S TOLL HIGH

Eight Dead in New England

Last Snowstorm of Winter Lays Heavy Hand Down on Eastern Coast

Trains Snowbound When Weather Ties Up Shipping and Blocks Highways

BOSTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—The last snowstorm of the winter to visit New England coast following a mile-a-minute northeaster, and never were cold toilers taken a toll of at least eight lives. The storm directly or indirectly occasioned minor injuries to several persons, tied up shipping and rendered many roads impassable.

In the Cape Cod section of this state, apparently was the worst hit, where six deaths were reported and four cars. All roads along the coast were piled high with snow, automobiles and even snow plows were held fast in the drifts. Not an train was reported running through the state.

Among those who lost their lives were Alexander S. Hemenway, Jr., of New York, a sophomore at Yale, grandson of the late Alanson Phelps Stokes, noted philanthropist. The automobile in which he was riding, police said, was a tree at Simsbury, Conn., injuring three classmates.

THE SNOWSTORM IN WATER RECORD

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—A heavy snowstorm, followed by a cold spell that set a new record for water, today brought distress to many of New York's poor and partial relief to others.

Thousands were driven to refuge in subway-houses, as the temperature dropped to 7 above. In the primary refuge of the Salvation Army, assembly overflowed from the auditorium into the sitting-room and lobby, where 400 found shelter. Shivering men huddled on the radiators and floors of outlying police stations.

Fully one-half of the city's unemployed, however, the cold and snow were welcome, inasmuch as they brought jobs. Thousands of men were put to work removing the snow from streets. With the aid of city-employed they cleared away hundreds of miles of snow, plows, cross-walks, railroad switches, trucks and horse-drawn carts.

Telephone Girl Saves Couple

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (AP)—A telephone operator was credited today by police of Mr. and Mrs. Jo Clarke, overcome by gas in their home here early today. Miss Mary Jones, operator, had called an ambulance when she managed to knock the receiver off its hook before she herself succumbed.

Will Rogers Remarks:

CLAREMORE (Okla.) Feb. 16. [To the Editor of The Times:] I sure used to envy Gen. Grant and Jesse James when they had smokeless cigars named after 'em, but here I am sitting in the brand new, most up-to-date hotel in the Southwest, the Will Rogers Hotel in Claremore. It's six stories high; that's higher than any hotel in London, and it's got more baths in one room than Buckingham Palace, where the King lives, has all put together. Got more elevators than the Rice Hotel in Houston had during the Democratic convention, and these run cracked ice and White Rock in each room that's standard equipment. Here is the town that you take those wonderful baths that cure you of everything but being a Democrat.

I know now how proud Christopher Columbus must have felt when he heard they had named Columbus, O., after him.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Mediterranean Pact May be Revived in Attempt to Force Cut in Figure

LONDON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Entering the most critical phase of its work, the London naval conference tomorrow faces the fifth week of its negotiations without the presence of Premier Tardieu of France, on whose policy seems chiefly to depend the rapidity of progress toward a treaty on the limitation of armaments.

A disturbed political condition in France and an attack of grip probably will keep the French leader away from London at least a week.

D. S. Zimmerley Brings Back Light Ship Record That German Had Held

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16. (AP)—America apparently reclaimed another world's air record today when D. S. Zimmerley of Marshall, Mo., piloted a Barling NB-3 to a mean altitude of 27,350 feet.

The old record of 22,250 feet for light planes was held by Paul Baumer of Germany, and had withstood assault since July 8, 1927.

Zimmerley carried two barographs, one registering 27,800 feet and the other 26,900 feet. The record will not become official until the instruments have been checked by the National Aeronautic Association and the mark honored by the Federation Aeropautique Internationale, Paris.

GALE HITS HIM

Maj. Luke Christopher, secretary of the contest committee of the association, was official observer of the flight, which took place in connection with the International Aircraft Exposition.

Zimmerley, test pilot for the Nicholas-Beazley Airplane Company, took the plane from the company's stock exhibit for the feat, his second attempt at the record, in a low-wing monoplane.

He experienced a temperature of 32 deg. below zero at top ceiling and nearly exhausted his supply of oxygen before circling down for a landing two hours and ten minutes after the take-off.

At an altitude of 15,000 feet he was struck by a 120-mile wind from the west which forced the light ship backward over the Mississippi River and into Illinois. The plane is powered with a ninety-horsepower Lambert engine.

HEARING LOST

Zimmerley, who also is holder of the world's duration record for planes of the class, wore a wool-lined flying suit over a jumper and heated helmet and goggles. He experienced no ill effects except loss of hearing, which returned slowly after his descent.

The pilot's feat probably adds a second world altitude mark to America's credit, Lieut. Apollo Soucek, Navy flyer, holding the seaplane record of 38,549 feet.

Willi Neuenhofen of Germany holds the altitude record for airplanes with a mark of 41,794 feet. Zimmerley's new record is in the light-plane class.

COSTE AND CODOS BREAK THREE RECORDS

MARSEILLES (France) Feb. 16. (AP)—Dieudonne Coste and Pilot Codos broke the world's endurance, distance and flight duration records for planes carrying one gross ton of cargo today, flying 2048 miles in 18h. 1m. 20s.

The former distance record was held by the German pilot, Herman Steindorf; Fritz Harm, another German, held the duration record for this type of load.

Police Without Search Warrants Arrest Women and Men on Rum Charges

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16. (AP)—Acting under orders of Director of Public Safety Schofield, thirty policemen today swept into the Benjamin Franklin Hotel and, without the formality of warrants, arrested eleven women and thirteen men on charges of illegal possession of liquor.

All but one of the women, it is said, were with their husbands in a suite on the fourth floor when the raiders appeared and took them in patrol wagons to a police station. The men arrested were members or friends of members of the Philadelphia Club of Printing House Craftsmen, an organization of printing-house executives, which had celebrated an anniversary at the hotel.

Horace L. Wiggins, managing director of the hotel, charged that the raid was "illegal and unwarranted." He announced that he is prepared to offer legal or financial assistance to any of those arrested.

Police Magistrate Carney, when informed of the raid, obtained the release of the defendants pending hearings, set for tomorrow, before Magistrate Beaton.

Director Schofield tonight said that he will try to cause the arrest of officials and employees of the hotel and also ask that the hotel's dance license be revoked. He intimated other raids will be made if hotels "continue to refuse to co-operate" in the enforcement of prohibition.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Acton M. Sparrow, 51 years of age, secretary of the Blair Meat Company, was killed near here today when the auto in which he was riding crashed into a bank at the side of the road. Authorities said his daughter, driver of the auto, lost control of the car.

CRIME DRIVE HITS PEAK

Chicago Police Arrest 1124

Hundreds of Those Taken Over Week-end Found to Have Records

Drop in Hold-ups Marked; Victims of Robberies Flock to Show-up

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The peak of the police drive against organized crime was reached late Saturday and early today when 1124 additional prisoners—hoodlums, gangsters, gunmen and suspects—were taken to the already overcrowded cells. Of that number 324 paraded the "stage" in the weekly show-up, with Commissioner Russell personally supervising.

Police records against 285 were found after an all-night session of sending the suspects through the bureau of identification. Seven were arrested with guns and speedy grand-jury action against them was promised.

Already in the drive thirty gunmen have been indicted. Eighteen of them have been arraigned and are due for appearance in court tomorrow morning.

FOUR GIRLS IN LINE

Among the suspects who paraded at the show-up were four girl bandits. In line with the seedy, unkempt derelicts caught in the police net they paraded the "stage" to be given the "once over" by victims of hold-ups, sluggings and kidnapings.

Two notables on parade were Irving Sandler, who with his father, Ike, was indicted a year ago for bombing the shops of shoe repair men who refused to join their "union." Both were acquitted. William Bolton, brother of the more notorious "Red" Bolton, prominent beer runner, was there.

Two bands of gunmen were caught in the act of robbery, two other gangs arrested on suspicion confessed to long lists of street robberies, one man who escaped from jail was captured and fourteen men were booked for carrying pistols.

HOLD-UPS INCREASE

During last night and this morning there were only seventeen hold-ups, thirteen of these occurring after 6 p.m. Acting Chief of Detectives John Egan cited for comparison the record of Saturday night two weeks ago, when sixty-nine citizens were robbed.

So great was the crowd of victims to view those arrested that more than 500 were turned away. Victims of recent crimes had to be issued tickets at the district stations that they might be allowed to enter the show-up hall.

Commissioner Russell conferred with John Egan, chief of detectives, and Lieut. Walter Storms before the show-up, and expressed himself as "greatly satisfied with the results of the drive" and certain "that gunmen in Chicago are on the run."

CHICAGO GANGSTER CAPTURED IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Feb. 16. (AP)—John Sisuly, 26 years of age, Chicago gangster, was captured early today by Detroit police and admitted taking part in the hold-up of the Western Union Telegraph Company main office here last Thursday night.

Two officers and a hold-up man were killed in the hold-up, which was the second attempt to rob the office within ten days.

Sisuly confessed his part in the hold-up and said he was the man who shot and wounded Patrolman John Ralls, according to police. He would not give any information concerning his companions.

Sisuly escaped from the Cook County Jail at Chicago December 3, 1929. He was held there on charges of robbery and parole breaking. Raymond O'Loughlin, who escaped with him, was killed in the hold-up, in which two special police were wounded fatally. Sisuly told police he came to Detroit from Chicago January 15. He said conditions became "too hot" for him in Chicago when the drive against crime began.

HISTORIC TOWN NO MORE

Dynamite Clearing Path of Reclamation Progress Reduces San Carlos, Ariz., to Dust

PHOENIX, Feb. 16. (AP)—San Carlos, Ariz., historic Indian trading and military post where Pershing, Miles and other noted army leaders gained much of their early training, was dynamited into oblivion today. The march of progress, symbolized by the lapping waters impounded by the new Coolidge reclamation dam, has brought to an end one of the most famous little settlements of the old Southwest.

Eight charges of dynamite were necessary to demolish the schoolhouse, the old jail and a number of other structures, the ruins of which will be salvaged by a wrecking company.

With the recent establishment of the San Carlos Indian Agency at Rice and with the exodus of all white residents from the old headquarters, the base from which military and civil organizations accomplished complete subjugation of the Apache Indians was abandoned to the rising waters of the reservoir.

Prior to today's demolition, the population of the post had dwindled to a few straggling Indian families who clung to the old environment as long as possible. These did not dwell in the houses, but in tepees on the lowlands below the mesa upon which stood the aggregation of buildings razed by the dynamite—every one of which had a history.

Higher than the parade ground staff of the post from which the Star Spangled Banner was first unfurled in 1871, the mirrored surface of a placid lake will catch the glint of the sun and will heliograph a message of peace to the surrounding mountains, which heretofore have stood as sentinels gazing on bloody trails of savagery.

The Coolidge project will reclaim more than 100,000 acres of arid land, most of which has been apportioned to the Indians by the United States government.

Octogenarian Saves Wife From Burning Home But Makes Supreme Sacrifice

HARVEY (Ill.) Feb. 16. (AP)—William Richardson, 80 years of age and feeble, became a hero today.

Awakened to find his home being consumed by flames, he gathered up his invalid wife, Anna, 72, and carried her to safety.

Then he re-entered the blazing structure to procure a bag containing his few valuables. Fifteen minutes later firemen found him dead on a bedroom floor.

Fifteen Trapped Miners Rescued

SAINT ETIENNE (France) Feb. 16. (AP)—Fifteen miners entombed in the pit of the Lorette Coal Mine since last Thursday were rescued today. All were well and in good spirits.

The men were trapped by a slide which closed a tunnel. The relief workers said they found two groups playing cards by lamplight, hungry but cheerful.

Three Children Burn to Death

DE SOTO (Mo.) Feb. 16. (AP)—Three children burned to death last night when fire destroyed a two-story log house in which they lived with their parents on a farm six miles southeast of here. They were Gerald, 14 years of age; Vernon, 9, and Roy, 7, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William McParland.

PEKING MAN FLAPPER NOW

Scientist Announces Oldest Skull Young Woman's; Expects to Gauge Brain Capacity Next

PEIPING, Feb. 16. (AP)—Dr. Davidson Black has decided the "Peking man" probably was a woman. Dr. Black, Canadian custodian of the skull which gave rise to the "Peking man" theory and startled the world with evidence that men or men-like creatures had lived near here approximately a million years ago, made the new announcement today.

He has partially chiseled away the stone in which the skull was embedded. The fossil was found in a quarry near Peiping last year. Roy Chapman Andrews declares the discovery the most important ever made in the study of human evolution.

"There are many certain characteristics indicating that the skull was that of a woman," Dr. Black said. "It is apparently that of a young female adult."

The skull's sutures are deep and unfused. The brain capacity was clearly larger than that of the Pithecanthropus erectus, or Java "ape man." The skull still remains embedded in part of the rock in which it was found.

Dr. Black, using most delicate instruments, gradually has been chiseling the stone away. The task will require months, much care being taken so that the parts of the skull will remain undisturbed. When the rock has been removed it will be possible to measure its thickness and also to determine the brain capacity definitely. So far the skull has been prepared only down to the eye sockets.

PRESIDENT HEADS BACK TO LABORS

Chief Executive, Bronzed by Week in Sun, Nearing Washington and Duty

ABOARD PRESIDENT HOOVER'S TRAIN, EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—President Hoover was headed back to work and cold weather today after a week of sport in the warm waters of the gulf stream.

The Chief Executive and Mrs. Hoover stayed in the seclusion of their private car throughout the day, spending their time reading or talking with friends. With them on the car were Associate Justice Stone of the United States Supreme Court and Mrs. Stone, Dr. Vernon Kellogg of the National Research Council, and Mark Sullivan, Washington newspaper man, and Mrs. Sullivan. All were fishing companions of the President and Mrs. Hoover during the week they spent aboard the houseboat Sauntering off Long Key, Fla.

Mr. Hoover will arrive in Washington early tomorrow. Bronzed by the sun, he was perfectly satisfied with the effects of his week of rest and sport, although from the standpoint of fishing the expedition was only moderately successful.

SEIZURES IN CHURCH WAR SPEEDED UP

Wider Confiscation Only Reply of Soviet to Plea of Christian Nations

MOSCOW, Feb. 16. (AP)—Despite the clamor of protests abroad against the closing of churches in Russia, soviet authorities in various parts of the country today ordered conversion of a score or more additional churches, synagogues and mosques into "workers' clubs, schools, grain warehouses, workshops, etc.

This action was taken, officials declared, "in response to the massed demands of the workers." In most cases church bells were removed and converted into metal for industrial purposes.

In several towns the municipal councils, following the Moscow government's recent action, have forbidden the ringing of church bells. Eleven churches were abolished in the Serpukhoff district alone, while three additional churches in the Tarussky district soon will be closed.

The closing of the churches has left a tremendous number of Holy Icons on the market. They can be bought for almost nothing. Icons made of wood and having no historical or artistic value are usually used for firewood, while more valuable ones are deposited in the local museums.

BISHOP FROM PULPIT DENOUNCES SOVIETS

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—Bishop William T. Manning of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, from the pulpit of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, today denounced the soviet government as "seeking by propaganda, and by force to destroy religion and to destroy also those moral ideals which religion has given to the world."

Bishop Manning spoke in response to the appeal of Pope Pius for international and interdenominational union in prayers on behalf of "those suffering persecution and their oppressors."

SEVENTY ON DOOM SHIP

Admiral Benson Rocks in Sand

Thirty-four Passengers Get to Shore and New Rescue Attempt Awaits Dawn

Vessel Grounds Off Mouth of Columbia River in Fog; Excitement Related

ASTORIA (Or.) Feb. 16. (AP)—The trim passenger and freight coastal steamer, Admiral Benson of the Admiral Line, with a crew of sixty-five and seven or eight passengers, rocked in its cradle of sand tonight on Peacock Spit, off the mouth of the Columbia River—a monument to the treachery of the sands, which within the past two years have gripped more than a half-dozen vessels and swallowed them eventually.

On the Washington shore, near Ilwaco Point Adams Coast Guard station, W. H. Robbins, commander of the station, and a dozen guards stood vigilant while the Admiral Benson, less than a mile distant, signaled occasionally that all was well.

The thirty-four passengers who were removed from the Admiral Benson, which grounded early Saturday night in a dense fog, were scattered up and down the Washington side of the river tonight, refugees in small fishing villages awaiting an opportunity to cross the river and proceed to their various homes.

REMOVAL DOUBTFUL

Commander Robbins, whose experience with stranded craft on Peacock Spit includes the Laurel wreck last summer, said it is doubtful the Admiral Benson can be moved, even at the highest tide, from the berth it made itself in the sucking sands of the spit. He said another effort will be made tomorrow morning to rescue the remaining passengers and the crew.

While rescued passengers recounted their experiences, Mrs. J. W. Weinrabe, San Francisco, wife of the chief steward of the Admiral Benson, told of how the officers of the craft dispelled increasing fear among passengers Saturday night when the craft struck the sands.

She said the dining-room was a merry scene with toy balloons, music and dancers marking the end of the voyage from California. Suddenly, she said, an unidentified woman fell flat on her face, the violin player flatted, the passengers rushed to the decks with terror on their faces. Mrs. Weinrabe said officers circulated through the frightened passengers, scoffing good naturedly. "On with the dance," they shouted and the orchestra struck up a lively tune.

SOS HEARD

Later worry overcame mirth, she said, and one male passenger, who happened to understand code, heard the letters SOS flash out over the radio. They flocked to the radio shack, Mrs. Weinrabe said, and one blonde girl, who became insistent, suffered a gashed nose when the window was lowered.

The chief steward's wife said by that time the bottom of the Admiral Benson was bumping furiously over the sands. Finally the craft shivered one long minute and then settled into the sands. The ship listed, she said. Water began pouring in through the ventilators and passengers were ordered to their staterooms by officers.

Through the night which veiled the river, Mrs. Weinrabe said she could hear the splash of oars and the calls of Point Adams Coast Guards as they bucked the surf toward the vessel.

LIFEBOAT OVERTURNS

An attempt to land passengers by a breeches buoy proved unsuccessful when a passenger, Mrs. A. B. Reynolds of Portland, was bruised severely in the breakers. A life boat then was launched from the Admiral Benson and a boat crew rowed thirty of the passengers to the beach. The life boat followed the breeches buoy line successfully until the last trip when, returning empty, the craft overturned in the choppy sea. The rest of the pas-

EGYPT RULER HIDES TOMB

Meydum Expedition Discovers Hoax Designed by Ancient to Confuse Mummy-Snatchers

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 16. (AP)—How an Egyptian ruler of 5000 years ago craftily designed his huge tomb so that any person who sought to find his mummy would be misled into exploring an empty tunnel, was told in a report to the University of Pennsylvania Museum from its expedition at Meydum, announced today.

The expedition has been engaged recently in clearing away the face of a tomb known as a mastabah. While this work was going on, the report of Alan Rowe, expedition director, states, the ruler's hoax was discovered.

"Deliberate cuts had been made in the face of the tomb and the bricks had been so arranged as to form a stairway descending from the upper part of the outside of the tomb to the bottom of a stone core on the inside of the wall," Rowe reported.

"When the stairway reached the inner face of the wall, there was a drop of more than six feet, and beyond this was the opening of a tunnel in the rock which was carefully blocked with a brick wall about fifteen feet from the entrance. After this obstruction the tunnel ran on for a distance of about twelve feet and then stopped.

"At no place is the tunnel higher than a grouching man, and it is clear that the object of the stairway and tunnel was to mislead intending tomb robbers as to the true position of the actual burial chambers in the mastabah."

The mastabah, which the expedition is now bringing to light is a form of tomb construction earlier than that of the Meydum pyramid. All available evidence indicates it is a royal tomb, but to whom it belonged is not known. Evidence so far found indicates it as belonging to a period of civilization more than 5000 years of age.

"In clearing the outer brick wall of the mastabah," the expedition director reported, "we discovered a great many intrusive tombs of the new empire which were placed there when the mastabah was already a veritable antiquity of 1500 years. These intrusive tombs are mostly the simple burials of the common people of the land who, as often as not, appropriated a coffin belonging to some one else.

FRENCH FEARS EVOKE SMILES

Germans Laugh at Bugaboo Raised by Tardieu

Nation's Finances Will Not Run to Warships

Ersatz Preussen Funds Cut From Budget List

BERLIN, Feb. 16. (AP)—The worries of Premier Tardieu of France about Germany's cruisers of the Ersatz Preussen type were said by officials today to evoke disdainful smiles among those who know the contents of the German Finance Ministry's budget, soon to be submitted to the Reichstag.

The Associated Press was informed today that the budget provides 9,000,000 marks (approximately $2,250,000) for continuing work on the Ersatz Preussen. The cruiser has been under construction since 1928 and contracts for a total of 80,000,000 marks (approximately $20,000,000) have been let for work on the vessel.

The defense ministry's program calls for construction within fifteen years of four of these new armored warships, which have been described as a cross between a battleship and a cruiser and fulfilling the purposes of both. Popular sentiment, however, especially among the industrial population, is unmistakably against burdening the taxpayers with the cost of additional cruisers on top of reparations payments, the Ersatz Preussen, and other extraordinary expenses.

Realizing this, the Defense Ministry tried to accumulate a fund by inserting in the budget an item of 100,000 marks "for preliminary preparatory work" on the second cruiser of the proposed series of four. This was blue pencilled by the Finance Ministry's experts, who believed the item had no chance of passing in the Reichstag.

The Associated Press was informed that Minister of Defense Groener for form's sake will move for inclusion of this 100,000 marks in the budget but will bow to the will of the majority after the motion is defeated.

Fatal Blaze Quiz Started

SAN JOSE, Feb. 16. (AP)—An agent of the national board of fire underwriters joined today in the investigation of the fire here last night in which Thomas Biretta, 11 years of age, was burned to death. Beretta's body was found inside the house after the blaze was extinguished. In another room Fire Chief Plummer reported he found a five-gallon can and a coffee pot reeking of gasoline.

TARDIEU ILL AND MUST TAKE REST

London Return Indefinite; Grip Attack Complicated by Laryngitis

PARIS, Feb. 16. (AP) — Premier Tardieu was ordered to bed today by his physicians, and his proposed return to the London naval conference next Wednesday was canceled. The physicians say M. Tardieu has a severe case of grip, complicated with laryngitis and a temperature of 101.

The physicians prescribed several days of complete rest.

Premier Tardieu returned home from the London conference late Friday night, suffering from a severe cold. He insisted on working yesterday, but his condition grew suddenly worse this morning.

The council with the ministers and President Doumergue, scheduled for tomorrow, was postponed tentatively to next Thursday. The date of the Premier's departure for London will be fixed later in accordance with his physical condition.

After the doctors had visited him again at 8 p.m. they reported that his condition was "stationary." His temperature was still a little over 100.

Many political leaders and other prominent persons called, but the doctors left orders no one should see him.

Rangers Meet Many Demands

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Forest rangers are expected to produce curling irons and blankets from fir-clad solitudes as magicians would take rabbits out of a hat, the United States Forest Service reports.

Last summer the 1,845,893 persons who used the 1186 camp grounds provided by the service appealed to the rangers for all sorts of odd things. Though invariably considerate of "tenderfeet" the rangers could only offer them the camp facilities of fire places, garbage pits and sanitary conveniences.

These have been installed in all but 200 of the camps. As soon as funds permit these will also be equipped.

SUB-SEA CURB PLEASES REED

Humanizing Move Declared to Be Great Step

Senator Speaks Over Radio on Parley Progress

Hopes Expressed for Real Navy Cut Even Yet

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, delegate to the five-power naval conference at London, today told an international radio audience that, although the conference cannot succeed in abolishing the submarine, the proposed "humanizing" of submarine warfare is an important accomplishment.

Speaking from London over an American and Canadian network of the Columbia Broadcasting System, the majority leader in the Senate said that "Great Britain and ourselves had hoped that submarines might be wholly abolished, for we have feared that in any war the temptation to use the submarine in ways that kill humanity would be so great as to be nearly irresistible."

ONE STEP TAKEN

"Our French and Japanese friends do not share these views," he continued, "and it is evident, therefore, that this conference cannot succeed in abolishing the submarine. But, we were delighted to see the Prime Minister of France arise and propose that all of the nations should agree that hereafter submarines shall be forbidden to attack merchant ships.

"If this treaty is respected, and we believe that it will be, the events that characterized the submarine in the last war will not again occur."

Senator Reed said the American delegation "has been unanimous in every step that we have so far taken" and that "every point of view has been considered before decisions were arrived at."

He declared there has been great "improvement of the spirit between the nations" in recent years. To illustrate, he pointed out that at the Geneva conference in 1927 Great Britain made an estimate of its cruiser needs that, in the opinion of the American delegation at Geneva, would have made it necessary for the United States to build thirty-seven new ships at a cost of about $600,000,000 in order to reach equality.

CONFIDENCE GROWS

"In the three years that have elapsed since that time," he continued, "international confidence has been so greatly improved that Great Britain now estimates her cruiser program at a total of fifty ships and we can secure equality with that British cruiser fleet with approximately $460,000,000, part of which already has been expended."

Senator Reed pointed out that "the American delegation has insisted throughout that we must not deal specifically with some categories and leave others unlimited.

"There is no use in saving on the battleships only to be extravagant on cruisers or other craft. Merely to transfer competition from one category to another is not a real step forward," he said.

In conclusion he announced that when the conference "results begin to come, they will come fast and in the meantime we trust that you will not become too impatient."

"We know," he said, "that America intends to have a first-class Navy and to keep it thoroughly efficient. But we also know that our people at home will approve of any reasonable reduction or limitation."

EYES OF PARLEY TURN TO FRANCE

Tonnage Demands Center of Delegates' Attention

Tardieu's Absence for Week Won't Bar Discussion

of 724,479 tons by the end of 1936 at present occupies the interest of all the delegations. American and British circles tonight do not consider that the absence of Premier Tardieu will greatly delay the discussion of it.

The other delegations will make use of the time by formulating their arguments to persuade France to slice at least 100,000 tons from the figure she announced.

HOPE REVEALED

While Secretary Stimson was resting at his estate at Stanmore tonight after entertaining the British Dominion delegates, Senator Reed of Pennsylvania broadcast to America a summarized report of the present state of the London negotiations.

The Senator asked the American people not to be impatient for results in London. "When results begin to come, they will come fast," he said.

The truth of this assertion is upheld by most observers at the conference. Senator Reed intimated that the London conference already has achieved enough constructive work to justify the efforts of President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald in bringing the delegates of the five powers together.

Some influential sections of the British press today expressed disappointment, and even alarm, at France's demand for more than 700,000 tons in fleet strength. This, however, has not ruffled the British and American delegations.

CUT HELD POSSIBLE

Though the French insist M. Tardieu's figures are an irreducible minimum, even a superficial analysis indicates that a reduction of more than 100,000 tons is possible if France is convinced that the political security she greatly desires can be bolstered by pledges given here.

The French announcement included 52,791 tons of battleships built before 1911 and 66,963 tons of old cruisers armed with 7.5 guns. It is understood that these could be scrapped, and that the French will enter negotiations for it provided a Mediterranean or an Atlantic security pact is approved by the conference.

Another question the French would like to have discussed at London is the freedom of the seas. Though this has been ruled off the agenda, the French plainly desire to bring it back and perhaps would make a concession in tonnage for the chance to discuss and more definitely define the rights of neutrals and belligerents in wartime.

The question of the Mediterranean security pact, which faded into the background shortly after the beginning of the conference, has been revived by the character of the French demands. It is not a direct concern of the United States but it will draw the Americans into the conversations about it.

In the opinion of American diplomatic experts, the well-established American policy with regard to active and official participation in European and political agreements would preclude America's taking part in such a pact as France desires.

In the conference conversations in this respect so far have been most informal, but it is freely stated that American moral support would be available for such a pact. When the chief delegates resume their work tomorrow, one of their prime considerations will be whether after all other means of conciliating the French desires have been exhausted, the European powers could be brought into line to guarantee a pact of security in the Mediterranean between France, Italy, Great Britain, Spain, Jugo-Slavia and the smaller powers. To this the United States might administer an informal blessing.

Byrd's Vessel Fights Way to Calm Waters

BY RUSSELL OWEN

(Copyright, 1930, by Los Angeles Times, New York Times Company and St. Louis Post Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The bark City of New York is under the lee of the barrier but has been blown far west of her course by the continuous gales of the last ten days. Last night she sighted Ross Island at the western extremity of the barrier and now is working her way eastward in the comparatively calm water under the barrier the crew chopping off the ice which has accumulated in the last few days.

It was believed that she was drifting to the west but not nearly so far as Capt. Melville reported this morning. He has undoubtedly had one of the worst passages from the pack to the barrier ever reported.

Pair Ordered on Honeymoon

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Enslin, both 65 years of age, and married for forty years, were sentenced recently to take a ten-day honeymoon at Hot Springs, Ark. Mrs. Enslin testified that she had saved for years to enable her husband to pile up a nest egg of $65,000 and that he was cruel to her.

"I think what you need is a honeymoon," said the judge. "Did you ever have one?"

When the couple shook their heads in the negative, Judge Sabath said he thought forty years together needed a real honest-to-goodness honeymoon, not a divorce and separate maintenance.

The couple promised to do as the court ordered and booked reservations for next Tuesday. They will report to the court again on April 7 to tell the judge how they enjoyed themselves.

MISS HAYES MOTHER OF DAUGHTER

Baby That Closed Show on Broadway Born to Wife of Playwright

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—"Act of God" or not, the baby who closed a Broadway show was born today to Helen Hayes, and it's a girl.

Miss Hayes, the wife of Charles MacArthur, playwright, was starring in "Coquette" in Los Angeles, when approaching maternity forced her to withdraw from the cast. Manager Jed Harris closed the show and refused to pay the company for the two weeks' notice it did not get.

He maintained that the baby was an act of God and that, therefore, he was not required to give notice. An arbitration board, without ruling on the act-of-God dispute, decided against him.

PIONEER OF CAR MAKING CELEBRATES

Henry Leland, Organizer of Cadillac Auto Company, 87 Years of Age

DETROIT, Feb. 16. (AP)—The oldest living pioneer of the automobile, Henry M. Leland, who made tools for the manufacture of rifles during the Civil War and produced airplane motors in the World War, observed his eighty-seventh birthday at his home here today.

It was a quiet observance spent in reminiscences with a few close friends. In unusually good health, he reiterated that he had no intention of relinquishing his interest in public affairs, but proposed to be active "to the end."

A mechanical genius, Leland introduced storage battery ignition, electric lighting, electric starting and thermostatic control of engine temperatures to the automobile industry. He organized the Cadillac Motor Car Company in 1902, and years later when he had passed his seventy-fifth birthday, founded the Lincoln Motor Company, chiefly for the production of the Liberty Motor. "Beautiful engines they were, too," he said. "They would have won the war if the Kaiser hadn't run away so soon."

Invention of the modern hair clippers was another of Leland's achievements. It brought him an increase of 50 cents a day in his wages in a machine shop in the late '70's.

To his younger well-wishers who called today and asked how it felt to be 87 years of age, he repeated an earlier remark: "I'm a bit embarrassed; you see, its the first time I ever was 87."

Woman Killer to be Hanged

SZOLNOK (Hungary) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Mrs. Lyda Cheri, 54 years of age, a resident of Tiszakuert, was sentenced to death by hanging recently, having been found guilty of poisoning her father and mother in 1926. She committed the deed in order to get possession of their little estate.

The arrest of more than thirty women in Tiszakuert and Nagyrev, caused a sensation four months ago. All of them were charged with poisoning relatives. In the meantime three have been sentenced to death, four to life imprisonment, and the others are in jail awaiting trial.

MEXICO STARTS DISARMING

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 16. (AP)—As a preliminary to President Ortiz Rubio's plan for taking pistols away from Mexico's entire civilian population, detectives today stopped citizens on street cars, in theaters, in saloons and other public places and confiscated the weapons of those who had no permits.

SEVENTY AWAIT RESCUE ON SHIP

sengers then decided not to risk the trip.

The ship is lying about one-quarter of a mile north of the north jetty and about 225 yards offshore.

CUTTER HAS NO STEAM

The Benson grounded shortly after 6 p.m. yesterday in a heavy fog. Capt. C. C. Graham, commander, radioed the United States Coast Guard cutter Redwing and asked for the Redwing's assistance in an attempt to pull out of the sand. The cutter was unable immediately to proceed to the stranded vessel's assistance, however, because there was no steam up due to boiler repairs.

The steamer Nevada then left its berth at Portland, but returned when it was discovered the vessel was of too deep draft to approach the Benson. Meanwhile the Point Adams and Cape Disappointment Coast Guard launches and the pilot ship Columbia located the Admiral Benson and stood by through the night, ready to take off passengers and crew if the vessel began breaking up.

The Redwing, with steam up only in one boiler, left Astoria at 9:10 p.m. and located the Admiral Benson about 11:30 p.m. Fog and shallow water prevented the cutter from getting a line aboard the steamer and it was forced to join the fleet standing by.

OFFICE DISCLOSES PASSENGER LIST

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Passengers booked on the coastal liner Admiral Benson, aground at the mouth of the Columbia River, were disclosed at the Pacific Steamship Company offices here today as including the following:

Curry, A. Wohl, H. Johnson, William Dooley, L. Jellison, H. C. Anderson, F. L. Robertson, T. R. Reese, A. Aiwood, Mrs. E. Marks, W. Stori, Mrs. E. H. Rambo, R. H. Christ, W. M. Hammond, Mrs. Hammond, and two daughters, Anita and Winifred Hammond.

Passengers boarding the vessel at Los Angeles were: Margey Englia, Violet Rossi, E. Fielhaben, Mrs. Fielhaben, Carolyn Dressen, Mrs. John Garrison, Mrs. Harriet Reynolds, Charles M. Dupuy, Mrs. Leonard Brown and Mrs. W. Wahlgren.

DOOLITTLE AND FAMILY IN CRACK-UP

But He Cuts Off Switch as Plane Hurtles, Preventing Explosion of Gasoline

MITCHEL FIELD (N. Y.) Feb. 16. (AP)—The presence of mind and speed of hand that helped make Lieut. James H. Doolittle one of the Army's most successful stunt flyers today saved him and his family from possible injury or death in an airplane crack-up.

Lieut. Doolittle, who recently left the Army to enter commercial pursuits at St. Louis, was taking off for that city with his wife and two sons, James and John.

As he taxied across the field and attempted to turn, the wind caught his plane and flipped it over, breaking the wings and propellor and smashing open the gas tank.

But in the brief instant that it took the craft to turn over, Doolittle had reached for the ignition switch and shut it off, thereby preventing the escaped gasoline from igniting.

He and his family were uninjured. Hu departed with them for St. Louis by train late tonight.

Smut Control Possible, Grain Expert Avers

BERKELEY, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) Through co-operative effort, California grain growers can keep smut from their fields and in large measure, eliminate weeds and other grains from their seed, according to J. Earle Coke, agronomy specialist of the University of California agricultural extension service. He avers the statement has been proved by work done in San Luis Obispo county by a grain recleaning and copper carbonate dusting machine which was mounted on a trailer and taken from farm to farm to clean and treat it to prevent smut immediately after the harvest.

The total expense, according to Prof. Coke, was about $2.40 per ton by the co-operative method, against an average commercial rate of $3 per ton.

GAMBLING WAR FOES LAY PLANS

Opposing Forces in Florida Get Set for Battle

Winter Gaming Fraternity Split Into Factions

Saturday Night Raids Made on Fashionable Clubs

MIAMI (Fla.) Feb. 16. (AP)—Opposing forces in the battle for and against enforcement of antigambling laws in this winter playground, were reported to be holding councils of war tonight.

The indefinite alignments, understood to divide factions of the winter gambling fraternity, have left officials and gamblers in the dark. Raids late last night by deputy sheriffs, however, more or less defined the stand of law-enforcement officials as one of continued action through the wealthy winter resort area.

TWO CLUBS RAIDED

The raids were made on two night clubs, the Florida in Miami Beach and the Embassy Club here. At the former place, approximately $100,000 worth of gambling equipment was seized in a room apparently devoted to games of chance. No patrons were found.

Nineteen arrests were made in connection with the raids, which were made at two dog-racing tracks and a number of gambling rooms.

Today's conferences and meetings, it was reported, were to decide procedure of both factions. Unofficial rumors have drifted through the winter resort area that proprietors of closed gambling establishments have refused to be victims of what they term "discrimination," and are seeking evidence of gambling at the Miami Jockey Club and the dog tracks.

Sheriff Lehmann, last week entered actively into the antigambling campaign in the area, and launched a series of raids on the basis of search warrants.

PLAN TEST FIGHT

City officials embroiled in what was understood to be local political difficulties, already had ordered all gambling houses within the city limits closed.

Meanwhile, today brought statements from proprietors of local institutions that they plan to continue their programs.

Lou Magnolia, proprietor of the jai-alai court here, announced tonight that the court will open for business tomorrow night, using the certificate system. Magnolia said he has employed Bart Riley, local attorney, to represent him and will make a test case of Florida's antigambling law in event any action is taken by county or city officials.

Proprietors of the Miami Beach Kennel Club announced that their track will run through the end of the scheduled season, March 8, next.

SLASH IN FORTUNE TO MARK WEDDING

Mrs. Audrey Loder Coward

COWARD'S WIDOW TO BE LOSER

Shoe Magnate's Son Will Profit Through Mother's Marriage to New Yorker

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) Marriage of Mrs. Audrey Loder Coward of Rumson and Glenridge, N. J., whose engagement to Lee Wingate Carroll of New York has been announced, will cost her a fortune under the will of her husband, J. Mortimer Coward, wealthy young shoe merchant who died in Havana March 3, 1928.

Mrs. Coward's betrothal was announced by her mother, Mrs. Michael J. Bauer of Glenridge.

Mr. Coward's will disposes of an estate in excess of $4,000,000. It provides that his widow receive the income of one-third of the estate for life, as long as she remains unmarried.

In the event of her marriage the trust fund set up for her by the will is to be decreased to $500,000 and the amount that she loses to be added to the two-thirds share placed in trust for Mr. and Mrs. Coward's son, J. Mortimer Coward, 6 years of age. The lad is to receive all his principal on his twenty-first birthday.

Mrs. Bauer, in announcing the engagement, said her daughter will be married in the spring. Inquirers at the home of Mrs. Coward at Glenridge were told that she and her mother were on their way to Kitchener, Ont., where Mrs. M. Scherer, Mrs. Bauer's mother, is very ill.

Skull Fractured in Family Battle

SEATTLE, Feb. 16. (AP)—R. A. Gholson, 43 years of age, a machinist, was taken to the City Hospital here today with his skull fractured as an aftermath of a domestic brawl in which he was hit over the head with a beer bottle. Hospital attendants say his condition is critical.

Mrs. Gholson, 23, and Miss Ruth Long, 21, her sister, who is asserted to have wielded the bottle, were held incommunicado in the City Jail pending the outcome of Gholson's injuries. The women said he had come home intoxicated, abused them and then attempted to beat them. Miss Long said she struck her brother-in-law over the head in self-defense.

NEW LIGHT SHED ON TRICKY STAR

Beta Cephei Flares and Dies Five Times Each Day

Terrific Speed Estimated as Causing Variableness

Milky Way Inhabitant Twice as Large as Sun

BERKELEY, Feb. 16. (AP)—Beta Cephei, the mysterious milky way star which expands and contracts as though it were breathing, at last has a biography. A summary of known facts concerning the star, interpreted in the light of recent observations at the Lick Observatory of the University of California, has been completed by H. S. Mendenhall, graduate student.

Mendenhall's interpretations are said to lend weight to the theory that Beta Cephei is contracting and expanding once in every four and one-half hours. This is such a terrific rate of speed from a terrestrial point of view that it appears to be moving toward and away from the earth at a velocity reaching a maximum of about nine and one-half miles a second.

LARGER THAN SUN

Beta Cephei is a variable star in the Constellation Cepheus. It is best visible in the northern sky during July or August. Its distance from the earth is estimated roughly at 2,000,000,000,000,000 miles, and Mendenhall estimates its diameter at almost 2,000,000 miles, more than twice that of the sun.

In addition to the apparent velocity caused by contraction and expansion of its surface five times a day, Beta Cephei seems to have another motion. This is said by Mendenhall to be a rotation around some other star in a period of twenty years. Completion of this orbit would require twenty times as long as the earth takes to revolve around the sun. The velocity of this rotation is something more than three miles a second.

PULSATIONS REGULAR

Variable stars are of particular interest to astronomers because the light from them pulsates regularly, flaring and dying as though fuel were replenished at regular intervals. The rate of this pulsation has been found to be a measure to the candlepower of the star.

Its distance then can be determined by contrasting its actual candlepower with the apparent magnitude as seen from the earth. The brightness of a light source decreases as the square of its distance. By means of this combination of facts it has been possible to determine the distances of stars so far away that no direct measurement could be made.

Reputed Friend of Bandit Jailed

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Police were combing the city tonight for the companion of Pablo Jojola, Los Angeles robbery suspect shot and killed late Saturday night at the end of an automobile chase on the water front south of Market street. The companion escaped on foot from the pair's gunshot-riddled car, which ha had been driving. The pursuit followed the arrest of Lenora Martinez, 24, who police say is a friend of the men. She is being held for Los Angeles authorities.

The three were wanted in connection with the theft of $1000 from Mrs. K. Naga, East San Pedro restaurant, two weeks ago, after she had drawn it from an East San Pedro bank.

Boy Dies From Crash Injuries

SAN JOSE, Feb. 16. (AP)—Anthony Messina, 15 years of age, died at the San Jose Hospital this morning of injuries suffered several hours earlier when the automobile in which he was riding alone crashed head-on into a street car.

Two ambulance drivers were slightly injured when their ambulance overturned as they were speeding to the scene of the crash.

CUSTOMS SCHOOL PLANNED

Federal Collectors Will be Trained in Courtesy and Efficiency to Overcome Service Ills

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—When customs collectors from all over the country meet here tomorrow for their first general conference in fourteen years they will find that they are going to have to go to "school" to learn more efficient and better manners.

Secretary Mellon has decided that the collectors are in need of training and as the first step toward creation of a "school" for them has appointed an advisory committee to confer with United States Commissioner of Customs F. X. Eble as to the advisability of the project and the best method of putting it in operation. The committee includes Dr. William J. Cooper, Federal Commissioner of Education; Edgar B. Brossard, chairman of the Tariff Commission; Dr. William F. Willoughby, director of the Institute of Government Research; H. A. Edson, chief examiner of the Civil Service Commission, and L. J. O'Rourke, director of research of the Civil Service Commission.

General plans for the school have been worked out by Commissioner Eble.

According to high Treasury officials a major part of customs service ills are traceable directly to poorly trained personnel. They say that a school where present and new customs employees may be coached in efficiency and courtesy not only will eliminate many present-day customs complaints but will establish a bulwark for a modern service in the future.

From a practical standpoint it is explained what money Uncle Sam spends on the school will more than come back in increased customs returns. Inefficient customs officials, Treasury heads believe, are responsible for millions in revenue being lost to the government annually through their inability properly to handle the nation's gigantic import trade.

GRAVE OF INDIAN WARRIOR EMPTY

Chief Geronimo's Bones in Secret Resting Place

Were Removed After Burial Two Decades Ago

Apache Fighter Was Famed as Southwest Terror

FORT SILL (Okla.) Feb. 16. (AP) The grave which tourists, army officers and enlisted men have looked upon in the little Apache cemetery here twenty-one years as the resting-place of the bones of Geronimo, notorious war chief of the Apaches, is empty, Sergt. Morris Swett, post librarian, has revealed on the eve of the anniversary of the old warrior's death.

The terror of Arizona, New Mexico and the Sonora (Mex.) hills died a captive at the army post here, a prisoner of war, February 17, 1909.

"The remains were removed secretly at night, a short time after the funeral," Sergt. Swett said. "It is probably that no living soul save the remnants of a little band, composed mostly of old women, ever has known where they were taken and reburied.

"A relative of Geronimo has promised me that he may disclose the secret to me after the death of his aged mother, who now is more than 100 years of age, but not until then. That is our sole hope of ever learning what was done with the body.

"I would not be surprised," Sergt. Swett continued, "to learn that after reburying the body somewhere around here, members of that little group of friends re-exhumed the bones and secretly took them back to New Mexico, where the Apaches were released as prisoners of war in 1914."

Sergt. Swett said he found the body was missing while seeking to raise a fund to provide a monument for Geronimo's grave.

Child Killed in Stove Blast

LIVE OAK (Cal.) Feb. 16. (AP)—A year-old babe was killed and five other persons were burned when a stove explosion partially wrecked the home of T. C. Self here today. Officers said the blast came when Brady Baggett, 20, brother of Mrs. Self, poured gasoline into the stove, thinking it was coal oil.

Mrs. Self, in bed when the explosion occurred, rushed into the flaming kitchen to rescue her babe. The child died three hours later. Besides Mrs. Self and Baggett, others who were burned or injured by flying pieces of stove were Clayton Self, 8; James Self, 3; Emery Elam, 18, cousin of Mrs. Self. Self was not at home when the explosion occurred.

POLISH COUNT GIVES UP WIFE

Spouse Divorced So She Can Marry His Brother

Chicago Barber Also Turns Over Title and Estate

War Fugitive Deserted From Austrian Army

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Count Samson Von Czarnyj today divorced his wife, Kaska Von Czarnyj, so that she might marry his brother, John, at Lwow, Poland. With a gesture, in keeping with centuries of tradition in his family, Von Czarnyj at the same time surrendered his title and claims to an estate in Poland to his brother.

Count Von Czarnyj, who is now a barber, was married March 1, 1910. At the time he possessed a considerable estate and was moderately wealthy. His wife was also of a good family. At the outbreak of the war he enlisted in the Austrian army as a captain of a Polish company. In 1915 he was assigned to guard Russian prisoners, who were chiefly of Polish descent. He rebelled against the order, refusing to stand guard with his company over compatriots.

He was stripped of his rank and imprisoned. After confinement in a fortress for nearly a year on poor fare, he escaped. In disguise he returned to his home and wife, who had been under the protection of his brother. The Count prevailed on his brother to flee with him to America. Once here they were to have the wife join him. They arrived in Chicago after many adventures just as the United States entered the war.

Because of the war the reunion with the wife was put off. With the declaration of peace Von Czarnyj made necessary arrangements for the entry of his wife. The brother persuaded him to permit him to return to Poland and bring the wife over. Once in Poland the brother wrote and confessed his love for the wife. He said that they had fallen in love while Von Czarnyj was in prison, and that they preferred to remain in Poland.

For many years Von Czarnyj refused to obtain a divorce. But with the birth of a second son to his former wife, he relented.

Speed Flyers Make New Hop

MIAMI (Fla.) Feb. 16. (AP)—Lieutenants Will W. White and Clement McMullen, on a speed flight from Newark, N. The flyers left Cristobal at 6 a.m.

"FOREIGN TRADE WEEK" . . .

THIS WEEK has been designated by the Chamber of Commerce as "Foreign Trade Week" in which the people of Southern California are urged to give special attention to matters of Foreign Trade.

Washington's Birthday...Saturday of this week...has been designated as Harbor Day. The people of Los Angeles are urged to visit their Harbor, and gain appreciation of its importance to the community. The Harbor commissioners and the ships in the port will keep open house, giving callers special facilities for seeing the various parts of the harbor and the ships at the docks.

Security-First National Bank carries a large share of the local foreign trade business. We are equipped to handle all manner of foreign banking business. We finance imports and exports through letters of credit and acceptance credits. We purchase approved commercial bills and make shipowners' disbursements. We carry deposit accounts in foreign currencies.

We are ever ready to impart trade and credit information, and to assist those who seek to widen their markets to foreign lands.

How Los Angeles County Spends Its $100,000,000-a-Year Agricultural Income

Here's the relative amount of agricultural advertising printed by Los Angeles' six newspapers during 1929, stated in agate lines:

Los Angeles Times . . . 161,952

All Other 5 Papers Combined . . . 44,562

As the above advertising deals exclusively with supplies and equipment used on farms, orchards, etc., it manifestly reflects the comparative farm coverage of the papers concerned.

It also follows that as the Los Angeles Times sells the farmers of Los Angeles County most of their seed, nursery stock, fertilizer, tractors and pumping plants, it likewise sells them the majority of all the other advertised goods which they buy with their $100,000,000 income—their automobiles, radio sets, wearing apparel, furniture.

Farmers and orchardists of Southern California look upon the Los Angeles Times as more than a newspaper. It is an old and steadfast friend whose interest in their welfare is sincere. The Times enjoys its daily call at their homes; likes to talk over their problems; is alert to lend a hand. It goes into tens of thousands of agricultural homes where no other daily paper ever is read.

UNION EASES BANK STATUTE

Attorney-General Construes McFadden Act

Plans Merging May Take Branches Along

May Spur Seeking of National Charters

By a Times Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Attorney-Gen. Mitchell is believed to have opened up a new field for branch bank expansion of national banks by the construction he has placed on the McFadden Act in an opinion now in the hands of Secretary Mellon and John W. Poe, Comptroller of the Currency.

Mr. Mitchell has ruled in substance that a State bank may take with it into the national system all of the branches it operated prior to enactment of the McFadden statute, and that it is entitled in addition to have the number of branches allowed by that law on the basis of population of the city where the parent bank is located.

Further, Mr. Mitchell has construed the law to mean that a national bank, with the maximum number of branches allowed is not required to relinquish those branches after consolidation with a State bank having branches which were established before the McFadden limitations were placed on the statute books. The Attorney-General said, however, in respect to this type of branch, that the Comptroller of the Currency has power to require their relinquishment, otherwise they may be retained.

The Attorney-General's ruling was made at the request of the Treasury Secretary and on the basis of two pending cases in the Comptroller's office. These two cases involve a State and a national bank in a city of less than 100,000 population and the Mitchell ruling, therefore, dealt with the specific limitations prescribed by the McFadden Act on a population of that size, but the Treasury's understanding is that the the Attorney-General has laid down a principle for its guidance all along the line.

TO SPUR MOVE

The ruling is generally regarded here also as likely to present a new urge for State banks to take out national charters, particularly those State banks which have developed important chains or branches.

By Mr. Mitchell's construction of the statute the limitation that the parent can have branches only within its home city is inapplicable to a State bank joining the national system, provided only that such branches were established prior to passage of the McFadden Act. To the extent that the bank's string of branches was established before February, 1927, there is absolutely no restriction on the number it may maintain.

Thus, whether Mr. Mitchell intended so to do or not, he has developed a strong talking point for the national bank leaders who have been seeking to bolster up the national system and has made it possible for Comptroller Pole to combat some of the arguments which State bankers have used among themselves when defection to the national system was threatened.

MERGERS IN SIGHT

It is believed that several important mergers will result from the construction now given the statute. None of the Treasury officials would disclose details of their information, but it was declared promptly upon receipt of Mr. Mitchell's opinion that assuredly one or two national banks will take action in the direction of acquiring ownership of strong State bank competitors.

They have hesitated about it heretofore, according to the explanation given, because they did not desire to buy a bunch of leases on property for which they would have no use if the branches using the leased quarters were closed. Also the State banks concerned in the mergers had many stockholders who were said to be unwilling to permit the closing of branches that had grown up with sub-business sections of the home city or in tributary communities.

McFADDEN HOSTILE

There is some speculation here as to the effect the ruling will have on legislation, pending or proposed. Chairman McFadden of the House Banking and Currency Committee, father of the branch limitation idea, may be expected to dislike the Attorney-General's view of the statute. It is rather contrary to his conception of the program contemplated.

On the other hand, some of the national bank leaders in official as well as private life take the position that if Mr. McFadden criticises the Mitchell opinion to any extent he will be attacking the national system in effect. This view is predicated on the belief that the Attorney-General has made the national system more attractive to those on the outside.

ODDS AGAINST MIDDLE CLASSES IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—If one cannot be very rich, the next best thing in New York sometimes is to be very poor.

The wife of a young professional man was alarmed the other day by the sudden illnes of her baby. She called the family doctor several times and could not reach him. At last she bundled the child into a perambulator and hastened with him to a large hospital a few blocks away.

"I can't find a doctor for this baby," she explained, "and he needs attention right away."

"Charity case?" asked the hospital attendant.

"Oh, no! I'll pay the fee."

"Sorry," the attendant said, "but we handle only charity cases."

She implored in vain; it was a charity hospital and accepted no other patients. She started up the street, half frantic, with the child and finally found a doctor for the baby, who, after a little attention, was all right again. But she's still quite wrought up about the plight of the middle classes.

Perhaps there is no place on earth more desirable for a home. Surely, there are few places offering a safer investment.

What Better Proof Than That Along the Orange County Coastline

S. H. Woodruff and his associates, with unlimited capital, have chosen Dana Point as the site on which to build a city. Ole Hanson, with wealth untold behind him, is working out his dream of Old Spain, at San Clemente. The Doheny millions are back of the development at Capistrano Beach.

Even Such As These Are Dreamers, But Their Dreams Point the Way to Affluence

Then there are the other older communities, Laguna, Newport, Balboa, Huntington Beach, and other smaller places. Just a few short years ago they were sleepy little seaside villages. Today the people who are best able to vision the future of Orange County are turning their eyes and their money toward these thriving little coast cities.

WIFE STANDS BY BANKER IN TROUBLE

She Refuses to Believe He Embezzled Large Sums to Support Pretty Cashier

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) While Maywood today buzzed with the story of Elmer P. Langguth, president of the People's State Bank of Maywood, and his pretty protege, Miss Laverne Lindgren, cashier of the bank, who are charged with embezzling bank funds amounting to $253,000, Mrs. Langguth steadily asserted her faith in her husband.

The wife of the 35-year-old bank president refused to believe that her husband and Miss Lindgren had been more than business friends. According to Pat Roche, chief investigator for the State's Attorney's office, Langguth bought two automobiles and had helped to pay for a $35,000 home in Riverside for the cashier.

"I'll admit that I thought of a divorce some time ago and actually filed suit," Mrs. Langguth said today. "But the suit was withdrawn later and I have no thought of deserting my husband in his trouble. I am the mother of his children and it is up to me to be patient with him."

Mrs. Langguth has not seen her husband for several days. He is reported to be in a sanatorium, where he is being constantly watched for fear he may carry out his announced intention of committing suicide.

The cashier was again in seclusion following her surrender and release on $10,000 bonds.

AMERICA JUNKS SUBMERSIBLES

Thirty-one of Navy's Craft Slated for Dump

Thirteen Years Age Limit of $1,000,000 Vessels

No Other Nation Now Ready to Scrap Boats

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Submarines which cost millions of dollars not so many years ago will soon be sold for junk prices.

The United States has 108 submarines, of which 31 are listed for disposal by the Navy before July 1, 1931.

Thirteen years is the age limit for submarines by international agreement. Of the vessels soon to be sold three were built in 1917, fourteen in 1918, seven in 1919, three in 1920 and four in 1922. Those in '17 and '18 cost an average of more than $600,000 and the others an average of over $1,000,000.

The last three submarines were torn down by the Navy and sold to dealers in scrap iron, pumps, motors, engines—all go four whatever they will bring.

In other cases the Navy has sold the submarine outright, after it had been stripped of whatever equipment might be of possible use.

Charts of the Navy Department show that among nations listing submarines beyond the effective age, the United States has fourteen, France has nine, Great Britain, Japan and Italy have none. The chart which shows submarines listed for disposal shows the United States with thirty-one, while the other four powers have not a single submarine on the list.

No plans have been announced for replacement of the thirty-one submarines to be retired. Decision on that point is being formulated at the London naval conference.

FEWER NEGRO CRIMINALS

ATLANTA, Feb. 16. (AP)—Proportion of negroes in the jail population of Georgia decreased 11 per cent from 1921 to 1928, according to the State Department of Public Welfare. Negroes formed 66 per cent of the total in 1921 and 55 per cent in 1928.

CHINESE BUILD BETTER ROADS

Canton Extends Network of Motor Highways

Bussess and Trucks to Take Over Coolies' Work

Modern Transportation Is Paying Proposition

SHANGHAI (China) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Now that fighting has ceased in Kwangtung Province, the authorities at Canton have recommenced their work of extending the network of motor-car highways which, it is designed, will ultimately give modern transportation to all of that portion of the rich Pearl River delta region not already served by launches and steamers on the rivers and canals.

As soon as the roads are completed, motor-bus companies will spring into existence, and trucking is to begin on a large commercial scale, which will cause great hardship to the coolies.

Foreign operators of automobiles and trucks are reaping a harvest in this region, for the motor bus and trucking lines seem to be profitable, despite taxes of $60 per month per car.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (AP)—America's famous fighting falcons of the World War have clipped their wings and settled down.

The heroes of American aviation today are, with few exceptions, a younger, post-war generation. So that, when the veterans gather here next Thursday for the second annual American World War aviators' reunion, their coming will be heralded by no drone of airplane motors and no flip-flops in the sky. With no exception known now, those who come from places outside of Chicago will land at the railroad station instead of the airdromes.

FOLLOW OTHER LINES

"Scarcely any of the well-known war pilots is connected with aviation today," said Maj. Reed Landis, himself one of the famous war aces, with ten enemy planes to his official credit. Maj. Landis spoke across the shiny desk behind which he has been sitting since the war ended, directing a prosperous advertising business.

He enumerated some of the great names of war flying. "Elliott White Springs," he said, "is 'authoring' on his spacious estate down at Fort Mills, S. C. He has his own plane and both he and his wife fly, but he is in no way connected with aviation. He had ten planes to his credit in the war.

"Howard Knotts, who shot down seven, was shot down himself, taken prisoner and later figured in a hair-breadth escape through the German lines, is now quietly practicing law in Springfield, Ill.

"Eddie Rickenbacker, I understand, does little flying in connection with his job as chief of the technical staff of the General Motors Company's aircraft interests. Lawrence Callahan is a broker in Chicago. He has a ship and flies a little on occasion, as I myself do, but he's entirely out of the game."

THRILLS LEFT TO YOUTHS

The reunion, which it is hoped will eventually grow into a co-operative annual affair, begins Thursday and will end Saturday.

It is sponsored by the Chicago Aviation Post of the American Legion, which is one of three such posts in the country. The others are in Los Angeles and New York.

It will be a reunion over the coffee cups rather than in the cockpits. The cups will clink, festival cutlery be applied to plate, and tales will be spun, but the throb of propellers will be left to a younger generation of active pilots who were too young to go to war in 1917.

Maj. Landis believes that these younger chaps, now leading the progress of aviation, would make better war pilots than were the best of those who served in 1917 and 1918. They know more about the science of aviation than did the war-time flyers, he said, and especially about the newer science of aero-dynamics.

"However," he added, "I think that if more of the better-trained war pilots had stayed in the game it would have helped aviation."

Most of the war pilots quit flying he said, because they "had their fill of it."

Blast Wrecks Bank Building at Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Feb. 16. (AP)—An explosion, attributed to an accumulation of gas, followed by fire, today wrecked the interior of the Mercantile Bank Building in downtown Baltimore and caused damage estimated by bank officials at $100,000.

The blast damaged an insurance office on the second floor, tore elevator doors from their hinges on the third floor and hurled broken window glass into the next block.

Officials who started an investigation were unable to determine whether the explosion, which occurred in the cellar, was caused by an accumulation of coal gas or artificial gas.

Three occupants of an apartment on the second floor were carried down a ladder by firemen and one was cut by glass and taken to a hospital for treatment. His condition is not serious.

Man Kills His Divorced Wife and Then Self

VALLEJO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Frederick Schafer, 45 years of age, navy yard employee, this afternoon shot and killed his divorced wife, Mrs. Ellen Schafer, 40, and then killed himself with the same weapon, a .32-caliber automatic pistol.

He had been seen all morning driving through the streets in the vicinity of a grocery store operated by his former wife. When he saw the woman approaching he drove his automobile recklessly in her direction, colliding with three other machines, and crashed against the curb on the wrong side of the street.

Leaping out, he shot Mrs. Schafer four times. Then he killed himself.

They leave two children, a daughter, Mrs. Violet Peterson, 18, and a son, Arnold, 14.

BOYS' GANG ROBS GIRL

SEATTLE, Feb. 16. (AP)—Five masked youths, one of whom flourished an unloaded revolver, forced their way into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Malin here shortly after midnight today, bound and gagged the maid, Miss Luella Burgson, 16-year-old high-school girl, and escaped with $10 in cash and a wrist watch valued at $50. The Malins were away at the time of the robbery.

Process Server Slips in Congratulatory Line and Hands Diva Writ

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) Mixed with orchids, tea roses and other floral tributes given to Mme. Frieda Hempel, famous German diva, at the conclusion of her Carnegie Hall concert last Friday night, was a bit of legal poison ivy, it became known today.

It was a summons for her appearance in Supreme Court next Friday, and was sent by her former teacher, Prof. Johannes Adler-Selva of New York.

Herr Adler-Selva, a voice culturist, is suing his one-time pupil for $50,000, asserting breach of contract.

The process server, placed in the receiving line by the professor's attorneys, slipped the legal "court plaster" into the singer's hand as she extended it for his courteous "my sincerest congratulations, madame."

Student Strike Threat Made to Oust Governor

BARCELONA (Spain) Feb. 16. (AP) Students of the university here today threatened to declare a general strike tomorrow unless the Berenguer government accepts their demand for the resignation of the civil Governor of Catalonia, Milans Del Bosch.

They oppose the Governor because of his opposition to the rector of the university. It has been reported that the rector may go to Madrid to offer his resignation. Some of the students refused to attend classes Saturday.

FARMER CASTS AWAY FORTUNE

Professor Finds $10,000,000 Left to Rot Yearly

Tenth of Sugar Content of Beets Lopped Off

Fallacious Theory of Craft Causes Wastage

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Feb. 16. (AP) Ten million dollars gained simply by shifting the position of an agricultural knife one and a half inches—this is the latest offering of science to national wealth.

Americans can save this fortune merely by cutting off the tops of their sugar beets a little higher up, says Dr. Ernest Reed, professor of botany at Syracuse University, in announcing his discovery tonight. At present the tops cut off and thrown away contain one-tenth of the sugar crop with a prospective value at wholesale prices of approximately $10,000,000.

THEORY DISPROVED

His discovery, ac often happens in science, was made while the professor was studying a theory, one held by an eminent Italian chemist, Ettore Molinari, that sugar is concentrated principally in the heart of a beet. In accord with this belief a practice in the Midwest and the Far West has been to send "toppers" through the beet fields slicing off not only the leaves but also the supposedly barren top section.

In years of work and by developing a new method of testing for sugar, Prof. Reed says, he believes he has disproved the Molinari theory. He says he has proved conclusively that the discarded tops are rich in sugar.

"Sugar-beet growers who have been leaving at least one-tenth of their crop lying to rot in the fields can increase their yield substantially by application of this discovery," he says.

"The leaves can be pulled or cut off economically without removing large portions of the beet."

EVOLVES HYBRID

Another product of Prof. Reed's hands, also announced tonight, is a nameless new plant, a cross between a sugar beet and a swiss chard. It is considerably larger than a sugar beet and produces more sugar.

It probably will receive no name until it proves it can run nature's gauntlet of the survival of the fittest. If the new beet is fertile enough to multiply like other good beets Dr. Reed plans to introduce it to growers in Michigan, California, Colorado and other western States.

Expects Firmer Grip on Life to Help Him Outlive Less Fortunate Animals

PALERMO, Feb. 16. (AP)—In addition to possessing the proverbial nine lives, cats are equipped with five toes. Some cats apparently endowed with more than nine lives may attribute their longevity to their efficient total of twenty needle-like toes.

Caesar, belonging to Mrs. John Tucker, is expected to live to a ripe old age by virtue of the fact that he carries twenty-four toes, six per foot. Caesar's grandmother and mother were said to have lived long and comfortably similarly equipped.

SAFETY ESSAYS TO WIN PRIZES

Highway Education Board Starts School Contest

Elementary Teachers and Pupils to Wield Pens

Cash and Medals Offered for Best Papers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Stressing the need on the part of school children to set a good example in safety on the nation's highways, Thomas H. MacDonald, chairman of the Highway Education Board, Washington, D.C., and chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, has announced completion of the plans for the ninth annual street and highway safety campaign for elementary school children and teachers throughout the United States. This campaign, consisting of two contests, one for children, the other for teachers, is conducted by the board in co-operation with State, county and municipal educational authorities.

The one contest, open to all elementary school pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, 14 years of age and under, is for the best essays on the subject: "What I Am Doing to Set a Good Example in Safety on the Highways," while the other, open to all elementary school-teachers, is for the best lessons on the subject: "Teaching the Essentials of Street and Highway Safety." The two contests are conducted simultaneously in the schools of the country.

Both State and national prizes will be awarded, and one pupil and one teacher, first national winners in their respective contests, will be brought to Washington as guests of the Highway Education Board for a week.

A total of $6500 in cash prizes and medals is offered to winning contestants, the prizes being donated by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

there is more pessimism prevalent than optimism. Fierce trade rivalries, commercial jealousies, and plans for protection of "young industries" are recalled. It is predicted that many defiantly stubborn obstacles will be found in the way of an agreement which would bind states to hold tariff levels where they now are.

League authorities, however, express some hope. They emphasize that much will depend upon the vividness with which delegations recall the sickly conditions of their international trade, and the almost vital need for severe remedial measures.

Encouragement also is voiced because of the fact that for the first time in history ministers of commerce or trade from fifteen nations will meet and exchange views in this conference.

MURIEL CHURCH TO WED

Former Miss Vanderbilt Reported Betrothed to Lee M. Battson, Los Angeles Broker

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Reports from fashionable Newport tonight say that Muriel Vanderbilt Church is soon to be married again. From the quiet, stately Dudley mansion near Newport, where she has lived alone with her horses, dogs, books and piano since her divorce from Frederic Cameron Church, former Harvard athlete, she soon will announce her engagement to Lee M. Battson, about 40 years of age, a broker better known in Los Angeles than in tradition-bound social circles here, it was stated.

Friends of Mrs. Church have revealed that almost every night the former Muriel Vanderbilt cuts short her special engagements to rush home and await the operator's announcement of "Los Angeles calling." Then the story goes, the Vanderbilt heiress and the California broker, who also has been divorced, have one of their regular and enduring telephone chats.

Newport friends are alike mystified by the young and charming Mrs. Church's devotion to her cross-continent calls. Battson, little known here, is a Protestant and was divorced by his wife in Reno about three months ago on the ground of cruelty.

Muriel's mother, the strong-willed Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt II, first objected to genial Freddie Church because he was a Protestant. In fact, shortly before Freddie, one of Harvard's most popular graduates, went to the altar with the Vanderbilt heiress, he balked at signing the usual agreement that their children should be reared Catholics. The rift was smoothed over with considerable difficulty.

Battson was born in Missouri and has been successful in business although his fortune does not, of course, compare with his fiancee's millions. It is reported he will come East in a few weeks and that the Vanderbilt heiress then will announce their engagement.

Battson is more than ten years older than Birdie Fair Vanderbilt's favorite daughter. But friends approve of this because Muriel always has been quiet, conservative and serious-minded. When she won a divorce from the popular Freddie Church, on grounds of nonsupport, friends said his fondness for gay parties and the life of a society clubman caused the rift between them.

DRYS GIVEN NEW HOPES BY SENATOR

Prohibition Law Will Not be Repealed, Kentuckian Tells W.C.T.U. Audience

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Prohibition forces are constantly increasing in Congress, Senator Robison of Kentucky said today in assuring a Women's Christian Temperance Union audience that there is little likelihood of the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Act being repealed.

Speaking at services in memory of Francis E. Willard, he characterized demands for a referendum on prohibition as "pure politics," and said that "instead of so much enforcement demands, there should be more emphasis placed on law obedience."

He denied drinking has become prevalent in educational institutions and that prohibition was enacted without a voice of the people.

When he was in college, Robison said, "a lot of the boys did not have regular rooms" but "lived in the saloons where free lunches were served."

"No such conditions now exist in any college," he added.

"Those women who asked for a referendum last week," he continued, "said they represented 100,000 people. I am sure there are 25,000,000 women in the country who are ardent prohibitionists."

GOEBEL FOE MAY GO TO CONGRESS

Man Indicted in Slaying of Kentucky Governor Apparently Elected

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Feb. 16. (AP)—Charles Finley of Williamsburg, under indictment for nine years following the slaying of William Goebel, then Governor of Kentucky, apparently is the new United States Representative from the Eleventh District.

Returns seeping in slowly from isolate mountain sections continued to pile up a lead for Finley over his Democratic opponent, Nat B. Sewell of London. Tonight 289 out of 533 precincts in the district had given Finley 9344 votes to 3524 for Sewell. The district normally is Republican.

The election, called to fill the place of John M. Robinson, recently appointed United States Senator, brought out a light vote.

Finley is the second of those indicted in connection with the death of former Gov. Goebel to serve his State from the Eleventh District. Caleb Powers, who served eight years in the penitentiary after the slaying, was elected to Congress following his release.

The indictment against Finley never was brought to trial.

Matzenauer Quits Opera

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—Margaret Matzenauer, for nineteen years a leading contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company, announced today she will not return to the Metropolitan next season.

She appeared at the Metropolitan Wednesday for the last time, singing the role of Amneris in "Aida." At her own request, she said, the management made no announcement that it was her farewell performance.

AUTOMOBILE GUNMEN KILL BROOKLYN MAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—Fifteen shotgun slugs coming from a curtained car in a series of volleys that awakened the entire neighborhood, ended the life of Casper Scaminacia, 45 years of age, early today on a sidewalk close to his home in Brooklyn. Detectives said they found papers in Scaminacia's home indicating he had been affiliated with a band of gamblers.

SEA TO FOIL CRACKSMEN

New Irving Trust Company Vault in Manhattan Submerged to Guard Against Robbery

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Walls of water through which crackmen in time of peace or enemies in time of war could penetrate only by the use of submarine apparatus will surround the great vault of the Irving Trust Company at its new headquarters at No. 1 Wall street.

This remarkable protective feature will be supplemental to an elaborate system of mechanical, chemical and electrical safeguards in the second largest vault in the city and the third largest in the world. Only the vaults of the New York Federal Reserve Bank and the Bank of England are larger than the new treasure house of the Irving Trust Company.

Preparations are now well advanced for the installation of the three-story vault. It will rest on foundations set on solid rock and will occupy almost the entire block front along Wall street between Broadway and New street with a depth from front to rear of forty feet.

The bottom of the vault will be sixty-nine feet below Broadway, well below sea level. It is this feature that makes possible the water wall, regarded as the last word in vault protection. The only way by which the outside of the vault may be reached when the building is finished and the vault sides flooded is by an elaborate system of airlocks and pumps such as tunnel workers under the river use.

The building, the world's tallest when it is finished, is rapidly taking shape.

VETERANS' AID ACTION NEARS

House Close to Completion of Long Hearings

Costly Rankin Measure May be Abandoned

Omnibus Bill Proposed to Handle Needs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Following four weeks of hearings by the World War Veterans' Committee, legislation for the relief and compensation of ex-service men is expected within the next fortnight to approach a showdown stage in the House of Representatives.

Out of the basket full of measures pending, three or four have been singled out during the hearings as having the best chance of passage, or, at least of reaching the floor for a vote.

The most expensive and far reaching of these is the Rankin bill, which would extend the presumptive period on veterans' ailments from January 1, 1925, to January 1, 1930, and in addition would bring constitutional diseases within the presumptive provisions.

MILLIONS INVOLVED

The Veterans' Bureau has estimated the cost of this relief measure at $44,000,000 annually and that it will grant compensation to 77,744 pending disability cases, most of which are of doubtful validity under the present laws. Included among the claims are 23,205 involving neuropsychiatric diseases, 16,986 tuberculosis and 13,713 circulatory system diseases.

It is known that some House leaders fear the financial consequences of the Rankin bill and its proponents have charged that they plan to have it abandoned during hearings before a joint committee on "the whole problem of veterans' relief."

Chairman Johnson, Republican, South Dakota, has announced that Wednesday following two more days of hearings confined to members of the House, he will name a subcommittee of the veterans' committee to draft an omnibus committee bill to amend the World War Veterans' Act. It is planned, he said, to have the omnibus measure submitted to the House leaders for approval by March 3 so that on that day it may be brought up and passed under suspension of the rules.

MANY INCLUDED

The omnibus bill will include a dozen or more amendments to the Veterans' Act, now incorporated in separate bills and designed to clear up ambiguities and other features in the act disadvantageous to the veterans.

A third important bill which is almost certain of passage is an amendment to the adjusted compensation act introduced by Chairman Hawley, Republican, Oregon, of the House Ways and Means Committee. Having completed several days' hearings, that committee has agreed to report the bill favorably and the report will go to the House early this week.

The Hawley bill would extend the time of application for adjusted compensation from January 2, 1930, to January 2, 1935. Its enactment would validate the 21,000 applications received by the War Department since January 2, and subsequent applications up to January 2, 1935. The War Department received 85,000 applications during the period just before the expiration date for application and in addition returned 29,000 imperfect applications to veterans for correction.

ONE BILL PASSED

The Hawley bill follows the recommendation of the American Legion and other veterans' organizations.

The only important veterans' bill which thus far has been enacted by Congress at this session was the Rogers hospitalization bill appropriating $15,000,000 for hospital construction. Chairman Johnson of the Veterans' Committee, however, has promised hearings on a second bill to add $20,000,000 to the appropriation for hospital construction not included in the Rogers bill. Spokesmen for veterans' groups say this additional amount is necessary to care for all veterans needing hospitalization.

Naval Aviator Killed as Blast Destroys Plane

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—The Navy Department was informed today that Lieut. Walther George Maser had been killed by an explosion which destroyed his plane as it was being catapulted from the U.S.S. Nevada at Guantanamo, Cuba.

Few details regarding the accident were available, other than that a charge of powder exploded in the catapault, shattering the plane. The Nevada will participate in the joint fleet maneuvers in the Caribbean Sea and off the Panama Canal early next month.

Maser enlisted in the Navy June 10, 1915, in North Dakota, and was given his present commission on June 3, 1922.

American Parks Used as Models

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—United States national parks will serve as models for the Albert National Park in the Belgian Congo.

Jacques Dumont de Chassert of the Belgian Foreign Office has been making a study of the national park system of the United States to get ideas for the new park in the Congo.

The Albert Park, named after the King of Belgium, contains 405,000 acres in the volcanic region of Kivu. It will be the scene of extensive scientific research. The region contains every specimen of animal and vegetable life known to Africa. The board appointed to administer the park is composed largely of scientists. In officially inaugurating the work of the commission King Albert paid high tribute to the national park work of the United States.

Champion Talks for Farm Board

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Charging that private interests were stirring up distrust of the Farm Board among farmers and farm organizations, Senator Capper of Kansas tonight urged the country to "give the Farm Board a chance" and "beware of propaganda from selfish interests."

"It looks like a two-way attack," the Kansas Republican said in a statement, "one by the grain trade and its allies to frighten the business man and the consumer; the other to persuade the farmers that the board is not acting in their interests."

He expressed belief that the board, in its work through co-operative organizations, is on the right track.

CHANGES SEEN IN TAX SOURCE

Incomes, Licenses, Permits Raise Most Revenue

Property Taxes Decline in Importance Yearly

Custom Duties Percentage Cut Small Figure

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) The growing importance of taxes on incomes, and licenses and permits as sources of governmental revenues is emphasized in an analysis of sources of tax revenue made by the National Industrial Conference Board.

The most significant change in methods of raising revenue, occasioned principally by the necessity of financing war expenditures, occurred in the fiscal operations of the Federal government, when it inaugurated its general levies on personal incomes and increased its taxes on corporation incomes. Federal income tax receipts in the fiscal year ended in 1929, amounting to $2,331,000,000, constituted 65.7 per cent, or about two-thirds, of all Federal tax collections, as against only $28,000,000 or slightly more than 4 per cent in 1912. The proportion of income tax collections to total Federal tax collections has been fairly stable during the past eight years. Custom duties, once the chief source of revenue for the Federal government, in the fiscal year 1929 amounted to $811,000,000, or 17.2 per cent of total Federal receipts, a proportion approximately equal to the average for the past seven fiscal years.

SIGNIFICANT CHANGE

A significant change in the sources of State governmental revenues was the declining importance of property taxes during the more recent years. General and special property taxes collected by State governments in the fiscal year ended in 1927 amounted to $470,000,000 or 34.7 per cent of all their tax revenues, as against $471,00,000 or slightly more than 37 per cent in 1928, and $429,000,000 or 50 per cent of total State tax revenues in 1922.

The answer lies in the growing revenues derived from licenses and permits, including motor vehicle licenses and gasoline taxes. Receipts from licenses and permits in the fiscal year 1927 in all States totaled $679,000,000, or 50 per cent of total State tax receipts, as against only $305,000,000 in the fiscal year 1922, constituting only 35.6 per cent of all State tax collections in that year. For the fiscal year ended in 1927, motor vehicle license taxes constituted 18.4 per cent of all State taxes, general business licenses, 18.7 per cent, and gasoline taxes 12.2 per cent.

DEPEND ON PROPERTY

Local governments, that is, municipalities, counties, villages, school districts and similar local units, continue to depend upon property taxes as their chief source of revenue. Collections on account of property taxes for the three fiscal years ended in 1928, 1927 and 1928 constituted 93 per cent of local governmental tax receipts, which in 1928 totaled $4,630,000,000 for the United States as a whole. While from time to time legislation is enacted providing for local participation in State revenues from sources other than property taxes, receipts from such sources have not greatly affected the general situation.

Receipts from licenses and permits, however, are gradually assuming a more important place in local governmental finance, although in the fiscal year 1928 they amounted to only $196,000,000 or 4.2 per cent of all local taxes collected. This increase in the proportion of receipts from licenses and permits is due largely to gasoline and motor vehicle taxes in those States where local units share in the State revenue from these sources.

State and local governments combined in the fiscal year 1927 derived $4,531,000,000 from property taxes, constituting 79.2 per cent of their total tax revenues.

CITY MOTOR TOLL HITS HIGH MARK

Traffic Deaths Mount in Four Leading Cities of California

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Automobile accidents occurring in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and San Diego during the twelve months ending January 25, 1930, resulted in death to 867 persons, the United States Department of Commerce statisticians estimated in a report received here. This total was 101 more than attained for a similar period ending January 26, 1929.

The figures showed Los Angeles deaths leading the California list with 412 persons dying last year, as compared to 318 the preceding year. San Francisco rated second with 109 last year and 112 the year before. Oakland showed eighty-five dying last year and seventy-four the year before, while San Diego figures showed sixty-one last year and sixty-two the year before.

For the four-week period ending January 25, 1930, Los Angeles deaths totaled forty, compared with thirty-six during the similar period ending January 26, 1929. San Francisco deaths totaled fourteen, compared with seven on January 26, 1929; Oakland and San Diego had ten each on January 25, 1930, and five and six, respectively, in the preceding year's period.

The Federal department announced that during the four weeks ending January 25, 1930, seventy-eight large cities of the United States reported 655 deaths from automobile accidents, compared with 613 deaths during the four weeks ending January 26, 1929.

For the fifty-two weeks' period ending January 25, 1930, the totals for the seventy-eight cities were, respectively, 8446 and 7597, "indicating a recent rate of 23.7 per 100,000 population as against an earlier rate of 23.1, or an increase of 11 per cent in the rate in a single year."

Sweden to See American Art

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) The trustees of the American-Scandinavian Foundation, at their annual meeting at the Harvard Club, New York held recently, announced that a retrospective exhibition of American painting and architecture would open in the Royal Academy, Stockholm, Sweden on March 1. The exhibition has been arranged and financed by the American-Scandinavian Foundation with the co-operation of the American Federation of Arts and the American Institute of Architects. The director of the exhibition is George William Eggers, director of the Worcester Museum of Art at Worcester, Mass. The exhibition will be formally opened in Stockholm by the Crown Prince of Sweden who is Royal Patron.

German Aviator Now in America

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—A German who pumped bullets at Allied aviators in the war now holds a transport pilot's license in this country.

William Hirschfield entered the German flying service in 1915. He was shot down in an encounter with Georges Guynemer, famous French ace, and still limps from the wound.

Before the war ended he was up again and was shot down a second time in October, 1918. Coming to the United States four years ago, Hirschfield did what odd jobs he could to earn a living. Finally he was discovered by Curtiss Feld officials and employed there.

Nippon Company to Build Planes

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16. (AP)—Fokker officials today announced the signing of a contract licensing the Nippon Air Transport Company of Japan as the first extensive manufacturer of planes in that part of the world.

Pending completion of the Japanese company's manufacturing arrangements, the Fokker factories at Passaic and Teterboro, N. J., will build and ship to Japan five Fokker superuniversal planes to supplement their fleet.

SENATE PLANS TO RUSH TARIFF

Bill May Go to Conference Early in March

Long Delay Then Expected in Joint Endeavor

Measure Possibly Will Go to Hoover May 1

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—With more than 500 committee and individual amendments to the tariff bill acted on, the Senate will endeavor to speed up its revision work this week with a view to passing and sending the measure to conference with the House early in March.

Leaders of all factions are eager to have the long-pending legislation, last of the Hoover-recommended tasks for the special session, whipped into shape for final passage so the Senate can get down to other important business.

The tariff bill has been before the Senate since September 9. Leaders on many occasions predicted Senate passage long before this, but interjection of extraneous subjects have served to delay final action.

LONG PARLEY LIKELY

Republican and Democratic chieftains now look for passage by March 10. But if the measure is through the conference stage and ready for dispatch to the White House by May 1, there will be many lifted eyebrows. Six weeks is the least leaders give for reconciliation of differences between the two houses. So complete has been the Senate overhauling of the House bill passed May 28, 1929, that some observers feel if there is to be a bill at all it will take at least two months for compromises in conference that will meet both House and Senate approval.

House Republican leaders already are preparing the way for the tariff conference. Chairman Hawley of the Ways and Means Committee has notified agricultural and industrial interests, as well as all House members, to send to the committee for consideration in the conference with the Senate any additional data bearing on commodities on which import levies have been raised or lowered by either house.

ACTION UNDECIDED

House Democrats are not certain whether they will go through with their effort to have the House approve all the rate schedules, which with the exception of the agricultural section have been revised downward by the Senate as contrasted with the House measure, and let only the administrative features go to conference. Several weeks ago they made overtures to farm State Republicans to approve of such a course, but the latter said they wanted to see the rates in final shape before acquiescing in a step of this nature.

Senate Democrats, who, in coalition with the Republican independents, are striving to rewrite the House bill in a fashion which they say will be more in line with President Hoover's recommendations for "limited" revision, will continue their efforts tomorrow by concentrating on important rates in the metals schedule.

Two amendments of the minority that are pending would lower the existing rates on aluminum to the level of the Underwood levies of 1913 and eliminate proposed increase in tariffs on hollow bars and hollow drill steel.

Palsied Autos to be Scrapped

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—The "collegiate flivver" and other wheezing, palsied automobiles of venerable vintage, are doomed to the scrap heap.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce announced today the industry will expend $15,000,000 this year in removing unsafe cars from the highways.

PATROLMAN SAVES TANGLED PIGEON

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) Patrolman Peter J. Simunek of St. Louis allowed downtown traffic to take its own course when he was called to rescue a pigeon enmeshed in electric wires on the roof of a near-by building.

As scores of persons looked on, the traffic officer knocked a hole in the slate roof and released the bird.

WAVES ATTACK FIRST COLONY

Jamestown Isle Threatened by Pounding Surf

Action Taken to Preserve Historic Location

Site Was First Permanent English Settlement

WILLIAMSBURG (Va.) Feb. 16. (AP)—America's birthplace is disappearing, washing into the sea.

The historic upper tip of Jamestown Island, site of the first permanent English colony in America, is vanishing rapidly under waters of the restless James River.

Foot by foot the shore line is giving way before ceaseless waves and the silent seeping of a stagnant marsh bog. Giant trees have been uprooted and swept out to sea.

Already moves are under way in Virginia and in Congress to preserve the island. Representative Crampton of Michigan, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, is author of a bill to create a national memorial embracing Yorktown, Williamsburg and Jamestown.

By this plan the Federal government would acquire that part of the isle not owned by the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities.

Virginia is supporting the Federal project, while its general assembly is considering a $100,000 appropriation to create a Jamestown Island Park. The island is only a few miles from Williamsburg, which John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is restoring to its eighteenth century appearance.

Years ago the antiquities association acquired the western tip of the island, constructed a seawall and made efforts to prevent further destruction.

In this section is the ancient church tower with its graveyard, and the foundations of other old buildings. The site of the first landing place, the first church, and the first town long since have been washed away.

The rest of the island, except a small section, is marsh land.

Peopled by eerie forms, gnarled and twisted trees and specter-like ruins, the island has an air of desertion. Of the men and women who landed there in 1607, some died of hunger, some of plague, some at the hands of the savages they displaced.

All the property not in the hands of the antiquities association is owned by Mrs. Louise Barney of Cleveland.

French Models Taken by Rival Dress Concerns

(Copyright, 1930, Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The French dressmaking industry is facing ruin as the result of wholesale pilfering of its models by concerns in the United States, Great Britain and Germany.

At least that was the statement of Parisian houses who have appealed to the government to do something about it.

The ire of the Rue de la Paix houses was especially aroused as the result of the exposure of enterprising German houses, which guarantee to furnish their Berlin customers with the latest Paris models five days after they are shown here.

The same thing goes on in London, New York and Chicago, say the French dressmakers.

Chop Shrinkage Laid to Stoves

EAST LANSING (Mich.) Feb. 16. (AP)—The more gas and electricity the American public uses, the smaller will be its veal, lamb and pork chops, says Joseph F. Cox, dean of agriculture at Michigan State College.

Dean Cox sees in trends toward lightweight live-stock carcasses the influence of electric and gas stoves. The housewife, he says, wants to finish her cooking job in short time.

The Michigan swine carcass that took first place at the Chicago International Show last year weighed 203 pounds compared with a weight ten years ago of 250 pounds for prize animals and 275 pounds twenty years ago.

STUNT PILOT SAVED AFTER FALL IN BAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Entangled in the folds of a parachute to which he had taken after the wings of his biplane collapsed while flying over San Francisco Bay this afternoon, Roy Hunt, stunt pilot for the Curtiss-Wright plane service, was rescued from the water by pilots of an amphibian plane operated by Air Ferries, Ltd.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Death today ended the long masquerade of "Dr." Hjalmar W. De Danneville, 70 years of age, a woman, who for twelve years lived and worked in this city as a man.

WHISTLES MAY GUARD WOMEN

Proposal Would Sound Quitting Time for Indianapolis Prowlers

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Whistles with a distinctive tone will be the adjunct of every Indianapolis woman's vanity bag, the guardian of her honor and her means of succor in distress, if a proposal submitted by a club woman is adopted by Mayor Reginald Sullivan.

Citing the increasing dangers threatening women who are on the streets alone, Mrs. Adolph Schmuck suggested the city buy a large quantity of police whistles and sell them to women and girls at cost.

Wide publicity should be given the plan, she suggests, and every woman urged to "carry her whistle and use it when in danger."

Women would blow the whistle "only when in distress," a fine to be assessed against anyone blowing her whistle under false pretenses.

HORSE HAIR IN DEMAND ONCE AGAIN

Pig Bristles Shortage Also Revives Quest for World Supply

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) A nation-wide demand for horse hair and particularly for horse tails has sent buyers scurrying all over the world to collect them, according to M. C. Brown, director of the water-front department of Bush Service.

"With the passing of the crinoline skirt," said Brown, "it appeared for a while there would be a surplus of horse hair. Then the horse itself went out of style, and there began to be a shortage of the long, stiff hair of horses' manes and tails that plays an important part in the manufacture of mattresses, in the lining of men's suits, in the making of certain kinds of brushes, and which formerly served for crinoline skirt lining and for covers for 'Slide-Kelly' chairs.

"Coincident with the domestic horse-hair shortage, a similar lack of pig bristles developed. It turned out that Americans were demanding young pork. Pigs were killed young.

"We have investigated, through our distribution offices and agencies abroad, and have found that horse and various other kinds of animal hair have entered into commerce between nations as never before. Millionaires, doubtless, have been made in this field."

CRUISER PAYMENT CUT FROM BUDGET

BERLIN, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The German government, which intended to prepare the way for a new "miracle ship" similar to its cruiser called the "Ersatz Preussen," during 1930, cut out the first down payment on the "Cruiser B" which figured in the budget submitted to the Cabinet recently. Finance Minister Paul Moldenhauer, struggling to find a means to balance the budget which is continuously being thrown out of balance by huge payments for jobless, found it necessary to cut the funds reserved for the cruiser.

SURVEY OF RETAIL DRUGGISTS PLANNED

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) A survey of the retail drug industry of St. Louis may be started here soon, according to a report from the United States Department of Commerce. Such a survey would include a study of all phases of the retail drug business in St. Louis and would furnish a definite index of the trend of the business, not only in St. Louis, but nationally.

A St. Louis delegation went to Washington recently to discuss with representatives of national drug and allied organizations the feasibility of making the survey.

POLICE BRAND STORIES FALSE

Hold-up Tales to Wives as a Rule Inaccurate

Lecturer Corrects Beliefs About Crime

Pocket Picking Profits Wane in This State

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (AP)—When a husband comes home and says he has been held up and robbed by a woman, San Francisco police say the report is to be regarded with suspicion.

Capt. Thomas L. Hoertkorn, lecturing before a special police school here, told several hundred patrolmen that investigation had disclosed such reports to be as a rule "highly inaccurate."

"It is true," Capt. Hoertkorn said, "that a woman may have got the man's money and that she may have taken it illegally. And, of course, there are lady stick-ups, but mostly the man's story isn't so."

ALLEY WORKERS

The added ornament that it was a blonde flapper bandit that got it is especially derided by the officer, who said that the woman who got the money probably was very, very brunette. Negro women known as "alley workers," he said, plus the fact that some men don't know enough to go straight home when they have a lot of money are responsible for most of these robberies.

Hoertkorn also said in his lecture that a great many other things commonly accepted as true about certain crimes were not. For instance the old belief that among pickpockets one man did the "taking" and then passed the "poke" or purse to a confederate almost never is true, he said.

He explained that pickpockets or "dips" worked as a rule in three's, known as "mobs." A "mob" consists of two "stallers" and a "wire." The stallers jostle or "cover" the victim while the wire extracts his purse.

The captain said it is one of the easiest things in the world to pick pockets. Occasionally the "dip" is caught red-handed. In this case a confederate comes up and says to the complaining victim, "what's the trouble here?" The man replies his pocket has been picked and points an accusing finger at the "wire."

FAKE OFFICERS

The fake officer then says, "I will take that guy down to the station." He takes him perhaps two blocks away and lets him loose. Then they start over.

Pocket picking is not as profitable or as common in California as it was once. Not that men are necessarily better but because newer and more profitable "rackets" have come along, including bootlegging and bank robbing.

Los Angeles found a good way to reduce pocket picking. Photographs of all widely known "dips" were placed in car barns there. This enabled all conductors and motormen to detect them. Street cars were their favorite places of operation previously.

California, because it lured many seekers of climate and homes here, always has been considered a good place for "dips." In a climate where overcoats are seldom necessary it is easier to get into a coat or vest pocket. Also, many people who come to California have, or are supposed to have, money.

YOUNGSTER NEARLY SLAYS HIS TEACHER

MISHAWAKA (Ind.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Jack Fross, 6-year-old son of Dr. Darwin Fross, found a revolver under the seat of his father's automobile recently. It made more noise than his toy gun with a cork, so Jack took the revolver with him to school. While his teacher, Miss Vida Meyers, was standing near a blackboard with her back to the youngster, he fired the gun at her. Fortunately the shot went wild and the tragedy was averted. No one was more surprised at the danger from the shot than was Jack. The gun was taken away from him before he could fire again and as he surrendered the weapon he said, "I got a gun like that, but it doesn't make any noise."

PARTY FAILS TO NET FISH

Municipal Izaak Waltons Surround Reservoir But Catch Only Bottles and Tires

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Among other oases going dry in this city is the lower reservoir in Central Park. Such being the case, a party of twenty-five fishermen seized time by the forelock and went netting recently.

It was all done in hip boots and the right spirit, for, fired by the example of President Hoover, who traveled all the way to Florida, rather than cast a fly out of season in Virginia, the fishing party was limited to employees of the park department, the Southern New York Fish and Game Association and the New York Aquarium.

The expedition met with great success but caught no fish.

The first cast brought in two rear baby carriage wheels, three uncorked bottles, one with a broken neck and an automobile tire suffering from wanderlust. The second cast retrieved an assorted lot of used shoes, two more bottles that had suffered violent deaths and a pantry shelf full of rusty tin cans. There was no third cast.

The State and municipal disciples of Izaak Walton had been planning for several weeks to restock such pickerel havens as the aquarium and the zoo with the haul from the park reservoir. The lower reservoir is being transformed into a playground and has been draining for almost a month. The fish specialists found the moon right and the water down to the correct level so they ordered two tank trucks from the aquarium to hold their catch.

There also was the matter of four inches of ice to be removed from the surface. This was done with piscatorial ice picks, heavy iron instruments strangely resembling sharpened crowbars. While this was being accomplished by men who have made such tasks their life work, the graduate whalers were stretching the net (an old seafaring custom) on the adjoining boulevard much to the indignation of a taxi driver who said his name was Izzy Sturgeon.

After about three hours of ice picking there was enough open water in the lee cove of the reservoir to cover the net.

The Waltonites were waving their gaff hooks and spinners, each eager to capture the old daddy trout about which a local legend has sprung up. This famed fish is said to have overturned with one flirt of his tail a rowboat in which three sailors from the U.S.S. Texas were cruising and to have eaten the chewing tobacco out of one of the bluejackets' hip pockets.

When the net results were tabulated and the daddy trout and his school were found absent and unaccounted for it was suggested the fish might have drained out, the passage-way being large and open.

NATURE FORCED TO BLUSH

Better Tomatoes Grown by Chemists Without Soil Than Those Produced in Gardens

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The Smithsonian Institution has found a way of growing ripe, luscious tomatoes without the aid of soil. If any housewife lacking garden space wishes to take advantage of the discovery she may do so as follows:

Place tomato seeds between two moist blotting sheets. In due time—a week or so—the seeds will sprout and put forth their roots. When this happens take the baby plants and insert them through stem size holes in a large cork fitting tightly into the mouth of a quart-size fruit jar filled with a chemical solution of calcium nitrate, magnesium sulphate and monopotassium phosphate. This solution is the chemical equivalent of plant food under soil conditions. Around the baby stems pack cotton to be removed as the plants grow.

Then place the jars in a constant temperature chamber, artificially lighted and see that they are on revolving discs which insure that every part of their above-ground growth receives its uniform share of light from the reflecting walls of the chamber. Here the tomatoes will grow and mature, and after a while will be ready for picking and eating.

Dr. Charles G. Abbott, secretary of the Smithsonian, said today that the institution has grown tomatoes by the above process that "taste better than those obtained at stores because they are fresher." But he conceded that raising them that way was not commercially or privately practicable since raising them in a garden plot "is so much easier and simpler."

TRUCK DRIVERS CAKE EATERS

Burly He-Men Consume Chocolate Eclairs and Cream Puffs

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (NANA)—To see some of these dreadnaught trucks thundering down city streets nobody would believe their drivers were addicted to cream puffs and chocolate eclairs. But they are. On Bleecker street there prospers a baker who failed in three other neighborhoods, and his new success is due, in part, to the drivers, who go out of their way at noon to load up on soft, rich, sugary puffs, kisses and pastries, to munch while they bang along.

1930 WILL REWARD CAREFUL SAVERS

An unexpected "IF"

A company was once formed to grow wheat in Africa. Native labor was cheap, the soil fertile, the climate ideal. Soon acres of golden grain were ripening in the sun. Then, just before the crop was harvested, countless baboons came from the depths of the jungle, invaded the fields and destroyed the wheat. One hundred thousand dollars ising venture had come to naught because of an unexpected "IF".

One expects "IF'S" in his business or professional life—but where savings are concerned, chance and luck should be, and may be, eliminated.

Financial "IF'S" have never been known to our savings customers. In good times and bad they have always found their funds to be safe—protected from shrinkage—steadily earning attractive interest—and available without loss of principal.

Does prudence govern your financial plans? Does 6% interest from a safe, proved, simple, and convenient savings method seem worthwhile? If so, send for our Statement.

50 YEARS AGO

Livery Stable Fracas

January 15. A hatchet, beard pulling, black eyes and General battering figured in the trial of Wm. Crayton, accused of assault by John Whitney, former owner of the Pico Hotel, now closed. The battle was staged in the Fashion Livery Stables and although Crayton is 6 inches shorter than Whitney and weighs 50 pounds less, he was unquestionably the victor. Crayton was acquitted. NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

COUNTY WINNER OF GRAND PRIZE

Los Angeles Gets Sweepstake Award for Tower

Orange Show Bestows Honors on Many Participants

Studio Day Scheduled for Exhibition; Stars Coming

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 16.—San Bernardino's Twentieth National Orange Show had its first "big day" today and its sheer beauty thrilled 50,000 visitors.

Perfect spring weather prevailed and from 10 o'clock in the morning, the hour when the gates were opened, until near midnight, the exposition grounds were thronged. Throughout the day the throngs moved slowly by the spectacular exhibits of golden fruit, all of which were classified by the judging committee before the show opened for the day.

Los Angeles' prismatic tower in the center of the exposition, rising into the draped ceiling of the building, was awarded the grand sweepstakes prize, although it had been entered as noncompetitive, a gesture of courtesy by Los Angeles county. The display depicts a crystal gazer looking into the future of California's citrus industry. Built of oranges and mirrors, it is prismatic in effect and is surmounted by a cubical mirror. Approximately 20,000 oranges were used in the display's construction.

CORONA GETS PRIZE

Corona, with its reproduction of the globe-circling Zeppelin, was awarded first prize in the mechanical-action class. Redlands, with its balloon-covered parachute, took second place, and Riverside's exhibit, depicting world peace, third.

Fresno county's entry, a feudal castle, took first award in the Associated Chamber of Commerce class. Sacramento took the special award for the best display entered by more than one city in a regional group and special awards were issued to Ventura county; Pasadena, the Pacific Electric and the California State Department of Agriculture.

The California Portland Cement Company of Colton won the award for the first exhibit entered by a private firm or corporation.

The rack displays, magnificent in gold and variegated colors artistically combined in packed boxes of fruit, were also decorated with prizes, announced Saturday.

FIREMEN'S BAND PLAYS

The show's entertainment was augmented by the Los Angeles Fire Department band, the Sierra Singers of San Bernardino and a concert by the Band of All Nations.

All departments of the vast exposition were jammed during the afternoon, when, at one time, more than 25,000 persons were on the grounds. Traffic on the highways leading into this city was heavy and State motor police were on duty fifteen miles away, directing motorists to the show.

Monday will be Studio Day at the show, with prominent motion-picture stars of Hollywood participating in a program and style show from the main stage.

San Bernardino Pioneer Woman Dies at Ripe Age

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Elizabeth Van Leuven, pioneer of San Bernardino Valley, died late last night at her home on Mountain View avenue in the Mission district where she had lived for almost three-quarters of a century. She would have been 94 years of age on March 4. She was the widow of Anson Van Leuven, pioneer orange grower of the Mission district.

Mrs. Van Leuven saw the first citrus fruit trees planted in the old San Bernardino district in 1862. In the citrus fruit section of today's orange show edition of a local paper is a photograph of Mrs. Van Leuven in the act of picking oranges from one of the trees planted in 1862. Mrs. Van Leuven was active in pioneer society.

Her father was William J. Robinson, a member of the Mormon Battalion which passed through San Bernardino Valley in 1846, en route back to Utah from the Mexican War. Mr. Robinson continued on to his home in Missouri and started west again in 1852 with his family, including Mrs. Van Leuven, then 6 years of age. He died en route. The family reached here in 1858. On January 14, 1863, she was married to Anson Van Leuven and they established their home at Mission, where the Van Leuven family had set out the first orange trees planted in this county. Her husband was Sheriff of the county from 1858 to 1861. He was a deputy United States marshal during the Civil War and represented San Bernardino county in the State Legislature in 1863 and 1864. He died in 1896.

Mrs. Van Leuven leaves two sons, Byron and Henry, of Redlands. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

BEEKEEPERS' CLUB MEETS AT ONTARIO

ONTARIO, Feb. 16.—Annual meeting of the San Bernardino County Bee Keepers' Club will be held at Chaffey Union High School the 22nd inst., it was announced today by William Atchley of Upland, San Bernardino county bee inspector. Prominent bee fanciers from all parts of California are expected to attend the meeting, which opens at 10:30 a.m. Logan G. Kindsether of Redlands, president, will preside. The address of welcome will be made by Dr. Merton E. Hill, principal of Chaffey. Several prominent speakers will be heard during the day.

SCHOOL UNIFICATION URGED

Move Started to Ask State Board of Education for Survey of Glendale and La Crescenta Districts

GLENDALE, Feb. 16.—Request will be presented to the State Department of Education for a survey of the Glendale and La Crescenta school districts, with a view to the recommendation of a plan for the unification of the Glendale City and Union High School districts, that are now operating under the direction of two separate boards. Joint meeting of the school boards of Glendale and La Crescenta and of the Glendale Union High School Board of Trustees, will be called as a result of action taken by the high school trustees, to draft the request to the State Department of Education.

The high school district includes a large part of La Crescenta Valley, and it is admitted by educators here that the present system is obsolete and should be replaced by some other method of control that would make for greater efficiency in the carrying out of the management of the two districts.

The educational committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been working steadily to bring about a method by which the present system of management in the schools could be modernized through placing both systems under one control and the recent appointment of Paul E. Stillman, chairman of the committee, on the City School Board is regarded as an important step toward the accomplishment of this object.

Following the completion of the proposed survey the school boards of the districts will be called into conference to study whatever recommendations may be made.

LA CANADA WEARIES OF PAYING PASADENA DISTRICT

LA CANADA, Feb. 16. — Residents of this place, wearied of paying, as they assert, $50,000 annually to the Pasadena High School District, are planning to secure a site for a high school in the valley. The pupils from here attending the Pasadena High School number twenty-five, and it is felt that the financial burden is out of proportion to the value received. The proposed park site at Indiana and Verdugo Roads has been tentatively suggested as a location for the school, and while it is admitted that the site would not be used for some time for a school building it is asserted that its purchase now would result in marked savings later on.

Fake Religious Promoters Will be Discouraged

ONTARIO, Feb. 16.—Fly-by-night advertising promoters who seek to "work" Ontario under the guise of religious purposes will find their paths beset with legal obstacles, according to City License Collector O. E. Holman, who has declared war on this type of solicitors.

According to Holman, song book or church calendar advertising solicitors come into the city without procuring licenses, and promise to give a particular church a number of hymn books or calendars for distribution if the church will give its sanction to their working under its name.

In one day's work these solicitors procure several hundred dollars from merchants who are of the opinion they are helping a particular church, according to Holman. The solicitors get the money and move to another city, leaving the church "holding the sack."

Tree Planting at Compton Begins

COMPTON, Feb. 16.—Planting to 1800 trees along residence streets throughout the central section of the city will begin tomorrow, City Engineer Glen Rood announced today. Peterson Brothers of Inglewood have the contract to both plant the trees and maintain them for two years.

Planting has been held up two weeks due to the failure of wire to arrive from the East. Trees are to be planted in wire baskets which will prevent them from being destroyed by gophers but the wire has to be a type which will later rust away so as not to interfere with enlarging roots.

The tree contract is the result of a two-year campaign to beautify the city.

MGR. FITZGERALD'S SUCCESSOR IN PULPIT

REDLANDS, Feb. 16.—Rev. Father Lawrence Forrestal, new pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, successor to Rt. Rev. Mgr. T. J. Fitzgerald, who died recently, took up his new work today, celebrating masses in the church here and holding a devotion this evening. Tomorrow he will welcome scores of priests from Southern California who will gather here for the month's mind mass which is to be sung at 10:30 o'clock with high church dignitaries present.

Gun That Fired Fatal Shots Will be Investigated

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 16.—Experiments with the shotgun which caused the death last October of Thomas J. Wasson, 36-year-old retired army officer, will determine what action the District Attorney's office will take, it was announced today.

Wasson, a resident of Bakersfield, had come here in company with his wife, Elise, 35, and her mother, Mrs. D. E. Rosear, 70, at the time to inspect a 100-acre Alpine ranch which the mother-in-law had purchased. The women told the Coroner that the gun had fallen from Wasson's bed as he prepared to retire the night of October 19, both barrels discharging the contents of 16-gauge shells into his back and killing him almost instantly. The Coroner reported on the shooting as accidental.

However, Deputy Sheriff Macumber continued to investigate the case and early this week Mrs. Wasson and her mother were called here from their home in Bakersfield for questioning. They were taken to the ranch yesterday and the day before.

Wasson's gun is at Bakersfield, it was said, and Sheriff Ed Cooper wired the Kern county Sheriff to send it here. Undersheriff Oliver Sexton plans to experiment with the gun to learn whether Wasson could have received the two shots in the back under such conditions as would cause the shooting to be construed as accidental.

Entire Council of Hemet Voted Out of Office

SAN JACINTO, Feb. 16. — By an average margin of thirty votes the entire City Council yesterday was voted out of office as the result of a special recall election sponsored by opponents of certain provisions of the Mattoon Act.

The ousted officeholders are: Mayor C. M. Parker, Oakley M. Smith, C. G. Darling, Taylor Black and R. E. King. Those named to fill their places are: C. Burton Gibbs, W. S. Keil, Paul I. Read, John G. Althouse and William J. Eastham. About 97 per cent of the registered voters went to the polls.

The election, most hotly contested in the city's history, was the outgrowth of the City Council's program to install a sewer system in line with provisions of the Mattoon Act, some of which are vigorously opposed by the recall faction.

Contracts for construction of the sewer were let by the outgoing Council three days before the election to the firm of Culjack & Zelko. Prior to the balloting the contractors announced they will fight any effort by the new Council to declare the contracts invalid.

Returns of the election are as follows:

	For Recall.	Against Recall.
Parker	271	238
Smith	264	239
Darling	265	239
Black	272	241
King	265	243

FLYING CADETS HOP OFF TO MARCH FIELD

SANTA MARIA, Feb. 16. — Attempting their longest cross-country flight to date, senior cadets of the Hancock Foundation College of Aeronautics will hop off tomorrow for Riverside, carrying members of the basketball team as passengers. The team is scheduled to meet the March Field Kaydets in a Central Coast League game here tomorrow evening. The formation, led by Chief Pilot Underhill, in a Buell plane, will consist of four fleet training ships, one of which will be flown by George O. Hague of West Los Angeles, and another by Harry L. Doulin of Long Beach. A stop will be made at Metropolitan Airport, Los Angeles, en route.

PATROLMAN MADE DETECTIVE

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 16. Patrolman C. L. Helm, who has been serving in the fingerprint bureau of the police department at Central Station, Los Angeles, has been assigned to detective duty in the San Fernando Valley police district. He is now in charge of the local branch station.

ONTARIO MAY BE "FOG" PORT

City Council May Arrange With Western Air Express to Make Local Field Emergency Terminal

ONTARIO, Feb. 16.—The City Council will be asked by City Manager Austin Burt to take steps to have Ontario's airport linked definitely with the Western Air Express, as its Southern California terminal during periods of fog, when it would be dangerous or impossible for westbound planes to continue to Los Angeles, or for eastbound ships to take off from Los Angeles.

Aviators of Southern California are making studies of the local airport with the view of having it as a subsidiary base to Los Angeles airports as it is on the edge of the fog belt, and usually clear when other Southland fields are not.

Among recent visitors to the airport was Fred Kelly of Western Air Express, who rested his plane here four hours waiting for the fog to lift. He sent his mail cargo to Los Angeles by truck. Bart Cox, another Western Air Express pilot "sat down" on the local field for the same purpose.

The pilots point out that if Ontario Airport were designated a subsidiary, terminal planes could be landed here from Los Angeles previous to the hour for the fog to roll in, as told in weather reports. Passengers and mail could be taken to the field from Southland points by car and trucks, and the planes could take off from here for the east, or west-bound ships land here and send their human or mail cargoes to the designated station by automobile.

This city recently acquired the present airport and is rapidly putting it into excellent condition.

CAT-SHOOTING CATASTROPHE

Compton Motorcycle Officer Fires at Persian Pussy for Bothering His Canaries, Then Chief Fires Him; Defunct Pet's Owner Brings Suit; He Sues Her

COMPTON, Feb. 16.—All over the shooting of a Persian cat, persons interested in municipal affairs in this city are considerably stirred. The cat-shooting incident has resulted in the dismissal of Motorcycle Officer James C. Looney, over which a hearing will take place next Thursday, and a pair of small-claims suits which will be tried before Justice of the Peace Irving P. Anstin next Wednesday morning.

Looney claims the cat-shooting incident was merely an excuse to get rid of him in the police department while Police Chief E. A. West asserts the officer violated the law in shooting the animal and unnecessarily discharging firearms within the city limits.

Mrs. Alvina Schrader, 1913 San Marcus street, sued Looney for $45 for the cat's death and the former officer in turn has sued her for $50 for asserted damage to his property. It is understood Looney will claim that the cat bothered his canary birds.

WOMAN USES RAZOR IN VAIN

But After Slashing Both Wrists and Her Throat, She Still Lives; Blood Transfusions Given Her

PASADENA, Feb. 16.—After assertedly slashing both wrists and her throat with a razor while her husband was preparing breakfast today, Mrs. Katherine Baldwin, wife of Frank M. Baldwin, wealthy wholesale fruit dealer, is reported to be near death at the Pasadena Hospital. Blood transfusions were resorted to late this afternoon. Mr. Baldwin told Detective Lieutenants Arthur Mansell and Frank Clendenen that when he called his wife to breakfast she did not reply and that he then discovered she had locked herself in the bathroom of her home, 873 North Holliston avenue.

The husband stated that he ran into the yard and that when he failed in an effort to pry open the bathroom window he re-entered the house in time to see Mrs. Baldwin open the bathroom door and fall to the floor, her clothing saturated in blood.

At the Pasadena Emergency Hospital, Dr. H. L. Hatfield stopped the flow of blood from the victim's wrists by tourniquets. Hospital attendants reported that had the first-aid treatment been delayed, Mrs. Baldwin would have died within a few minutes.

Dr. Hatfield reported that the victim's right wrist was cut through practically all the tendons, the cut opening into the joint. The tendons in the left wrist were severed, but the incision did not enter the joint. Her throat had been slashed twice diagonally from both sides, the lacerations being to within a fraction of an inch of the jugular vein.

The police were surprised that Mrs. Baldwin could have held the razor while the wrist tendons were severed, or opened the bathroom door, but believe she may have fastened the razor in some way and forced her wrists upon it.

Mrs. Baldwin recently underwent an operation and it is believed by her family that she sought to take her life in a fit of despondency. The victim is 60 years of age.

The Baldwin family came here originally from Spencer, W. Va. Mr. Baldwin's local office is located at 35 South Raymond avenue.

Valley Walnut Men Decide on New Plant Site

NORTH LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16. Following the annual meeting held recently, officials and directors of the San Fernando Valley Walnut Growers' Association definitely decided to abandon their large processing plant at North Hollywood, and to build anew here in a more central part of the valley.

The new plant is to be 120 by 140 feet in size, and will be located on the Southern Pacific right of way just east of the present passenger depot and grounds. The structure, properly equipped, will cost about $50,000, it is stated. The annual report of D. C. Brown, manager of the association, showed a record year for 1929. Total profits for the season were about $400,000. More than 2,100 tons of the nuts were produced, or more than twice as much as the year previous.

A. E. Brant was elected president of the association for the ensuing year; Alexander Jeffrey, vice-president, and H. H. A. Hastings, secretary. Brown will continue as manager for the growers. The new plant will have been erected and ready for operation by the time the new walnut harvest season begins.

WOMAN IDENTIFIES YOUTH AS ROBBER

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 16.—Robert Payne, 21 years of age, of National City, has been identified by Mrs. K. Mitchell of Chula Vista, as one of a pair who ransacked her house and forced her to write them a check for $100, the night of the 5th inst., the Sheriff's office announced today. The criminal department still is seeking an ex-convict, suspected of being the second man. The check, upon which payment had been stopped when Mrs. Mitchell reported the burglary to Chula Vista police, was "mysteriously" returned two days after it had been written. Suspicion that the burglary might have been an "inside job," caused the officers to question Mabel Junne, maid of the household, and Bill Kruse, family chauffeur, Sheriff Ed Cooper said. Both were held under $1000 bail pending arraignment tomorrow morning on charges of having sold liquor to the Mitchells.

GEORGE PROVENCHER NEW TROOP CAPTAIN

VAN NUYS, Feb. 16.—George Provencher has been made captain of the R.O.T.C. of the local high school, succeeding Mariner Bertholf who recently was graduated and departed to become a cadet at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Other new officers are Robert Holloway, first lieutenant; Cotesworth Barney and James McCauley, second lieutenants, and Walter Wilson, top sergeant. Minor officers of the troop are Dwight Landon, William Ayres, Maynard Mueting, Frank McDonald, Lee Kingsbury, Paul Kirkpatrick, Larry Pidgen and Donald Kingsley.

GIRL GIVEN "SHINER" BY HER ESCORT

Pasadena Young Woman in Hospital for Treatment After Malibu Auto Trip

PASADENA, Feb. 16.—As an aftermath of an automobile ride with two youths and another girl to Malibu, 18-year-old Emily Richter of 190 South Hudson avenue, was treated in the Pasadena Emergency Hospital at 4 a.m. today for a pair of blackened and swollen eyes and numerous scratches.

Miss Richter was taken to the hospital by her father, E. H. Richter, local tailor, who reported to the police that his daughter had been injured in an altercation with her escort, Charles Wilcox, whose address was not ascertained.

With another young couple, Miss Richter and Wilcox are asserted to have been driving home after attending a lively party at a private home near Malibu Lake. When his companion objected to his actions, Wilcox, according to Richter, beat her with his fists.

In view of the fact that the asserted beating was administered outside the city limits, local police stated they will take no action unless a complaint is issued on behalf of the girl's parents.

Six Candidates After Imperial Sheriff's Star

EL CENTRO, Feb. 16.—Imperial county has six candidates in the race for nomination as Sheriff at the primary election next August, as a result of the announcement that Calvin Mousseu, now serving as County Clerk, and Charles Nice, formerly deputy sheriff, are in the contest. The other contestants are Charles Gillett, incumbent; Dr. F. H. Fargo of Brawley; Tom Potts of Holtville, and George Campbell of Seeley.

Edward H. Law, an attorney of Holtville, has announced his candidacy for the office of County Clerk to succeed Mousseu. Imperial county's registered voting strength two years ago was 12,000 and it is estimated that there will be a 25 per cent increase this year.

Cramps Victim in Surf Saved

HERMOSA BEACH, Feb. 16.—Stricken with cramps, Isaac Peat, 46 years of age, of Hawthorne, narrowly escaped drowning here today while swimming in the surf about 300 yards off the Surf and Sand Club. Six other bathers risked their lives to save him.

A typical midsummer crowd watched the rescue from the beach. One by one the would-be rescuers plunged into the surf in response to Peat's cries for help, only to be engulfed by the heavy breakers and carried away from the helpless swimmer. L. F. Bothwell of 2327½ Beachwood Drive, Hollywood, finally reached Peat's side and guided him back to safety.

Lifeguards administered artificial respiration to Peat for nearly two hours before he was able to return home.

Quiet Election in City Presaged

ONTARIO, Feb. 16.—At present, indications are that Ontario is going to have a quiet city election in April, with only one candidate intimating he will run for one of the three Council seats to be declared vacant.

N. H. Garrison, appointed to complete the unexpired term of A. L. Davenport, has told friends he will be on the race for election. Councilman A. O. Dillon, who has served two terms, will not be a candidate to succeed himself, he has announced definitely.

Councilman C. L. Emmons has not made any statement yet. His term of office expires.

"LOOK BEFORE YOU RENT"

Compton Resident Leases Garage From Neighbor; Latter Moves; Huge Liquor Cache Found

COMPTON, Feb. 16.—Renting a garage without first examining its contents is not always a safe policy, reports A. J. Robertson, 815 North Willow street. Robertson is at liberty on his own recognizance pending completion of his court trial before Police Judge Nelson Ward the 27th inst. on liquor possession charges. A police raiding squad headed by Capt. J. L. De Witt found eight dozen quarts of liquor cased in burlap sacks in the garage Robertson had rented from a neighbor.

Confronted with the modern problem of having a two-car family with only a one-car garage, Robertson had rented the garage from the neighbor. A day or two later the neighbor moved out and the place was for sale. When a real estate dealer called with a prospective purchaser they found the huge liquor cache. They reported their find to police. Discovering that Robertson had just leased the garage, the officers took him into custody and confiscated the wet goods.

When Robertson was brought before the court, Judge Ward, City Attorney Asa Cooney, who was prosecuting, and Capt. DeWitt admitted frankly that they were puzzled. The mystery was further complicated by the disclosure that Robertson had a key for the garage very dissimilar to the key possessed by the owner. As a result the trial has been continued and an investigation is now under way.

Merchant Loses to Yeggs Third Time, He Reports

YUCAIPA, Feb. 16.—No trace has been found by county officers of the yeggs who last night broke into the M. A. Dunham store here and secured cash of about $300 and considerable groceries and other merchandise.

The burglary and safe-cracking bear all the signs of having been the work of professionals, according to Dunham, who stated that it was impossible to tell at what hour the crime had been committed.

"The combination of the safe was blown off some time after 8 o'clock last night when I left the store and before I opened the doors early this morning," he said.

"Noise of the explosion failed to attract the attention of neighbors so far as we have been able to learn. The Yucaipa Hotel is located just across the street from the store and the fact that no unusual sounds were noted by guests or hotel employees indicates that the charge was carefully calculated by crooks of experience," Dunham added.

The manner of gaining entrance to the store building had not been determined, although it is believed that the yeggs left by the back door as this was found open by Dunham.

A number of the stolen checks had not been listed, according to Dunham, and the $300 loss is an estimate by him.

"It is possible that the crooks may throw away a number of these checks when they learn their nature and size," the store proprietor said. "Should any of these be found, we wish they would be reported at once either to the Sheriff or to the Dunham store."

Last night's burglary was the third time in thirteen years that Dunham has been made the victim of robberies. Five years ago burglars obtained goods valued at $250 and a few years previous to that had caused him a loss of $330.

Teachers Seek Modification of Tenure Measure

PASADENA, Feb. 16.—Modification of the Teachers' Tenure Act, to eliminate clauses which protect inefficient and unfit school-teachers, has been recommended by the Pasadena Teachers' Association, it was announced today.

The tenure committee of the association, headed by E. E. McCullough, local school principal, was instructed to work with the California Teachers' Association in the matter of proposed amendments to the law.

The tenure question is expected to be one of the chief topics up for discussion at the next meeting of the southern conference of the California Teachers' Association in Los Angeles, March 15.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE WILL BE VOTED UPON

REDONDO BEACH, Feb. 16.—Voters of Redondo Union High School district will be asked to decide a bond issue of $165,000 for the erection of a new gymnasium unit on March 11. The proposed issue is also designed to cover the expense of improvement at the new athletic field in Juanita street, where the gymnasium building will be located as well. Manual training shops, a fresh-water pool and other general improvements at the school are included in the plans. The high school, serving Redondo, Hermosa and Manhattan Beach, has been able to purchase the grounds for the building, and the twenty-acre athletic field, out of a surplus in the general funds, and it is not expected that the issue will be opposed.

Horn That Moos Like Cow Added to Auto Racket

CAHUENGA PARK, Feb. 16.—An auto horn that "moos" like a cow, doorbells that play a tune, and other kinds of bell and horn devices are the inventions of H. A. Van Valkenberg, who maintains his infant industry here. For a number of years he was research engineer for the Robert Morton Organ factory in Van Nuys, having retired from that concern not long ago to establish a laboratory and plant here.

"I haven't the slightest idea why anybody would care to put on his auto a horn that moos like a cow," he says, "but there is a demand generally for anything that makes a funny noise in this rackety age and I am shipping my horns and bells to various parts of the country."

Some of the other inventions of Van Valkenberg for a number of years have brought him a good income.

Ontario Heeds Hoover Request

ONTARIO, Feb. 16.—Carrying out the request made by President Hoover during the winter, that communities launch their building programs this spring and summer, this city is on the verge of a decided construction campaign.

A building permit has been taken out by the Mutual Orange Distributors' under the name Upland Mutual Groves, Inc., for a $75,000 citrus-fruit packing-house, Spanish type, and strictly modern in equipment.

Herbert S. Bailey, manager of Exchange Orange Products plant, has announced his company will soon build a $40,000 addition.

If voters of the Chaffey school district do not vote favorably on a $450,000 school-expansion bond issue, the buildings will be put up by direct tax, according to Dr. Merton E. Hill, principal of Chaffey Union High School and Junior College.

This $500,000 building campaign is in addition to the regular construction of homes and other structures which has been continuing at a steady pace during the winter.

FORMER BANKER TO PLEAD CASE FRIDAY

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 16.—Herbert E. Anthony, former Bank of Italy vice-president here, indicted by a Federal grand jury at Los Angeles on six counts of embezzlement and misapplication of bank funds, involving a total of $244,000, probably will enter his plea in Federal court here next Friday. Following the returning of the indictment, it was said that Anthony's case probably would be placed on the 21st inst. Federal court calendar at San Diego, for arraignment and plea by the former banker.

FORMER STAR WILL REDUCE

Mary Miles Minter Back at Scene of Former Glory in Santa Barbara, Determined to Lose Avoirdupois

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 16.—Where once a figure of slender youth paraded to fame and fortune on the old Flying A studio lot here in the early flicker days, a buxom matron, appearing overstuffed, today looks over the field of former glories. It is Mary Miles Minter, once far-famed screen beauty, visiting again the scenes of her girlhood triumphs. She's come home to get thin, not at any miraculous fountain of youth, but under the strict dictatorial orders of the noted dietitian, Dr. W. D. Sansum. She's losing weight and fast. Horseriding, long hikes up near-by mountain sides or along the beaches, strenuous calesthenics and, not to lag mentally, the study of mathematics, are reported to be her daily fare. She even plays chess occasionally with members of a local club.

She is rarely seen on the streets. "skiddoo" in those olden, golden days, stands abandoned, used only as a storeroom for lumber. Where once, the celebrities of the stage and screen were wont to gather, are buzzing flies and idle spiders and dust and dirt.

The main hall is now used as a basketball court. Once a year when the automobile show is held here, it attains to its former glory with banners and flags and shiny new cars creating the atmosphere. It came back for awhile last summer when a two months' dancing marathon attracted huge crowds nightly.

Only once or twice has the former star visited the old lot, and if those visits have stirred memories, she keeps them to herself and continues her determined effort to regain her graceful figure of years ago.

ARGENTINE POLOISTS TRIM MIDWICK-HURRICANES

"ROBANDO LA BOLA"---STEALING THE BALL

That's what Manuel Andrada, captain of the Argentine polo team, is doing in the picture below. He is caught by the camera as he steals the ball from Gerald Balding, English internationalist, playing No. 2 for the Midwick-Hurricanes yesterday. The Argentine team won the game by an 11-to-7 score while 12,000 Southland fans looked on. [Carrol Photo]

SOUTH AMERICANS RIDE TO MALLET WIN, 11 TO 7

Twelve Thousand Southland Fans See Pampas Horsemen Gallop on to Victory at Purple Field

BY FRANK ROCHE

It will take more than a dash of Midwick and a slight ingredient of the Hurricanes to overcome these Argentine polo ists. The Four Horsemen of the Pampas proved that yesterday afternoon before 12,000 Southland fans when they romped to a 11-7 victory over a combination Midwick and Hurricane squad at the Purple Field.

The South Americans proved conclusively that they are the greatest polo team that has performed on the Coast in years. They have already won the Coast open championship and yesterday they met an all-star team composed of the pick of the best players available from Midwick and Laddie Sanford's Hurricanes and trounced them in a convincing manner despite the fact that the star No. 1 man of the Argentine team, Harrington, was unable to play because of an injured back. What more can you expect?

The Argentine squad has now registered its sixth straight victory in Pacific Coast Polo circles. Midwick, Rancho San Carlos and San Mateo and a combination Midwick and Hurricane players have fallen before the terrific onslaught of the wild-riding South Americans.

Yesterday's polo battle was a replica of the others in which the Argentine riders have figured. The even team balance overcame the individual play of the Midwick-Hurricane squad. It is very evident that the best polo players on the Coast at the present time must be banded together if these dashing horsemen from the plains of Argentina are to be turned back.

With that burly figure Capt. Manuel Andrada, leading the way the Argentines were not to be denied yesterday at Midwick once they got their dander up.

JACKSON MIXES UP WITH MARIO

Welters in East Side Arena Main Event Tonight

Matty Mario and Sammy Jackson will box the ten-round main event on the second boxing card to be staged at the new Eastside auditorium tonight. The boys are welterweights and both are club fighters. If they run true to form they are likely to put up as tough a battle as that between Ritchie King and Joe Guerrero on opening night.

While neither Matty nor Jackson has a great reputation, the latter has won a big following for himself by his great bouts against local welters. He twice defeated Bobby La Salle, once in a main event at Wilmington and again at the Olympic. As a semi-wind-up fighter he has been something of a sensation. In his last two starts he won over Paul Delaney and then drew with the same boxer. Mario has been a big card in the East for the past couple of years. He has boxed the best boys of his weight but hasn't taken a fling at the game on this coast since he boxed a close bout with Jackie Fields at Hollywood some three years ago. At that time he was boxing his fourth bout as

New Football Field Planned at Occidental

Excavation was started last week on the new turf football field north of Patterson Field which will be ready next fall for the Tiger frosh to hold workouts on. The northern grand stand will be torn down during the summer and the new gridiron will be connected by turf with the old one in the Occidental Bowl. According to Phil Ellsworth, graduate manager, the present sawdust field will also be turfed May 1, after baseball season, and will be ready for varsity practice when football rolls around next September.

University of Southern California's track-and-field teams, winner of the national intercollegiate championships in 1925 and 1926 and started on a comeback to national honors last year when it took second, will make its first 1930 appearance in the annual A.A.U. relay championships Saturday at Long Beach High. The Trojans are heavy favorites to annex major honors in this event.

The meet will give an indication of the strength of Coach Dean Cromwell's latest squad and will be eagerly watched by fans who have been predicting that the Trojan track squad of 1930 will again be a top-notch contender for both the I.C.A.A.A.A. and N.C.A.A. championships.

STANFORD THREAT

Winner of the I.C.4-A. title for the last three years, Stanford University is expected to find the most opposition in the defense of its crown this season from Southern California. The Cards won the meet last year with 45 1-2 points, more than twice as many than the 21 of the Trojans in second place.

Men who scored 28 3-8 of the points made by Stanford last season are returned to the Card squad, while only 11 points of the Trojan I.C.4-A. total are represented by returned athletes at Southern California. However, despite the fact that Southern California is 17 3-8 points behind the Cards on paper to start with, the prospects that the Trojans will be capable of making a good showing in meets of nation-wide representation are bright, largely because the returned point winners are improving and have

Ardath Schneider Captures Coronado Town Plate on Track at Agua Caliente

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Feb. 16.—Outriding the field, Miss Ardath Schneider, pretty, young Long Beach girl, won the third renewal of the Coronado Town Plate, race exclusively for women riders, here this afternoon.

The victory was Miss Schneider's second in the stake. She won the first time the race was staged at the old Tia Juana Jockey Club track, but did not compete last year. This afternoon she had the mount on Tecate, a San Diego bred Hand - Grenade gelding, and easily won by three lengths amid the plaudits of one of the largest crowds of the meeting. Dr. B. E. Watson owns and trains Tecate.

Don K, owned by C. B. Irwin and ridden by Mabel Strickland, went to the front with the rise of the barrier as the field of twelve was sent away by Starter Marshall Cassidy. Miss McGinnis kept her mount in front to the stretch, leading the way into the lane for home by three lengths. Miss Schneider, among the leaders, kept her mount free of interference and worked her way to the front in the stretch. She put Tecate to the whip and overhauled Don K, a sixteenth out, continuing on to win easily.

Tom Nash, ridden by Miss Vera McGinnis, raced to the show. The six-furlong was run in 1:14 2-5, good time considering the high weights.

Mrs. Mertell R. Travis, Chicago society leader, and an excellent horsewoman, led the parade to the post. She rode side-saddle bedecked in approved riding attire of les femmes, including even the silk topper.

Tecate was fractious all the way to the port and at the barrier. He broke through the webbing once to

WATER POLOISTS START TOURNEY PLAY TONIGHT

Southern California's strongest water-polo teams open a three-day tournament for the district A.A.U. championship at the Los Angeles Athletic Club plunge this evening. Two games will be played tonight, one tomorrow evening with the championship finals slated for Wednesday.

In tonight's games the favorites are the Hollywood Athletic Club and Venice Swimming Association sextets. Clyde Swendsen's H.A.C. duckers meet the University of Southern California Trojans, while the Venice squad hooks up with the Pacific Coast Club. Coach Fred Cady's L.A.A.C. Mercuries draw a bye tonight, but tomorrow night will be pitted against one of tonight's winners.

Hollywood boasts a colorful team headed by such fast forwards as Weston Kimball, MacMiller and Ray Varney. Capt. Lloyd Varney, goal keeper, rates as the leading goal tender in the league. "Red" Walton and Fletcher, guards, complete the Hollywood line-up. The Trojans have several outstanding stars in Oscar Simmons and Bela Kendall, forwards; Schuessler, guard, and Rheinhardt, goalie.

Phil Daupenspeck and Wally O'Connor, two of the fastest sprint swimmers on the Coast, will likely star for Venice against the Pacific Coast Club. The latter team will depend upon "Dutch" McAllister, Paxton Klause and Earl Piescia.

Tonight's two winners will draw after the games for the semifinals tomorrow night against the L.A.A.C. team.

Spring Grind Starts Today

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Feb. 16. (AP) Baseball spring training will start in San Antonio tomorrow.

Two major league clubs—the New York Giants of the National League and Chicago White Sox of the American League, arrived here tonight to start the ball rolling.

The Giants, making their headquarters at the St. Anthony Hotel, will start their first workout in League Park under the direction of Davy Bancroft and Irish Meusel.

The White Sox, with headquarters at the Gunter Hotel, however, will await an inspection of the ball park at St. Mary's University before the word is given to start training.

Among the arrivals on both clubs were the pitchers and catchers, the others to arrive about March 1.

M'Carthy to Line Up Cubs

BUFFALO (N. Y.) Feb. 16. (AP)—Joe McCarthy, manager of the Chicago Cubs, National League champions, left his home here today for Chicago for a brief meeting with the Cub business executives and to round up his pitchers and catchers and take them to Catalina as the advance guard of the training camp. McCarthy declared he expected the Cubs to repeat last season's victory.

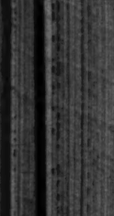
Los Angeles, California Battle for Women's Interclub Team Match Lead To

GIRARD CLINCHES CROWN BY DEFEATING LA CUMBRE

Feminine Golf Squads Battle at Flintridge

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Still four and a half points behind the Los Angeles Country Club, women golfers of the California Country Club, 1929 interclub champions of Southern California, are hopeful of regaining the lead today, when they face San Gabriel over the Flintridge Country Club course.



MRS. O. S. EDWARDS

Rated as one of the weakest teams in the league without the services of Mrs. Leona Pressler and Mrs. Mark Steele, San Gabriel is expected to fall an easy prey to California, while Los Angeles must face the strong Riviera Country Cub team, led by Mrs. Gregg Lifur.

The women's team match season, which has been in progress for several months, has only four more matches to go, and California will have to stage a Garrison finish in order to win the interclub crown again.

Today's matches, all of which will be played at Flintridge, are as follows:

Riviera (41) vs. Los Angeles (54.)

California (49½) vs. San Gabriel (21.)

Lakeside (22) vs. Hillcrest (39.)

Oakmont (18½) vs. Flintridge (38.)

Wilshire (36½) vs. Brentwood (23.)

Hollywood (39½) vs. Rancho (39.)

Both Mrs. Roy Green, Los Angeles city women's champion, and Mrs. Beau Edwards, who form California's first team, have been practicing diligently. They will not have to extend themselves, however, unless Mrs. Pressler finds opportunity to play today, in which case the match should be one of the best of the day.

Mrs. C. J. Woerner has been the most consistent player on the leading Los Angeles team. She has improved her game a great deal during the past few months, due in no little measure to the fact that she has been practicing under Willie Low's direction at Lakeside several times each week.

Mrs. Woerner will be paired today with Mrs. George M. Lewis against Mrs. Lifur and Mrs. Charles Delaney in the feature match.

Valley Stars Undefeated in Three Clashes

Defeating the La Cumbre Country Club of Santa Barbara yesterday, 6 to 3, on the northern course, cinched the interclub team championship of Group 1 for the Girard Golf and Country Club. This will make the second year in a row that Girard has represented its division in the play-off, which will take place in March.

W. L. JELLIFFE

So far, the San Fernando Valley team, one of the strongest in the Southland, has defeated Oakmont, 9 to 0, and La Cumbre twice, 7 to 2, and 6 to 3.

All of the matches were close. In a feature contest, Dr. T. E. Sedden and O. Sebastian of Girard, went twenty holes to defeat R. W. Smitherson and Dr. C. R. Pierce of La Cumbre.

The results:

Bill Jelliffe and Roland Preiss (G.) defeated Stanley Selford and F. E. Boyd (L.C.) 4 and 3.

Jack Caiger and Victor Girard (G.) defeated H. E. Jones and Dr. E. J. Kemp (L.C.) 3 and 2.

Ben Kerr and A. C. Kellner (L.C.) defeated Jimmy Jacks and L. Perry Ferguson (G.) 3 and 2.

L. Boyd and R. F. Ward (L.C.) defeated Aubrey Devine and Dr. Flake (G.) 1 up.

Bob Robinson and C. Weber (G.) lost to A. W. Stewart and Homer Martin (L.C.) 2 and 1.

Dr. T. E. Selden and O. Sebastian (G.) defeated R. W. Smitherson and Dr. C. R. Pierce (L.C.) 1 up, 20 holes.

L. Johnson and Carter (G.) defeated F. Stormberg and J. F. McCloskey (L.C.) 1 up.

SAN DIEGO DEFEATS FOX HILLS, 5-4

The San Diego Country Club interclub team defeated Fox Hills, 5 to 4, yesterday in a match played over the Chula Vista course.

STROBLE WINS FINALS IN BRAWLEY EVENT

BRAWLEY, Feb. 16.—Gaining an advantage through longer driving, which he followed up with better work on the greens, Jack Stroble of Holtville today defeated A. W. Bonnycastle of Brawley in the 36-hole final of the Brawley lettuce and cantaloupe growers and shippers championship. The score was 4 and 3.

Joe Novak, Bel-Air professional, refereed the match, which was held over the Del Rio Country Club links.

Bonnycastle outdrove Stroble on the first nine of the morning round, turning 1 up. Then he began to hook and lost four holes in a row. He dropped the eighteenth and was 3 up at noon. Stroble had a 76, his opponent a 78. Stroble went out in 35 in the afternoon, Bonnycastle in 36.

Stroble later won the long-driving contest at 267 yards.

Results of other flights follow:

Fred Watkins and Fred Martin (L.B.) defeated G. Baker and S. E. Mezlmeyer (S.A.) 2 and 1.

BY SOL METZGER

The body does not rotate when the club is taken back in golf. One of the greatest causes of confusion comes from many players trying to make it. The way to lower one's score is to swing the club back with the left hand. The hands do the hitting in golf, so they, and not the body, must necessarily control the club.

Your backswinging starts with the left hand moving to the rear away from the ball. As this movement causes the left shoulder to be pulled, due to the left arm being straight, the left side is pulled around. So you brace the right leg to maintain balance, to prevent swaying. Later, the pull is upward and somewhat to the rear as the left-hand swings the club up and back over the right shoulder. So you also lock the right hip to maintain your balance, to keep you from tilting backwards a bit at the end of the backswing.

Forget the pivot. The idea to get into the mind is to swing the club with the hands, the left taking it back. You must if you are to hit with the hands.

The pivot is the least understood phase in golf instruction. Sol Metzger has prepared a leaflet on "The Pivot," which he will gladly send to any reader requesting it. Inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

FARRELL COPS GOLF LAURELS

Gene Sarazen Runner-up in Pensacola Tournament

PENSACOLA (Fla.) Feb. 16. (AP) Playing the final round in three under par and sinking a 25-foot putt on the final green for a birdie, Johnny Farrell, slender St. Augustine (Fla.) professional, posted a 287 today to win the second annual $3500 Greater Pensacola open golf tournament.

As he made his drive for the final hole, Farrell needed only par to tie Sarazen and a birdie to win. He was on the green in two shots, a 330-yard par 4 hole. Farrell sank the lengthy shot on the rolling green for a 3.

He equaled par on his first round, was over on both his second and third and was under on the final round today.

Sarazen had finished the last round in 70, which added to his 72 on the morning round and his 146 of the previous day, gave him the 288. Farrell's winning score was 13 above that with which Horton Smith won the tournament last year and three over par figures for the four rounds.

Four strokes behind Sarazen and five away from the leader were Whitty Cox of Brooklyn and Herman Barron of Port Chester, N. Y. Barron, who was tied with "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, unattached, yesterday for the leadership at the end of the thirty-six holes play, took 149 today. Mehlhorn also faltered taking a 151, and fell back into sixth place with 294, one stroke behind Tony Manero of New York, who captured fifth-place money.

Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., had a 295 while two veterans, Craig Wood of Bloomfield, N. J., and Harry Cooper, unattached, were deadlocked for eighth place with 296's.

Roland Hancock of Lynchburg, Va., and Al Espinosa, master artist from Chicago, were side by side with 297.

New Mount for Krieger

Johnny Krieger, the "Flying Dutchman" of the auto-racing game, will introduce another Miller special in the field next Sunday afternoon at the American Legion Speedway. Krieger stated yesterday that, working with Dick Doyle, well-known mechanic, he has transferred a four-cylinder motor into a chassis in which an eight-cylinder motor was formerly used and that the remodeled gasoline chariot will be ready for its opening test Sunday.

Krieger declares that he expects the car to be as powerful as the one "Shorty" Cantlon is using Cantlon's Miller, along with Walt May's Deulin Special and Babe Stapp's Bobby Special ranked as one of the three fastest machines now at the local plant.

Legion racing moguls have announced that the special three-lap race, which was being planned to settle the question of superiority among Fred Frame, Ernie Triplett and "Swede" Smith, will not be held Sunday. Inability to get the warring pilots together on the subject of prize money caused the hitch, it is stated.

MARK ARIE LEADS GUNNERS AT TRAPS

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16. (AP)—Mark Arie of Champaign, Ill., led all other gunners with a perfect 85, after 85 shots had been fired today in the international flyer championship race of the twenty-sixth annual interstate trapshooting tournament.

After the first 40 yesterday, Arie and four others were tied for the lead. Five were tied for second after today's shoot, Sam Jenny, Highland, Ill.; Fred Ludington, Wauwatosa, Wis., and Frank Hughes, Chicago, Oscar Franz, St. Louis, and Charley Etchen, Coffeyville, having 83 each.

PAMPAS HORSEMEN WIN

Laddie Sanford, Gerald Balding, Long Legged Elmer Boeseke and Gordon Cronkhite in the saddle held the Argentine riders on an even basis for six chukkers. The score was 6 to 6 when the two teams entered the seventh period. But from that time on it was all Argentina.

REYNAL SCORES FIRST

In the seventh chukker Juan Reynal of the famous Reynals of the Cordoba rode into the picture with a goal that put the South Americans ahead. Then that "Huge One" Andrada dashed across the Midwick and Hurricane goal line for another score. Laddie Sanford came through for the home team for a goal that brought cheers from the stands. But before they could die down Juan Reynal again rode across a goal for Argentina.

The game went into the eighth chukker with the Argentines ahead by a 9-to-7 margin. Laddie Sanford had a wonderful chance to score at the start of the last chukker, but he missed by an eyelash. Then those dashing brothers, Juan and Jose took things in their hands and cinched the game for the South Americans by scoring goals on wonderful plays that brought cheers from the entire gathering.

Before closing this story something should be said about the individual play of certain participants. Chief among these are "Long Legged" Elmer Boeseke. Elmer was almost the whole opposition for the Argentines. He rode here and there in a reckless fashion trying to get the ball away from the Gaucho horsemen. If Elmer had another man on the field like himself it is safe to say that the tide of the battle would have been much different.

THRILLING MOMENT

One of the greatest thrills of the game came in the sixth chukker when Boeseke and Andrada rode pell mell for the goal posts and Elmer shot the ball over for a goal.

There was only one fall in the game and that came in the sixth chukker when Gordon Cronkhite hit the sideboards in the sixth chukker. He was out for about a minute and then resumed play.

It was just a question as to whether Orange would function right in No. 1 and when he did the South Americans simply rode the North Americans off their feet. Much credit for the victory must go to Andrada, who was a great mountain on defense and almost as good on offense. Jose Reynal was also outstanding. He is a player that does not score much, but he is always in the thick of the action and always responsible for his position. Orange and Juan Reynal were good, but Andrada was a "honey" and there is your answer why the Argentines won.

Line-ups:

SPILLS AND THRILLS DEL MONTE FEATURES

DEL MONTE, Feb. 16. (AP)—Spills and thrills marked today's challenge cup polo games here.

Del Monte revenged themselves on the San Carlos poloists with a hard-won 11-to-8 victory. Last Sunday San Carlos rode to a 9-to-7 win over the Del Monte team.

In the forenoon Will Tevis's San Mateans defeated Malcolm Stevenson's Pebble Beach four, 11 to 8.

Capt. Selby McCreery, British star in the San Carlos lineup, suffered two spills in the afternoon game. In the fifth chukker Capt. McCreery was knocked out when his horse rolled over him. It appeared he had suffered a serious injury, but a doctor's examination revealed no broken bones and he was replaced by Kenneth Walsh.

In the morning game, Jean St. Cyr received a badly wrenched shoulder in a heavy fall. Richard Magee substituted for him.

San Carlos made a gallant uphill fight with Alden Roark and Earl Hopping leading the attack. The Del Monte team had too great an advantage, however, and Arthur Perkins's air-tight defense stayed off potential San Carlos goals. The Del Monte team played as one man, while the teamwork of the San Carlos quartet was ragged at times.

Stuart Pearson and Capt. D. S. Wood excelled for San Mateo in the morning game with Kenneth Walsh appearing at his best this season for Pebble Beach.

The all-American matches are scheduled to be played here next week.

UPLIFTERS WIN OVER BUCCANEER FOUR

The Uplifters' Club won a close victory from the Buccaneers by an 8-to-7 score yesterday at the Rustic Canyon Field. Lionel Pedley starred for the winning team, scoring five goals. Snowy Baker stood out for the losers.

The lineups:

Uplifters	Pos.	Buccaneers
Pedley (5)	No. 1	W. Rogers, jr. (2)
Hockley (2)	No. 2	Dimick (1)
Pedley (5)	No. 3	Baker (3)

Peters Gives Tilden Scare

NICE (France) Feb. 16. (AP)—A. C. Peters, eleventh ranking English tennis player, today almost repeated his recent victory over Big Bill Tilden. Meeting in the quarter-finals of the Southern France championships here today, Peters took the first two sets before Tilden got his game in working order. Then the old master romped through three straight sets for match victory at scores of 4-6, 2-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. Peters defeated Tilden at Cannes, the 8th inst. by scores of 9-7, 8-6.

In the semifinals Tilden will meet the Irish Davis Cup player, Lyttleton Rogers.

Busy Week for Hollywooders

A heavy program of athletic competitions is scheduled this week at the Hollywood Athletic Club, opening tomorrow night with the Southern California A.A.U. Club League game between the Movie City basketball squad and the Elks' Club.

Coach Clyde Swendsen tonight sends his H.A.C. water poloists in quest of another title to add to the junior national crown they already hold and two squash-handball events also are on the week's card.

A busy time in squash will be started Thursday when the club singles championship tournament is begun with all the leading players entered, including Les Klawiter, Bill Holman, Tom Gallery, Herman Frieseke, Harold Hoppe and many others. Saturday night H.A.C. squashers will battle Rockwell Field officers in a dual squash match.

Joe G. and Blue Cedar, broke through the webbing soon after the field went to the post. Blue Cedar was overtaken and halted by Chet Parsons on the lead pony, but he was unable to handle Joe G at the same time. Miss Babe De Freest was unable to stop her mount and he continued right on around to the finish line and beyond before he could be halted. The runaway race tired Joe G, and he finished last.

Hey Diddle Diddle, good sprinter from the stable of George Cameron, California breeder and sportsman, demonstrated his class in no uncertain terms in winning the San Pasqual handicap, secondary feature on the program. All Hey Diddle Diddle did was to lower the track record for six furlongs three-fifths of a second. The new mark is 1:10 2-5, against the old record set by Alexander Pantages at 1:11 1-5.

First race, six furlongs, claiming, 4 years and up, purse $800. King Rank (Miller) 115, won; Hi Heroe (Dedrickson) 118, second; Henry Horner (Morsa) 118, third. Time, 1:13 1-5.

Yale Cagemen Display Class

BY SOL METZGER

Yale's basketball has no great amount of fancy stuff woven into its plays. Sound ideas, plus well executed fundamentals are the base upon which its players operate, including the far-famed football star, Albie Booth, who personifies confidence in any athletic contest.

Here's one of its sound center tap plays. No. 3 forward break a stride ahead of No. 2 and they cross as shown in the diagram, No. 3 taking the tap to the right front of his center. When properly timed, as all plays must be, the guards of No. 2 and No. 3 are slowed up in trying to avoid each other, if they rush with the forwards to prevent them getting the tap.

Likewise, the opposing center does not find the going easy if he breaks out of the circle to his rear. The idea of such a play is to secure the ball. Other plays then occur to work it close for a shot.

...Stauber High Man at Traps

There was a wonderful gathering of trapshooters at the Los Angeles traps yesterday to take part in the program that was put on for the Pathe Sound News. The picture will be forwarded to New York first—and will then be returned here to be shown at our local theaters. A. J. Stauber put up the high score in the 100—16-yards event with the cracking good score of 98x100. H. W. Armstrong and Guy Houghtaling tied for second honors with 97 each. C. L. Nickle annexed third place in a tie with Ben Dear, with 95. Harry Stoney and Fred Martin whiffed 94. E. A. Ward and L. B. Marsh accounted for 93. Les Hare and Mrs. Groat, 92. MacGlass, E. L. Ilgner, C. J. Hurst, H. E. Reidenbaugh and C. J. Hurst, 91; W. H. Taylor, 90. Hurst and Harry Stoney from nineteen yards tied for high in the handicap with 47x50. Martie and Mrs. Groat, 46; Nickle, twenty-two yards, Armstrong twenty-three yards and Hase twenty, 45 each. Stauber, with 49x50, copped the double event. Armstrong was the runner-up. Mrs. Knight and Martie divided the honors at the tower with 24x25, Adams and Famechon, 23 each. Glass, 21. Seven thousand targets were thrown. The trophy winners were Stauber, Houghtaling, Dear, H. Stoney, George Warren, Miss Lemple, Mrs. Adams, Matie and Hurst.

TROJANS AFTER THIRD IN ROW

slated for the Shrine, is to be played at the Olympic.

Southern California may be without the services of Bill Pierce, sub forward, who suffered a recurrence of his old knee injury in Saturday's game. However, Trainer Neal Miller believes that Pierce, who spent the week-end in the hospital, will be ready for action along about Wednesday.

As long as Capt. Wilds continues in his slump the Bruins are not going to beat Southern California. This leaves the scoring burden largely on the shoulders of Carl Knowles and Knowles, good as he is, cannot carry the weight by himself. If Wilds gets his eye back the Bruins may make it interesting, but until he does there's not much likelihood of the Bruins thumping their foes. Wilds has made but one field goal in his last three games.

REDLANDS IN

In the Southern California Conference that fast-traveling Redlands team, coached by Ashel Cunningham, assured themselves of no worse than a tie for the title by trimming Pomona, 34 to 23. Redlands will have to fall apart completely to lose the championship. The Baptists can hardly lose to Caltech, one of their two remaining foes, and are practically certain to wind up the year with no defeats. San Diego being the other team left on the Redlands schedule. Even if the unexpected should happen and Redlands drop both games, Cunningham's crew would get no less than a tie for the crown.

Redlands' rise this year brings back memories of the days when big Fred Dye, Don Thompson and others were grabbing athletic laurels for the Baptists. That was almost ten years ago and Redlands, up until this season, has not been the power in Southern California Conference ranks that she was in the days of Dye, Thompson, Emil Allec, Kemper Taylor, Bob Allen and the famous Yount brothers.

Whittier surprised Occidental rather rudely Saturday night, giving the Tigers their third defeat of the year. La Verne made it two in a row over San Diego State and showed tremendous scoring power to win, 54 to 24.

HOLLYWOOD HAS CHANCE TO WIN

Oaklanders Perform Tonight in Garden Hockey Game

With the invitations out for the annual east-west classic and the competing teams alive to the financial rewards that are in the making for the team that triumphs, California Hockey League teams can be expected to do some industrious digging for points from now on, and few games this year can hold any more promise than that struggle of struggles between the Oakland Sheiks and Hollywood Millionaires at the Winter Garden Ice Palace tonight.

As champions of the league and leaders in the current race, the Sheiks naturally want to get into the east-west series and get a heavy cut of the money that goes with such competition. While the Millionaires are down, they are far from counted out and their manager, "Smokey" Harris, has them feeling that they have a mighty good chance of ending up in the money.

One of the eastern teams likely will be the world champion Boston Bruins, or it may be the Chicago Black Hawks, or Detroit Cougars, or Minneapolis Millers. Whoever it is, against Oakland or Hollywood, it will mean packed houses at the Garden.

The Oakland team which will take the ice won't be quite the same as it was the last time it was here. One of its mainstays, George Giroux, is on his way east to report to the Montreal Canadians in the deal that sent George and his brother Art of the San Francisco Tigers into the "big time."

There may be something of desperation in the will of the Millionaires to win tonight as they must put on a real winning streak to stay in the running. "Moose" Johnson, the giant defense from Minneapolis, should be working more smoothly into the defense and offense and this should have some effect on the forward play of "Lefty" Comber, "Wolf" Peltier, "Smokey" Harris, Paul Maher, Dan Garrigan and "Dutch Singer.

Line-ups:

Hollywood		Oakland
T. Carrigan	Goal	Fowler
Johnson	Defense	Stevens
Singer	Defense	Bond
Headley	Defense	Horne
Harris	Wing	Cook
Peltier	Wing	Sandercock
Maher	Wing	Miller

Shell Oilers Meet Durkees

Coming down the home stretch in the fight for the second-half title in the Southern California senior ice-hockey league Ernie Miller's Shell Oilers will meet the Van Fleet-Durkees tonight at the Palais De Glace rink.

A victory for Hector Proulx and his Van Fleet-Durkee pucksters will put them up next to the first-place Arrowheads, while a defeat for the Shells will virtually eliminate that sextet from the running in the second-half title chase.

Last Thursday night Miller's stick handlers dropped a 2-to-1 decision to the Arrowheads, while a few days previously the Service Men handed the valley club a 7-to-1 pasting.

The line-ups:

Kimball Sets Musher Mark

OGDEN (Utah) Feb. 16. (AP)—Setting what is believed to be a new world's record for the distance, Earl Kimball of Reno, Nev., today won the Watch Dog Derby by covering the 50.4-mile course in 3h. 42m. and 19s. Thula Geelan, Idaho woman musher, was second in 3:52:14, and Roy Stover, Sacramento, Cal., winner of the Tahoe-Sierra Derby last month, was third in 3:52:57. Kimball received a cash prize of $1250, Thula won second prize of $750 and Stover $500 as third prize. The world's record for fifteen miles, broken yesterday by Kimball, who won yesterday's heat, was bettered three times in today's race.

TROJANS FAVORED IN LONG BEACH RELAYS

been considerably strengthened by a strong freshman squad of last year and the transferring to the university of four splendid junior college performers, among them Frank Wykoff of the 1928 American Olympic team.

Southern California will have as the backbone of its drive for national honors what appears to be one of the strongest squads of sprinters ever possessed by any university. Headed by Wykoff, who was national 100-meter champion in 10 3-5s. in 1928, the Trojan sprint squad also has Weldon Draper, Milton Maurer and Maurice (Red) Guyer.

BEST IN 220

Draper and Maurer have each run the 100 in 9 4-5s. as sophomores at S.C., while Guyer, a transfer from Santa Ana Junior College, is almost as fast in the short dash but excels in the 220. Wykoff, Maurer and Guyer were all members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club relay team that last July under Dean Cromwell's coaching won both the 440 and 880-yard relays in the National A.A.U. championships. The fourth member of this relay team at the A.A.U. meet was Charley Paddock, and to replace him on a Trojan sprint relay squad Coach Cromwell has Draper, a stocky little flash who runs in much the same high arm waving style as the renowned Paddock.

In the quarter-mile, the Trojans have two men in Vic Williams and Gerald Pearson, who shaded 50s. last year as sophomores. Wakefield Burke, who ran a season for the University of Chicago and who is now eligible for a year of varsity competition at Troy after a year's lay-off because of the transfer rule, has also beaten fifty seconds and will be useful if he can return to his old form.

Bill McGeah, third in the National Junior A.A.U. half-mile last year, when a freshman at S.C., is the Trojan's leading prospect in the two-lap event. McGeagh has already run the event in 1m. 57s., and Coach Cromwell hopes to have him seasoned well enough late in the spring so that he may be one of the few distance men from the West who have ever been able to do much in big eastern meets.

Cliff Halstead, who ran the mile under 4m. 30s. as a freshman, and Lee Hansen, a transfer from the University of Oregon, who was Pacific Coast Conference mile champion in 1928 with a mark of 4:24, are Coach Cromwell's leading fourlappers. Vic Fitzmaurice, who was an eastern interscholastic cross-country champion when a student at New Utrecht High School in Brooklyn and who was S. C.'s leading distance star last season, will take care of the two-mile along with Chesley Unruh, who won the 5000-meter run in the southwestern Olympic tryouts in 1928.

WELSH READY

Two junior college transfers, along with Ernest Payne, second-place winner in the low hurdles in the L.C.A.A.A. meet last year, will be the Trojan mainstays in the barriers. Jeddy Welsh, transferring from Pasadena Junior College, won the high hurdles in the national junior championships last year in 15.1 seconds, while Bill Carls, transferring from Long Beach Jaysee, was the national junior king in the low hurdles last year in 24 3-5 seconds.

With the graduation of Jack Williams, who tied for first in the L.C.A.A. pole vault, S. C. now has no outstanding vaulting prospects, although Bill Hubbard and Bill Livingston are both consistent at 12ft. 6in. while each has once done 13ft.

Bob Van Osdel and James Stewart, sophomore high jumpers, have each cleared a shade more than six feet and both appear to be improving, although Southern California does not expect to be especially strong here.

Despite the fact that S.C. has lost Jesse Hill, I.C.-4A. champion in the broad jump, Coach Cromwell expects to be strong in this department this season. Howard Paul took third in the I.C.-4A. meet last year and has two more years in the squad, while Dick Barber, who won the national junior A.A.U. championships with a leap of 24ft. 2 1-2in. last year as a freshman, is another good prospect.

Southern California appears to be weak in the weights, but Cromwell, who developed Bud Houser, champion weights man in two Olympic Games, has a good-looking boy in Bob Hall, big tackle on the Trojan varsity, who may become a star. Hall, now a sophomore, is now throwing the discus more than 140ft. and putting the shot around 45ft.

In the javelin, Southern California has a good performer in Jesse Mortensen, who came up from the ranks of the nobodies last year to place in the I.C.-4A., win the N.C.A.A. and finally crown his achievements by taking the senior national A.A.U. championship with a throw of 204ft. 9.75in. Mortensen, who is at present starring with Southern California's championship-aspiring basketball team, is captain of the track squad, but will be unable to work out with it until late this month.

Southern California meets Stanford in what in point of marks and hot competition may be the greatest intercollegiate dual meet of the year on April 12 in the Los Angeles Coliseum. In other important meets of 1930, the Trojans defend their West Coast relay championship at Fresno April 26, compete in the California intercollegiates May 17, and take part in the I.C.-4A. at Boston May 30 and 31 and the N.C.A.A. in Chicago June 14.

ENTRIES POURING IN

Registration Under Way for 1930 Junior Olympic Games Program in Southern California

BY BRAVEN DYER

Entries have started to pour in for the 1930 Junior Olympic Games and it won't be long now before a schedule of meets will be released. Although registration has been under way less than one week more than 1000 youngsters have already enrolled for the program which will include at least 30,000 before the season is ended.

Inyo county, with approximately 250 entries, leads at this writing, although the Long Beach Y.M.C.A. indicates that it will have at least this number of youngsters competing before long. In Imperial county the Bard and Jasper schools have entered twenty and sixty boys, respectively.

BRAVEN DYER.

First reports from Riverside county list the names of Perris elementary and Jacinto High School.

TIME WILL TELL

The Miguelito school at Lompoc is the first Santa Barbara county entry to be received. This county is one of several which is 100 per cent enrolled in the Junior Olympic Games, and it is only a question of time until all the entries will be received.

Ocean View school at Oxnard leads the Ventura county entries. From Orange county the following schools are already enrolled: Garden Grove grammar, Julia C. Lathrop Junior High of Santa Ana, Huntington Beach High and Roosevelt High of Santa Ana.

In Los Angeles county the McKinley school of Santa Monica is enrolled as are Lawndale, Avalon Junior High, Tweedy Elementary and Los Nietos grammar.

El Monte is anxious to see Vane Baker and Jerry Deal, last year's junior stars, and it is likely that an exhibition by these two champions will be arranged there for the latter part of this week.

Organizations which have not appointed their student executives should do so immediately and this is an important feature of the Junior Olympic Games program. The writer would like to hear from all student executives who have news of interest about their respective teams.

UNLIMITED OPPORTUNITIES

The Junior Olympic Games offers unlimited opportunity to boys ineligible for competition or of a nonathletic type to display and train their executive ability by acting as Student Executive in their schools or playgrounds.

These boys, selected by the organization head as executives, attend to all the details in connection with the preliminary competition, such as making up charts where results may be tabulated, contact with the Junior Olympic Games headquarters, publicity in the schools and local papers and helping the director of athletics so that no extra work will be thrown on his shoulders. Student executives upon completion of their work will receive a certificate of performance from the executive committee.

One of the most interesting features of this year's competition is that the revised system of scoring gives all entrants a more equal chance of winning than has been the case in the past. Close study of points scored in the various events brought about a slight revision which puts the young athletes on an absolutely equal basis.

Scores of boys have asked about the Latin-American trip, which is to go to the four Southern California youngsters with the best records for the season. Inasmuch as Vane Baker is the only one of last year's all-star quartet eligible for 1930 competition, the places are wide open and practically every competitor figures he has a chance of winning the award. An ocean voyage of approximately twenty-eight days, plus excursions to seven Latin-American countries, is a treat seldom offered youngsters.

SLAGER TO TAKE ON HERNANDEZ SATURDAY

Jack Slager will tackle Leo Hernandez, Mexican welterweight star, in next Saturday night's main event at the Main-street Athletic Club.

Johnny Torres won from Jack (Red) Stephens on a foul in the second round of last Saturday night's chief bout. Stephens knocked down Torres a half-dozen times when Referee Fred Gilmore decided he had punched the Mexican while the latter was on the canvas. Oscar Rankins, negro middleweight, knocked out Paul Duarte in the second round of the semi-wind-up. Johnny Chrismas was awarded a six-round decision over Joe Pimenthal, Mexican lightweight, in the special event.

IRISH BASKETEERS WIN

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 16. (AP) Columbia University's Irish basketball quintet defeated St. Martin's 27 to 21, here today coming from behind in the last half.

RABBIT PUNCH NOT ALLOWED

La Doux is Handicapped by New Mat Ruling

"Gorilla" Gene La Doux, the wild French-Canadian mat monarch, will not be permitted to use his neck-breaking rabbit punch when he tackles Nick Lutze in one of the two big-finish mat battles scheduled for the Olympic Wednesday night, Promoter Lou Daro announced yesterday.

The rabbit punch, at the suggestion of the promoter, was declared dangerous and a violation of the wrestling rules which prohibit grapplers from striking with clenched fists during a mat battle.

The State Athletic Commission agreed with Promoter Daro and placed the rabbit punch in the same class with the strangle-hold and eye-gouging.

Wrestlers, in using the rabbit punch, bring both clenched fists down upon the back of their foe's neck. Many grapplers have been snapped into the mat, head first, with these blows, Daro stated, and he considers it a miracle that some of the matmen who have been beaten with the rabbit punch in local matches have not suffered broken necks.

La Doux states the ruling was sought at this time to weaken his chances of beating Lutze. He declared the promoter knew he used the rabbit punch a great deal in bringing his opponents into position to be nabbed with his reverse headlocks.

a professional.

Tony Pellegrino, the little New York Italian who meets Willie Fausto in the six-round semi-wind-up, is a stablemate of Mario. He has boxed Al Singer, the New York sensation and had Singer on the floor, although he dropped the decision. His manager figures he is plenty good enough to mingle with the present crop of junior lightweights around Los Angeles, right now the most popular division in the game.

Pellegrino is a great puncher, just the sort to look good against a boxer of the Fausto type. The latter never dodges the issue and is always ready to swap punches. If Pellegrino gets over tonight and makes his expected hit he will probably be matched with Ritchie King, Joe Guerrerro or perhaps Joey Sangor.

The supporting card is fair enough. Herb Turchi takes on Jimmy Alvarado in the six-round special event. They are 126-pounders. One hundred and fourteen-pounders box the two four, sBilly Kane boxes Johnny Jordan and Johnny Gabuco takes on Joey Rich.

"10,000 Men can't be wrong"

¶Choose 10,000 of the keenest, most intelligent, most prominent men in California—in Los Angeles, in Oakland and San Francisco—and ask them what they do or have done to maintain their health and vigor. Perhaps it would surprise you if every one of them said in two short, but meaningful words—"Al Williams."

¶But that's the answer you'd get if you could ask these men that one question—"Al Williams Health System."

¶Fifteen years ago this physical science system of mine started out to help men to better health, more energy, greater happiness—and it has done it so completely, so convincingly that over 10,000 of California's executives and professional men would tell you of its benefits—and in no uncertain terms.

¶And today over 2,000 men are active members—all enjoying the positive, unmistakable good that comes from a conditioning course planned for each individual, executed by each individual and directed by a man who knows the human body, its needs and its processes.

¶Make no mistake—this is no gym class—nor is it a sanitarium. It is an institution, operating in three cities—Los Angeles, Oakland and San Francisco—where each client is studied carefully and his needs determined before a plan is recommended. Then the client receives individual instruction—all the way through and all the time. The client comes at his own convenience—there are no fixed schedules.

¶Over 65 people are needed to care for the clientele of the Al Williams System—every one a trained specialist in his work. Over 18,000 square feet of floor space are used—and the most modern equipment known to the art of keeping men in fine physical condition.

¶And be sure of this—Because this system is individual, the client receives active, passive or contractive exercise as his condition demands. The same is true of the massage, manipulation, application of water or of vapor or of the solarium for ultra-violet exposure. A client of Al Williams is an individual—and so regarded in every single phase.

¶And now let me ask you a question. If over 10,000 keen, hard-hitting men have found this system almost magical in its effect; if our principles are so sound that physicians use and recommend this system; if it has grown to be the largest, by far, in the West and one of the greatest in the country, then isn't it time you looked into it—isn't it possible that you would find it the well-spring of driving, surging energy that will help you put over your big job in 1930?

¶On our record we might claim many, many things. We do say we have produced notable and exceptional results in bringing normal weight, nervous relaxation, better sleep, better energy—and as a result greater business effectiveness and happiness.

¶We have a booklet, "The Human Machine," that's yours for the asking—and may be the most valuable book you ever read.

An Invitation—Serious-minded, sincere business and professional men who want to improve themselves are cordially invited to experience the exhilarating, re-charging effect that thousands have found in this system. 30 minutes will do it.

THE SON OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The black man at the paddle held the canoe in midstream. Dazed, he knew not what to do. Then he saw Baynes feebly attempt to move. The black crawled forward and lifted the white man to a sitting position. As he did so there was another shot from shore and the negro pitched backward overboard, the paddle still clutched in his dead fingers. Another bullet whizzed close to the Englishman's head before he could reach protection.

Lying down in the canoe, Baynes turned weakly to face the shore and there saw Malbihn resting on his elbows, again leveling his rifle. The Swede had been sore hit. His aim was not as sure now. With difficulty Baynes turned over and grasping his revolver drew himself up until he could aim over the edge of the canoe. With painstaking care he took aim. A flash, a report, and Malbihn's giant figure jerked to the impact of another bullet.

But he was not yet dead. Again the Swede fired, the shot splintering the canoe close to Baynes's face. Baynes replied and thus, doggedly, the two wounded men continued to carry on their weird duel until the winding river had carried the young Englishman around a wooded point beyond the range of Malbihn's bullets. Then the Hon. Morison Baynes slumped weakly into the bottom of the canoe and lay there for hours in a partial stupor.

The echoes of the shooting came faintly to the keen ears of another white man; a tall broad-shouldered giant in khaki riding at the head of a swarthy crew of sleek black natives. The man's face was set in hard, stern lines and the marks of sorrow were written deep about his mouth. It was the Big Bwana. Returning home he had found Meriem gone. Baffled by her disappearance, he was trailing an Arab band.

OLD KETTLEMAN COMMITTEE OUT

Group Selected to Map Conservation Plan

Make Recommendations After Wide Survey

Pass on Two Policies of Developing Area

The past week marked the passing of the old Oil and Gas Conservation Committee of the Kettleman field, and the setting up in place of an advisory group which will assemble all the facts regarding the development of that district, and recommend a concrete development plan to the various operators having interests there.

The old committee had functioned since last April when it was created to assist Secretary of the Interior Wilbur and George Otis Smith of the United States Geological Survey in checking what was considered at that time to develop into a rip-roaring field development, even as a result of flush production of high-gravity oil.

REINHARDT CHAIRMAN

With the appointment of the new advisory group, of which William Reinhardt, production manager for the Shell Oil Company, is chairman, Judge E. D. Reiter retires as the chairmanship of the old committee, and the new group, it is thought to more fully represent all the interests in the field, will keep up its duties. One of its duties will be to decide whether or not the field will be developed on the unit system—forming a mutual association to drill and produce oil and gas which would be divided among all individuals and companies on the basis of their interest. The new group includes R. E. Collom, Continental Oil Company; J. F. Jenkins, Associated Oil Company; William Reinhardt, Shell Oil Company; W. H. Berg, Standard Oil Company; R. A. Sperry, General Petroleum Corporation; W. C. Mendenhall, Pacific Western Oil Company; F. N. Lonigan, Milham Exploration Company; Rush M. Roberts, George F. Getty, Inc.; J. F. Pemberton, Petroleum Securities Company; Harry Hawson, Independent Land Owners' League of Fresno; Carl H. Beal, representing persons, and Robert Patterson, representing United States Geological Survey.

Field operations at Kettleman Hills have shown little change since Petroleum Securities Company's well No. 1 was completed for 1500 barrels of oil per day, on the north

NEWS OF FIELD

The Ohio Oil Company has not succeeded in completing Smith No. 1, in Sec. 35, 24-19, on the south end of Kettleman Hills. Attempts to convert it into a producer continue after having plugged back to 6000 feet from an original depth of 7000 feet.

For the last month, Ohio has been grabbing and cleaning out this hole, which is the deepest in the entire district. Below 7000 feet the hole is devoid of showings.

The Chanslor-Canfield Midway Company's Sahlein No. 1 on Sec. 20-11, also on the south dome, less than a mile distant from the above project, and it remains idle at the bottom at 6130 feet, pending work in the Ohio test.

The Standard Oil Company is rigging up No. 45 on Sec. 29, 21-17, on the north dome which is an offset to the Superior Oil Company's Hoffman No. 1, drilling below 5374 feet, in Sec. 32, 21-17. The company's well on Sec. 11, 23-17, which was drilled two months ago to deepen, is now below 7035 feet, and is within 100 feet of the depth of the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 discovery well now producing 1000 barrels of oil. TEST SETS ALL GUESSING

Production Trial of Southland Oil Fields Works to Upset Situation, Not Clear It

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

With two oil fields out of five in the production curtailment campaign running away over expectations on the six-day flow test, another field holding up to about what was expected of it and another falling much lower than anybody expected it to go, there probably is more guessing being done today than has been known among oil operators for years.

Today and tomorrow will wind up the flow tests upon which the oil umpires will base the prorata runs from hundreds of wells during the next ninety days. Unofficially it is reported that the Elwood field's flow test showed 65,000 barrels instead of an anticipated 45,000-barrel yield. Yesterday it was reported that the Ventura-avenue field will probably show a new potential of 75,000 barrels and it is generally believed that Signal Hill will range close to the potential anticipated by the umpires. No estimate has been made on the Seal Beach output but it is the smallest factor in the curtailment campaign and cannot be expected to upset calculations as Ventura, Elwood and Santa Fe Springs have done.

SANTA FE SURPRISES

There were many persons who believed that Santa Fe Springs would run close to 300,000 barrels a day in the flow test, but some of the shrewdest petroleum engineers in the business think that the final figures will range between 210,000 and 230,000 barrels a day. This heavy slump is attributed by some to the rapid depletion of the three Clarke zones, which are the deepest producers in the field. Representatives of one large operator assert that the Clarke zone wells have sagged away down, while the O'Connell sand wells are holding up rather well.

This is taken as an indication that many operators who have been prorating their production have been flowing their wells pretty much open, some of the operators assert. They base this conclusion upon the fact that the lower Clarke zones would not have slipped off so sharply had they not been drained by a large number of wells. The O'Connell sand wells are holding up strongly, it is asserted, because there are not so many operators draining the O'Connell zone.

If various field reports concerning the deep sands at Santa Fe Springs are to be seriously regarded then we may assume that Santa Fe Springs has, indeed, seen her best days because the Hatnaway zone, from which Oscar Howard was expected to bring in production from greater depth than the Clarke sands, has apparently fizzled out, with the Hathaway deep test plugging back up for a shallower try. When the head of gas is off the Clarke zones the operators will then have to turn, for consolation, to the O'Connell, Buckbee and Nordstrom sands, and the best of these doubtless will be the O'Connell sand, for the Nordstrom apparently is not extensive, and the Buckbee was quite well pulled down last year.

It would seem that if those who are interested in the curtailment of production during the next ninety days in order to prevent a collapse of the oil market—a thing which would greatly disturb the economic structure of the entire State—will hold steady for a few weeks Santa Fe Springs will, in all probability, eliminate herself from the over-production situation through natural decline.

TOO MANY WELLS

This field has been the bugaboo of oil operators for seven years. It has produced more barrels of oil to the acre than any other oil field in the world, according to petroleum statisticians, and yet it has, in some respects, been a financial graveyard. Its town lot complication, coupled with the assurance of big wells, has stimulated close drilling every time a development campaign has popped there. The result has been that too many wells have been drilled during each campaign, the head of gas has been quickly exhausted and in some cases, when the cream was gone, scores of unfinished wells have been left standing as monuments to promoters or to oil companies which got a late start or had too many mechanical or financial difficulties.

The assertion cannot be vouched for, but it has often been made that not more than five big oil companies nor more than twenty small operators have ever shown actual profit from Santa Fe Springs field development, and most of these are credited with having made money as a result of getting the jump on their competitors.

GUTTED FIELD

While it has been a wonderful oil field, from standpoint of total output of oil, it might ultimately have produced at least 10 per cent more oil and gas had orderly development been possible, but when the present head of gas is gone it will settle down to be a pumper field and there will be no fortunes made in pumping, because the holes are deep and the process will be expensive.

Santa Fe Springs has given some of the best oil brains in America weeks and weeks of sleepless nights and the problems it has presented have been solved by no one. The whole industry will breathe more freely when the prospect of getting big wells in that field is merely a memory.

If, in the meantime, the hundreds of oil operators in this State can muster up enough patience to carry them through the next few weeks the industry has a chance to weather the present production crisis without losing millions of dollars as a result of an impending petroleum market collapse.

UNION PLANS NEW WELL IN TAFT AREA

TAFT, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The Union Oil Company is preparing to build a road to a new location on Sec. 27, 32-23 on Twenty-five Hill. A new well will be drilled 400 feet south of Union's old Western Petroleum No. 1 well, which produced at the rate of forty barrels of oil daily until it was shut down.

TOM REED PROGRESS REPORTED

Work Begun on Station for Operating at New 1075-Foot Level

OATMAN (Ariz.) Feb. 15. (Exclusive)—Tom Reed is excavating a big station for the new operating 1075-foot level in its main shaft. Then is to be pushing of a 160-foot crosscut to the ore body developed at 950 feet of depth by winze workings, with rich material found all along a drift on that level.

There is to be upraising on the vein from the new level from which stoped ore is expected to maintain the company's mill at its full capacity. Crosscutting will take about forty-five days. Under the new order will be reduction of mining and transportation costs.

Three shifts are working in the United American, driving a crosscut from the bottom of a 1025-foot shaft toward the Tom Reed ore body, which extends across the end line into American ground. There also is to be driving across five veins that have surface showing with hope of worth-while ore development. The crosscut is to connect with the 800-foot level Tom Reed drift, through which it is possible ore extraction will be taken to the Reed shaft and to the mill.

In the Silver Creek section Jesse Walker has the Del Rey shaft down to about 100 feet and will continue to 500 feet, when it is to be lateral development.

Financing for further development of the well-known Times group is reported secured in New York by Patrick Brady. Two shifts are to be started on the 200-foot level.

OBSTINATE PROJECT AT MARICOPA

Havenstrite Well No. 5 of California Western Keeps Sanding Up

MARICOPA, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) The California Western Oil Company is meeting difficulties in an attempt to bring in its Havenstrite No. 5 well on Sec. 17, 11-23. The well is down more than 3280 feet in good oil sand.

Production was attempted at 3173 feet, but the well kept sanding up despite all efforts to clean it out and complete it commercially. Drilling ahead was ordered and the hole was cored through shell. More than fifty feet of oil sand was drilled through at last reports received here.

Havenstrite No. 3, on the same section, is down 3350 feet and drilling through brown shale formation. This and the No. 5 are the only drilling jobs Cal-Western has at the field at present.

The Birch Oil Company's No. 2 on Sec. 7, 11-23, at Maricopa Flat, is idling in its drilling activities, while the cement plug is setting at 3770 feet. Bottom is at 4464 feet. Birch has one producing well on this section. There are no other operators active in drilling on Sec. 7.

Four New Wells Start Drilling in Kern Fields

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Four new wells were added to the list of drilling jobs in Kern county during the week.

Drilling activity in the wildcat area of the San Emidio district is being resumed with two new wells scheduled. Both are to be put down by H. A. Bardeen. One will be located on Sec. 10, 10-23, known as the Ramsey property, and the other on the Klipstein ranch, Sec. 18, 10-23.

Another wildcat project will be drilled southwest of Delano on Sec. 23, 25-27. It will be the No. 1 well of the Helen Petroleum Corporation, Ltd. The new well will test out entirely new territory.

The Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company has spudded in its No. 51 well in the Midway district on Sec. 8, 32-24.

LOCATIONS PICKED FOR FIVE HOLES

Milham and Lincoln to Drill New Projects in Buttonwillow Area

BUTTONWILLOW, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Five new well locations have just been staked in the Buttonwillow district, adding impetus to the development work here. Four new wells are to be drilled by the Milham Exploration Company and one by the General Petroleum Corporation, while the Lincoln Drilling Company is already drilling beyond 300 feet in its No. 1 on Sec. 17, 29-24.

General Petroleum's new well is Morris No. 1 on Sec. 6, 28-28. It is 660 feet south and 660 feet west from the central line of the southwest quarter of the section.

The Milham wells are on Sec. 5, 28-28 and will be drilled as fast as pipe and other equipment can be delivered, it is said.

Milham already has one well drilling on Sec. 8, 28-28. The crew is milling on the drill pipe, with bottom at 4980 feet.

ENGINEERS ELECT TWO ANGELENOS

L. L. Brundred and V. H. Wilhelm Named Officers of National Society

Two Los Angeles engineers have just been elected officers of the petroleum division of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. They are L. L. Brundred, consulting petroleum engineer, who was elected associate chairman of this division, and Victor H. Wilhelm, petroleum engineer, associate chairman for production engineering.

The election of officers took place at an evening session of the division which marked the close of the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers in New York City.

Mining and metallurgical engineers and petroleum men from all parts of the United States, Canada, Mexico and South America, as well as from Europe gathered at the meeting to review the progress of the profession.

New Maricopa Well Sands-Up After One Day

MARICOPA, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) Coming in with a production estimated at 2000 barrels daily the Kerckoff No. 6 well on the North American Consolidated Oil Company on Sec. 8, 11-23 on Maricopa Flats produced for one day and then sanded up.

The hole is now being cleaned out and will be put on production again as soon as possible. Bottom of the well is at 3523 feet with tubing set at 3420 feet.

The company has four other projects on the same section. Kerckhoff No. 4 is in brown shale at 3550 feet with the sixteen-inch casing set at 417 feet. No. 2 is not now active, after being drilled to 4420 feet. No. 8 is rigged up and is almost ready for drilling. No. 1 is idle with the hole plugged at 3475 feet. Lincoln No. 1 on Sec. 18, 11-23 is down 2900 feet and the crew is fishing for lost tubing.

Texas Plans to Tax Gas Output

AUSTIN (Tex.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—When Gov. Dan Moody submits to the Legislature the subject of enacting tax measures which will bring additional revenue to the State, a bill will be introduced to levy a tax on natural-gas production.

The proposed tax will be 1 cent a 1000 cubic feet. It is estimated that such a tax, based on last year's total consumption, would yield approximately $2,250,000 of revenue a year.

Edison Wildcat Held Promising

EDISON, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Prospects for a good producing well in the Edison wildcat district are apparent through the activity of the Osborne-Sayre Company, drilling on Sec. 5, 30-29.

The Sayre well is down more than 3800 feet and cores taken indicate that good oil formation has been passed through. The well will be deepened to more than 3900 feet where a production test will be made.

WORK BEGUN ON HUGE RESERVOIR

Petroleum Securities Starts Bakersfield Project

Capacity of Container Will be 1,000,000 Barrels

Long Employment for Crew of 300 Men Promised

Ground was broken Saturday for construction of the Petroleum Securities Company's 1,000,000-barrel petroleum reservoir one mile north and west of Bakersfield.

More than 300 men, recruited from the ranks of the unemployed in Bakersfield and Kern county will be used in the work. According to Bert Pollock, construction engineer in charge of the work, which is contracted for by Roberts & Roberts Construction Company, the work will continue for several months and will aid in relieving the present unemployment situation in that territory.

Men are being hired at the reservoir site, which is located on Sec. 35, 28-27, in the southeast quarter of the southwest half of the southeast quarter of the section. This point is directly across the section intersection lines, on the other side of which is the Standard Oil Company's Section 1 tank farm.

More than $600,000 will be spent in construction of this huge earthen storage tank, officials say. This reservoir, when completed, will be the greatest single petroleum storage unit ever constructed in Kern county.

TWO WELLS FINISHED IN KERN FIELDS

Doyle's Sunset Project and Midway of General on Producing List

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The first wells to be put on production in Kern county in the last four weeks were brought in a few days ago—one in the Sunset field and one in the Midway field.

At Maricopa Flat, the Doyle Petroleum Company is credited with completion of Son-Crail No. 2 on Sec. 8, 11-23. This well was brought in for a daily production of 1800 barrels. Gravity is 23.5 deg., with the production clean.

Bottom is at 3548 feet.

Doyle has several other producers in the field, totalling about 1700 barrels daily. This latest well brings the company's total daily production to more than 3500 barrels.

In the Midway field near Fellows, another completion was recorded. Republic brought in its No. 36 well for a daily production, initially estimated at 1000 barrels. Bottom is at 2829 feet.

On the same section Republic is drilling three other projects, one of which is nearing completion, the second being down deep and the third being ready to spud in.

PRODUCTION AT MORENCI BRANCH CUT

Phelps Dodge Company Pares Monthly Output by 2,100,000 Pounds

MORENCI (Ariz.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The Morenci branch of the Phelps Dodge Corporation has cut production 40 per cent, or from 5,250,000 pounds a month to 3,150,000. The smelter will maintain seven-day work, but elsewhere employees will operate five days in a week, with no Sunday work and with only two shifts, instead of three a day. No change has been made in the day's wage.

The Stargo mine, near Morenci, a silver property equipped with a mill several years ago, appears to have closed down permanently, with a part of its machinery moved recently to Globe.

Placer ground on the San Francisco River, below Clifton, is being worked by the Morgan Placer Gold Mining Company, an Oklahoma corporation.

Concentrating tables are to be placed on the Silver Coin property, three miles east of Klondyke, Graham county. The property is owned by the Verdun Mines Company, headed by Charles H. Leeson of Idaville, Ind. About 25,000 tons of ore have been blocked out for milling.

HOPE RAY FOR OIL INDUSTRY

Growing Trend Toward Dieselization of All Types of Motive Power Held Encouraging Factor

California today is confronted with an overproduction of oil, and the situation is serious; but those who look into the future believe that the rapid Dieselization of all kinds of motive power that is now in progress can scarcely fail, within the next five years, to create a demand for crude oil that the oil industry will find it difficult to supply. Today the Diesel engine enjoys perhaps its greatest use in the merchant marine, but recently it has gained greatly in favor with railroads. In fact, the department of public information of the California Oil and Gas Association has learned that there is an astonishingly active movement on all over the country to establish petroleum fuels in place of coal.

Most of the western railroads use fuel oil in their locomotives, but some of the eastern lines already are meeting with considerable success in the use of Diesel-electric motors, while Diesel engines alone are giving excellent results in many instances. As long ago as 1926 the New York Central Railroad operated a Diesel locomotive in competition with a coal-burning steam locomotive, on a 200-mile run, the comparative costs were $90 and $15, in favor of the Diesel.

TEST OF COST MADE

The Canadian National Railways conducted a similar contest between a Diesel-electric engine and a coal-burner, and the comparative costs were $80 and $20 in favor of the Diesel-electric. It was discovered, furthermore, that the Diesel-electric would operate up to seventy miles an hour.

Fifteen of the leading railroads in the United States and Canada have fully made economy tests of the Diesel locomotive and the coal-burning engine, and have found that with the Diesel the saving is not less than 64 per cent. The department of public information of the California Oil and Gas Association points out that in the present age of fast transportation overhead costs must be greatly reduced while speed must be increased. With Diesel engines pulling the railroad trains, the cost of fuel would be much less than under the coal and steam system, while the hauling of great tanks of water for making steam could be done away with. Nor would it be necessary for the trains to stop every fifty miles or so to take on water and coal, for a single tender-tank of Diesel fuel will carry a train for hundreds of miles, and at much greater speed than under steam power.

FEAT STARTLES

In 1927 the world was startled by the announcement that the first Diesel-driven oil tanker had just completed at Los Angeles Harbor a voyage of 50,000 miles in which only 15,340 barrels of Diesel oil was consumed. At that time engineers estimated that had the tanker been driven by steam generated by burning fuel oil it would have consumed 37,200 barrels of oil.

Today automobile manufacturers are endeavoring to perfect engines which will operate on Diesel. Farm tractors are being Dieselized; even motorcycles have been fitted with Diesel engines. The merchant marine is converted to this type of power, and the railroads are rapidly changing over to it. When the country as a whole has been changed over from coal to Diesel, it is believed that the United States will find it difficult to produce as much oil as will be needed.

Contrary to the general impression, the Diesel engine is not a "new-fangled contraption." It is an internal combustion engine that utilizes, directly in its cylinder, any heavy liquid fuel, from kerosene to coal tar. It was invented thirty-six years ago by Rudolph Diesel, who was drowned in the English Channel several years ago.

It was at Santa Paula, Cal., nearly forty years ago, that the first oil-burning steam locomotive was developed. Since then great strides have been made in the use of oil as locomotive fuel. California oil operators believe that within a few years there will be a fairly even balance between supply and demand, in the oil business, as a result of widespread adoption of Diesel power.

Superior Oil Drills Ahead in Coffee Hole

ROUND MOUNTAIN, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The Superior Oil Company is drilling ahead at 950 feet in its Coffee No. 1 well on Sec. 1, 28-28, at Round Mountain. Sandy shale has been predominating.

In addition to Superior, the Shell Oil Company is active in this field, having one well drilling and two rigs up ready for installation of drilling equipment.

Operations at Maricopa Told

MARICOPA, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) The Hancock Oil Company has one well near completion and another being tested for water shut-off on Maricopa Flats.

Wallace No. 3 well on Sec. 8, 11-23, is down approximately 3570 feet in oil formation. In an attempt to excite production the well is being swabbed. The casing is set at 3252 feet. Wallace No. 4 on the same section is down 3031 feet with a water test being made after setting the casing at 2931 feet.

Cyanide Plant Building at Mine

Construction of a cyanide plant on the properties owned by the Golden Ace Mines Company at Beatty, Nev., will be started this week.

The mill will start operations on the seventy-foot stope of the 100-foot level. A high recovery is easily made from the ore by cyaniding, as there are no interfering metallurgical complexities of any sort, according to engineers.

OUTPUT OF RED ROVER MINE TOLD

Camp Creek Estate in Arizona Shipping Ore at Car a Day Rate

PHOENIX, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Twenty-five cars of ore have been shipped to the Hayden smelter from the Red Rover mine, in Camp Creek district, fifty miles northeast of Phoenix, and shipments are being maintained at the rate of a carload a day. There is return of about 6 per cent copper and forty-five ounces silver, the ore said to be uniform across a ten-foot face. The property is leased by E. M. Moore of Phoenix and A. C. Simpkins is in charge.

Ore development is active in the Jack White group of the Maricopa Mining Company, northwest of Phoenix, mainly in drifting on the 400-foot level. The mill has been modernised and much new equipment installed. D. W. Millard is superintendent. The company has headquarters in Seattle.

The Arizona Onyx Manufacturing Company of Phoenix, J. Frank Hunt, manager, is taking onyx from its quarry in Camp Creek district for fashioning at a plant in this city. The quality of the material is notably fine, with vivid coloring.

Announcement has been made by the Quicksilver Corporation of America, a local concern, that its three-compartment shaft is to be sunk to 500 feet depth. The company has a battery of retorts in Dreamy Draw, ten miles northeast of Phoenix and has been making about eight flasks of quicksilver a day from a run of fifty tons of ore. Twenty-five men have been employed.

PROJECT IN LEA HOLDS INTEREST

Southeastern Area Fails to Develop Gusher

Texas-Pacific's State No. 3 Holds Attention

Theory Advanced Formation of Shoestring Type

ARTESIA (N. M.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Important test wells in Eastern New Mexico continued to make good drilling time, but the present drilling campaign in the southeastern area has failed to develop any gushers, although operators are closely watching the Texas and Pacific Oil and Coal Company, State No. 3 on Sec. 21, 23-36, which is expected to be the next producer completed in that area.

That the Lea area may develop into a shoestring district is the theory advanced by several operators, who base their opinion on the fact that the State No. 2 of the Continental Oil Company on Sec. 1, 21-33, two locations east of the State No. 1 of the Cranfill and Reynolds, has so far failed to find commercial production at a depth of 3784 feet. The favored trend of the district appears to be southeast and northwest from the discovery well of Cranfill and Reynolds.

According to unofficial field reports Snowden-McSweeney completed their State No. 1 on Sec. 1, 23-33, for an initial production of 1000 barrels, after drilling out the cement plug at 3801 feet. This test is approximately a mile southeast of the original well of the area and appears to be in the line of production.

The Ohio Oil Company, with headquarters in Artesia, is now one of the most active of the major group operating in Lea county with one rig erected on Sec. 30, 19-36, and two others rigging, one known as the McDonald No. 1, on Sec. 15, 23-36, and the other announced a few days ago as the State No. 1 Northrop, on Sec. 32, 18-36. The Maljamar Oil and Gas Corporation, operating in Western Lea county in the Cap Rock district, has recently announced a location on Sec. 21, 17-32.

R. D. Compton, former California operator, has obtained a nice show of oil in his State No. 1, on Sec. 2, 20-33, at a depth of 800 feet. This

COPPER QUEEN ON NEW CYCLE

Low-Grade Ore Extraction Methods Change

Radical Departure from Old Processes Noted

Sacramento Hill Materials Handled at Profit

BISBEE (Ariz.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—With the passing of steam-shovel work from the great Sacramento Hill pit, where once stood a fair-sized mountain of ore, has come another era in Copper Queen extraction methods. This Sacramento-section ore is of low grade and must be handled with extreme economy and in large tonnage if there be any profit.

The material now is being broken down by 'glory-holing," with skip hoisting through the Sacramento shaft from the 400 and 500 levels, whereon a large block of ore has been developed for block caving. A new caving level is being developed on the 950 and a new extraction level on the 1200. Drilling is being prosecuted to further outline the extent of the ore mass in this section.

The ores from this division are separated according to grade and character. A small percentage goes direct to the Douglas furnaces, the bulk goes to the flotation mill at Don Luis, nearby, and the balance to leaching heaps on the plain below the concentrator. Waste is dumped wherever space is available in the vicinity, or underground. It has been found that milling is fully successful only when there is grinding through 200 mesh, the finest ever known in a plant of such size, this being necessary for full separation from the gangue.

Water leaching has been in progress on a large scale for several years and is declared notably successful, getting values from material that carries a very low percentage of copper. The resultant liquors are carried by wood-stave pipe line to a leaching plant, where there is precipitation of the metal.

Denial is made of a report that ore bodies have been found on the 900 and 1000 levels of the new Warren shaft, though some copper float has been passed. Few men have been dropped in the production cut, with transfers to development in all divisions.

TEXAS SULPHUR TAX ADVOCATED

Bill in House Would Levy $1 a Ton on Output

Gulf and Freeport Declared to Profit Heavily

Additional State Revenue of $7,090,994 Forecast

AUSTIN (Tex.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—During consideration of a bill to levy a State tax of $1 a ton on all sulphur produced in Texas, figures were presented purporting to show that the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company and the Freeport Sulphur Company have been making enormous profits. Representative Phil Sanders of Nacogdoches, author of the bill, which is still pending in the Legislature, asserted that during the last five-year period the net earnings of the two sulphur companies totaled more than $81,000,000.

"For practical purposes," Sanders said, "the sulphur production of Texas is the production by the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company and the Freeport Sulphur Company, which production totals in excess of 90 per cent of the sulphur production of the world."

The total amount of gross receipts tax paid to the State of Texas during the five-year period, Sanders said, was $1,993,886.

"Had there been a tax of $1 per ton for the past five years upon production of sulphur in this State," he declared, "Texas would have received $9,084,880.

"The net earnings of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company would have been reduced from $57,937,526 to $53,499,263. The Texas Gulf Sulphur Company over this five-year period would have made a profit of $53,499,263 against an expenditure for production cost and operating expenses of $50,483,177, or approximately 106 per cent."

Net earnings of the Freeport Sulphur Company if the $1 tax had been in effect, Sanders said, would have been approximately 48 per cent.

POTASH DEPOSIT TO OPEN

Development of Beds in Midland Area of West Texas Planned by Dallas Company

AUSTIN (Tex.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Production of potash on an extensive scale will be started soon in the Midland area of West Texas by the Texas Potash Corporation of Dallas, as a result of the discovery by Dr. E. P. Schoch, director of the bureau of industrial chemistry at the University of Texas, of a method for refining polyhalite ores.

"The potash deposits found in the Permian of West Texas are chiefly composed of polyhalite—a mineral made up of the sulphates of potassium, magnesium and calcium," Dr. Schoch says. "This is the first compound of potassium which separates from sea water when the latter undergoes evaporation. Many of the beds of this mineral found in West Texas are composed of practically nothing but this mineral; that is, they are practically free from chlorides.

"These potash deposits are entirely different in composition from the European potash deposits. The latter are mainly composed of minerals which were formed from prior deposits of polyhalite through a process of resolution and recrystallization; these secondarily formed minerals contain chlorides in preponderating amounts, and they are quite soluble in water.

"Polyhalite, however, is only slightly soluble in water, and this fact naturally appeared as a hindrance to the refining of this mineral because the process of refining requires the dissolution of the minerals to be refined.

"Many maps of German mines show zones marked polyhalite; but these are merely salt deposits sprinkled with polyhalite to a maximum extent of 8 per cent of the latter, and this is too little to make the extraction of potash from it profitable.

"Some careless observers jumped to the conclusion that the Germans refrained from refining polyhalite, perhaps on account of some special difficulty or expense involved in the refining, while, as a matter of fact, they really have no polyhalite to refine. This mistaken notion of the difficulty of refining polyhalite was held by a number of geologists and chemists."

OLD SMELTER'S FIRES LIGHTED

Humboldt Plant Busy Again After Overhaul

Project Running With Crew of Seventy-five

Sheldon Mine Supplies Ores of Highest Value

HUMBOLDT (Ariz.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—With a force of seventy-five men, the Humboldt smelter again is operating steadily, though not on the scale of former days. About seventy-five tons of ore a day is coming from the De Soto and Blue Bell mines, with the possibility that a special mill for such ores, mainly copper, soon will be provided here.

Of larger value are concentrates brought from the Sheldon mine at Walker, a property of the company that has taken over the smelter. This material is reduced in a mill at the head of Lynx Creek, just below the mine, and is trammed through the long Poland tunnel, dug years ago by the Frank Murphy interests and recently acquired by the Sheldon company.

About 150 men are working in the Sheldon, hoisting 160 tons a day, with recent cutting, on the 1250-foot level, of a seven-foot ore chute, the material the same as developed on the 650-foot level. It is stated that a great tonnage remains unstoped above the 650-foot level. Under the new methods, notable economy is being known in production and treatment.

This is true also of ores of this immediate district, with a saving of at least $3 a ton in transportation and reduction charges on ores from the small properties. Heretofore such ores usually have gone to the Hayden smelter, with a freight charge of $5.50 a ton.

The Sheldon has acquired the Arizona Victory Copper Mines property at Walker and will develop it.

WALKER MINING LOOKING UP

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The Walker Mining Company, operating a large group of copper properties near Portola, reports that production is now averaging 1,200,000 pounds of copper monthly, with production costs cut to 10 cents a pound. All indebtedness has been cleared away, and the company's treasury is said to contain more than $250,000. Sinking of a three-compartment shaft is proceeding on the Piute ore body, the largest of several demonstrated deposits.

The leasing system is again coming into favor in the historic Grass Valley gold district, after being long frowned on by the larger operators. Leasers have started work on the holdings of the Grass Valley Boundary Company and the Empire-Star Company is reported to be negotiating with miners preliminary to opening the upper levels of the famous North Star mine to the lease system. Leasers made most of the big producers of the district in their early years, and developed many prospects into producers.

The Idaho-Maryland Company reports profitable operations in December and January, with most of the ore coming from the 1900-foot level. The Dorsey vein, encountered on this level last summer, is reported to be developing splendidly, and showing sulphid ore carrying free gold besides sulphurets.

Eight giants are cutting down banks of auriferous gravel at the property of the North Fork Placers in Trinity county, with sufficient water reported to be available for a long season of activity. The corporation, controlled by Los Angeles interests, is understood to have become the largest hydraulic gold producer in the State, with an immense tonnage of material available.

The Grass Valley-Bortham Company of Los Angeles states that the shaft on its holdings near Grass Valley will be immediately enlarged and sunk to greater depth. Promising ledges of mill ore, accompanied by shoots of high-grade, have been opened near surface, and the property is said to show strong evidence of becoming an important producer.

on Sec. 1, 22-17, with bottom at 7108 feet, which offsets the Continental Oil Company's Elliott No. 12-8 producer, is flowing 4000 barrels of oil per day along with 103,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Succeeding in sidetracking past a fishing job, the Milham Exploration Company's Beal No. 1 on Sec. 34, 21-17, is drilling below 6787 feet. This project is a direct offset to the Pacific Western Oil Company's No. 27, and the Standard Oil Company's No. 41, both now temporarily suspended.

The Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation's Ferguson No. 1 on Sec. 24, 22-17 yesterday was cleaning out preparatory to another production test with bottom at 7480 feet.

OLD GOLD AREA FIND SPURS

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Once again has been discovery of rich surface gold ores in the old Vulture section, two miles from that pioneer bonanza and about ten miles from this point. Fully 300 claims are reported to have been staked around the original discovery, one made by Jack Gardner, a Phoenix contractor, who turned to prospecting when the building game became inactive. He and his associates have eighteen claims in the desert hills.

The main strike was in a four-foot vein, which elsewhere had shown good gold values, though nothing phenomenal. It is said that the high-grade was found under the roots of a giant cactus, in soft vein matter that has been little liar to that of the Vulture.

explored thus far. Assays in Phoenix have given returns up to $100,000 a ton. The matrix is white quartz, outcropping for several miles, believed to be worth development as a low-grade milling proposition. The property is reached by trail, six miles long, from a point on the Blythe highway seven miles west of Wickenburg. Transportation from the road must be by muleback.

Gardner and his helpers have been getting out some ready money by means of a crude cyanide plant, which functions well, for the ore is of the simplest character, as deeply as penetrated. The discovery shaft is down only twenty feet, with a few feet of drift. It is declared that a 500-foot shaft will be sunk, to be started at once, for development of a vein believed similar to that of the Vulture.

GOLD RUSH STILL UNABATED

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Several hundred prospectors still are swarming in the hills around the Gold Wing strike, with the principal work in progress on the original discovery, where John Ogle is in charge. Less than a mile to the northward, Scott & Kruger have cut a four-foot vein, with good gold showings.

Free gold is reported in the bottom of a twenty-foot shaft on the Vardi property. There has come appreciation of the fact that the new district is badly situated for transportation and that a decent wagon road must be one of the first considerations.

Near Chloride, the South Pilgrim shaft is down about fifty feet, on the way to 250 feet, where will be established a main working level. Free gold has been cut already in the shaft, at several points. At the head of the corporation is Claus Peterson, a retired Rockford (Ill.) manufacturer, now resident in Los Angeles.

Little news has come from the Pilgrim, though statement has been made by its manager, M. B. Dudley, that there has been development of thirteen feet of ore, with ten feet running $50 to the ton and the remainder "picture rock," worth thousands of dollars to the ton.

The Arizona Federal Court has appointed C. A. Diehl, a Phoenix assayer; J. J. McCarty of Oatman and W. S. Thompson of Kingman appraisers of the property of the Katherine Gold Mining Company, now under bankruptcy proceedings. C. Ducheneau has been named as receiver.

SEVEN TROUGHS IN NEW STRIKE

LOVELOCK (Nev.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Discovery of a three-foot vein of gold ore sampling nearly $200 per ton in the Coalition area of the Seven Troughs gold property has been confirmed by L. A. Friedman, general manager. The strike was made in the north drift from the main tunnel, and the ledge is believed to be a part of the Coalition vein system. Developments are hampered by poor ventilation, but this situation will be eliminated shortly by connection of the Tyler shaft with the tunnel workings.

Development of several strong veins cut by the tunnel is proceeding vigorously, with a large tonnage of profitable ore exposed. Mill construction is going ahead rapidly, with unusually favorable weather facilitating steady work. Most of the equipment is in position, and the outlook is promising for commencement of production in April.

Supt. Joseph W. Hall of the Antelope Springs Mercury mine, in the Antelope Springs cinnabar district east of Lovelock, reports a wide body of good ore has been demonstrated on the 130-foot level. A winze is said to be going down on ore sampling thirty-eight pounds of quicksilver per ton. Work in other sections of the property continues promising, and the management plans early installation of a twenty-ton furnace.

Heavy production of quicksilver from the mines of the Nevada Quicksilver and Mercury Mines companies continues steadily. Recent work in the Montgomery area of the Nevada Quicksilver is said to have placed large deposits of excellent ore in sight, and materially increased reserves. High-grade ore continues to show on the 450-foot test is west of the Pecos River and near the scene of early-day drilling operations, where one promising shallow well was said to have been ruined by a heavy nitro shot.

In Eastern Eddy county, Henderson & Dexter are running a string of casing in their Arnold No. 1 on Sec. 23, 17-30, to a depth of 3250 feet. This well now has over 2000 feet of fluid in the hole.

PROJECT IN LEA HOLDS INTEREST

level, with the veins apparently persisting to greater depth.

New deposits of profitable cinnabar have been developed in a virgin section of the Mercury Mines estate at Opalite, near McDermitt, according to news reaching Lovelock. The furnaces are running at capacity, although the management announces last November that the property would probably be closed early in January.

Expansion of Texas Pipe Line System Talked

LUBBOCK (Tex.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—The South Plains Pipe Line Company, subsidiary of the Prairie Oil and Gas Company, has adopted plans for the construction of approximately 500 miles of additional natural gas pipe lines in Northwest and West Texas.

Picturesque BUT NOT PROFITABLE

AMERICA has learned to substitute electric power for muscle power. In all the processes of production and transportation, from refining the raw materials to the final loading on ship board, electricity does the hard work in a better way, at a lower cost. Because electricity here is abundant, economical, dependable, it has had an important part in Southern California's rapid rise to prominence in foreign trade. To produce this power ever more plentifully, at an ever decreasing cost to the consumer, Edison has invested more than a third of a billion in plants and distributing facilities. Now available to Southern California industry, present, prospective, is more than a million horsepower of electrical energy.

So, while electricity cannot be exported, it is a vital element in the cargoes which put forth to sea from California ports for the markets of the world.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY, CHEMISTRY

Questions relating to the above department of The Times will be answered by mail free of charge. Make each question clear and concise. Be sure to write your name and address plainly. Give specific data as to weight, etc., of samples submitted, and state what tests are desired and give the probable locality from which samples were taken. Do not subscribe the specimens. Give your name and address on paper wrapped with samples.

Chiefly Calcite

INGLEWOOD, Feb. 1.—Question: I am mailing sample from San Bernardino Mountains—looking for tungsten and magnesium. May we have report by mail or please refer me to laboratory making such analysis. M. D.

Answer: The sample is not strictly dolomite; it reacts more or less for magnesium and carries traces of silica.

Dewcylite

INYOKERN, Feb. 1.—Q.: The mineral offered for qualitative analysis is probably from volcanic formation and is the material which is being used for road surfacing on the state highway in Kern county. The nearest is about forty-five miles south of Mojave, going to Bishop, on account of being a peculiar formation I am curious to know what it is. Thanking you for this information. X.

A.: The sample is difficult to determine without a full quantitative analysis. It is doubtless a variety of dewcylite, an amorphous mineral having some resemblance to gum opal, of yellowish color, translucent, and often greatly cracked. It is a hydrous silicate of magnesium, chiefly.

Sandstone

CHLORIDE (Ariz.) Feb. 1.—Q.: Please analyse the inclosed sample, which I believe to be hematite (iron oxide) used in making paints. It is from near Kingman, Ariz. For your information, The Times Monday edition does not reach Chloride until Tuesday. As I visit Chloride on Mondays only I will appreciate a copy of your In the North report of this analysis. X.

A.: The sample is not hematite and is not suitable for paint purposes. It carries the required mineral in low percentage and would not pay the cost of washing and treatment.

Not Bentonite

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—Q.: Am enclosing samples of clay found about thirty miles from Victorville, and the specimens are from the same ledge. Please advise whether bentonite or not, what quality, and what uses commercially? Z.

A.: The specimens are far removed from bentonite; the three samples are very impure with iron oxides, and the value of clays represented by the samples is problematical. No. 1 is hydrous aluminum silicate mixed with magnesium silicate and comes, in part, within the halloysite group. Nos. 2 and 3 are mixtures of silica and low-grade clay.

Four Specimens

SANTA ANA, Feb. 2.—Q.: I am sending four mineral samples from locality in Kern county. Please classify them for me. Would a vein of No. 1, six-foot-wide copper ore pay to mine? Would No. 2, a twenty-foot-wide ledge of this sandstone rock pay, and does it carry platinum? What is No. 3? Does No. 4 carry phosphates? G.

A.: No. 1 carries a very low percentage of copper and it is streaked with limonite (hydrous iron peroxide). No. 2 is altered hornblendic rock; graphite and flake platinum both absent. No. 3 is a mixture of decomposed cyanite and epidote. No. 4 does not react for phosphates, either a doubtful showing.

Three Samples

EL SEGUNDO, Feb. 2.—Q.: Please analyze the three rocks of red, white and mixed red with blue. Mrs. H.

A.: The white one is tremolite (hornblende). The red rock is garnetyte (garnet rock) carrying traces of pyrite, and zinc sulphide. The greenish-white chip of mineral carries tourmaline, epidote and cyanite. All of the specimens represent mineralogical commercial values.

Several Specimens

TEMESCAL, Feb. 3.—Q.: I am sending you several specimens from this locality. Would one be likely to find a commercial clay associated with the samples? X.

A.: All of the samples appear to be mixtures of sand, clays, of doubtful commercial value, altered hornblende, (including the bluish rock) and analyzed together show no free gold. It would require a personal examination of the formations in your section to answer your question more fully.

Two Samples

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 3.—Q.: The samples come from the Providence Mountain mining district, southeast of Kelso, this county. Does No. 1 contain gold or platinum? Please analyze No. 2 for silver, lead, zinc and copper. W.

A.: No. 1 carries no native gold, and flake platinum is absent. Other specimens from the locality might show assay returns for gold, but no assays are made by this Times department. No. 2 is quartzitic rock containing base-metal ores, pyrite (iron disulphide) arsenopyrite and zinc sulphide, each, more or less present. Free gold absent.

Two Specimens

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—Q.: I am sending you two specimens for analysis. Is No. 1 calk rock? Please test No. 3 for gold, silver, tin, copper and platinum. S.

A.: No fire assays made for gold and silver. No. 1 is a mixture of lime carbonate and silica, and probably related to the calc-tufa group. No. 2 carries pyrite, some magnetic pyrite, traces of zinc, and is a variety of low-grade tetrahedrite known as Fahlers. Free gold, tin and flake platinum—all absent.

Two Samples

INDEPENDENCE, Feb. 4.—Q.: I am sending some mineral specimens found in Saline Valley and would be very glad if you will state whether or not they carry any commercial values. The pulvurulent specimen occurs in that condition. K.

A.: The granular sample is a mixture of lime carbonate with a little tremolite, but it is not plumbo enough for the reason that lead is not present. The shale-like specimens carries some ilmonite, iron

SANTA ANA, Feb. 2.—Q.: I am sending four mineral samples from locality in Kern county. Please [illegible] them for me. Would a [illegible] No. 1, six-foot-wide copper [illegible] pay to mine? Would No. 2, a [illegible]-foot-wide ledge of this [illegible] mine not pay, and does it carry [illegible]? What is No. 3? Does No. [illegible] carry phosphates? G.

A.: No. 1 carries a very low percentage of copper and it is streaked [illegible] with hydrous iron peroxide. No. 2 is altered "hornblendic [illegible]" and flake platinum is found. No. 3 is a mixture of mineral quartz and epidote. No. 4 does not react for phosphates. [illegible] a doubtful showing.

Three Samples

EL SEGUNDO, Feb. 2.—Q.: Please [illegible] the three rocks of red, [illegible] and mixed red with blue. [illegible].

A.: The white one is tremolite [illegible] rock). The red rock is garnet (garnet rock) carrying traces of [illegible] and zinc sulphide. The [illegible] is a variety of mineral carbonate, epidote and cyanite. [illegible] of the specimens represent [illegible] commercial values.

Several Specimens

CRESCENTAL, Feb. 2.—Q.: I am sending you several specimens from [illegible]. Would one be likely [illegible] a commercial clay associated [illegible] the samples?

X.

A.: All of the samples appear to [illegible] of sand, clays, of doubtful [illegible] value, altered hornblende [illegible] (including the bluish rock) [illegible] together show no free [illegible]. It would require a personal [illegible] of the formations in [illegible] to answer your question fully.

Two Samples

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 3.—[illegible] samples come from the [illegible] Mountain mining district of Kelso, this county. No. 1 contains gold, or [illegible]. Please analyze No. 2 for lead, zinc and copper.

W.

A.: No. 1 carries no native gold. [illegible] platinum is absent. Other [illegible] from the locality might [illegible] more for gold, but no [illegible] are made by this Times [illegible]. No. 2 is quartzitic [illegible] base-metal ores, [illegible] (some disulphide) arsenopyrite [illegible] sulphide, each, more [illegible] present. Free gold absent.

Two Specimens

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—Q.: I [illegible] two specimens for [illegible]. No. 1 calls rock? Please [illegible] it for gold, silver, tin, copper [illegible].

S.

A.: The two samples made for gold [illegible]. No. 1 is a mixture of [illegible] and silica, and probably [illegible] the calc-tufa group, [illegible] with some magnetic [illegible] of iron, and is a valueless [illegible]. No. 2 is tetrahedrite [illegible] in pyrite. Free gold, tin [illegible]—all absent.

Two Samples

SAN FREDERICK, Feb. 4.—Q.: [illegible] send some mineral specimens [illegible] Death Valley and would [illegible] what it is. If you will state [illegible] to get our carry any condensation [illegible]. The pulverulent [illegible] appears in that condition.

K.

A.: The granular sample is a [illegible] carbonate with a [illegible] but it is not plumbo [illegible] for the reason that lead is [illegible]. The shale-like specimen [illegible] hematite, iron [illegible] silicate and jarosite. Of rather doubtful commercial values.

Not Meteoric Iron

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—Q.: Under separate cover I am sending you a sample from New Mexico and would like your opinion of same. Of course, my exploits have always been in and around the Randsburg mining district, and my old partner is still there. His latest find being a good well of water between Mojave and Barstow. If this sample is not of volcanic origin it is probably from a meteor, and the finder states that there is a mountain of it. Under the microscope it seems to contain some mineral and in it there is an occasional "teat" that is harder than steel. Thanking you for always giving the most reliable information.

X.

A.: The samples are not so very hard; they do not scratch glass. There is quite a percentage of limonite in the masses and the botryoidal matter (teats) carry some manganese with iron oxides. Similar mineral values appear to be problematical.

Two Samples

WELLTON (Ariz.) Feb. 6.—Q.: Am mailing you under separate cover samples of clay which show the physical properties of kaolin and react as sepiolite. Please tell us what you make out of them, and whether of any value. The white sample is from Castle Dome district and from same ledges near Wellton.

H.

A.: The pinkish samples are halloysite; a mixture of kaolin and water—when pure. The white specimen seems to be a variety of chert, and it is partly kaolinized in low percentage. Values problematical.

Rock Shale

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—Q.: Would like to know what these lava-bed specimens show. They come from near Daggett, Cal.

J.

A.: They are stained with iron oxides; some clay and lime carbonate. Water-soluble potash is absent.

New Mexico Oil Royalty Value Fixed in Area

ARTESIA (N. M.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—A royalty sale which is expected to fix royalty values in the vicinity of the State's largest oil producer, Bowers No. 1 of the Humble Oil and Refining Company, on Sec. 30, 18-38, was consummated a few days ago.

Tate Brothers of Lovington transferred to the Ohio Fuel Company thirteen and two-third royalty acres or approximately 1-13 interest in the royalty on 160 acres of patented land on Sec. 31, 18-38, near Hobbs for a consideration of $900 per acre.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boulevard, Wash. at Term'l.—"Clancy in Wall Street." Charlie Murray and Lucien Littlefield frolic through a story about Irishmen and Scotchmen.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Devil May Care." The adventurous spirit of Napoleon's days is brought to life by Ramon Novarro in an acceptable musical drama of love and bravery.

Criterion, 6412 South Grand—"Anna Christie." Greta Garbo speaks the lines of Eugene O'Neill's heroine in fine style. Clarence Brown has done some of his best directing.

Figueroa, Fig. at Santa Barbara—"Oh, Yeah." Robert Armstrong and James Gleason unit again for a comedy about two brakemen and their belles.

Filmarte, 1234 Vine—"The Last Performance." Reviewed in today's Times.

Grauman's Chinese, 6925 Hollywood Blvd.—"Rogue Song." Lawrence Tibbett makes a powerful impression on screen fans in a vocal romance of Russia. Excellent quality.

Grauman's Egyptian, 6708 Hollywood Blvd.—"The Laughing Lady." Ruth Chatterton emerges as another gallant feminist who laughs in the face of scandal and wins Clive Brook. Average.

Loew's State, 6920 Hollywood Blvd.—"The Mysterious Island" and Paul Whiteman in person. A fantastic story, well played by a stellar cast, and telling a yarn about the lost submarine.

Million Dollar, Bdwy. at 3rd.—"Abraham." The art of movies is restored to life in the back-stage drama with Helen Morgan.

Palace, Bdwy. bet. 6th & 7th.—"Not for Publication." Reviewed in today's Times. You should you care to see Victor McLaglen, Fifi Dorsay and El Brendel clown together.

Paramount, Hill at 6th.—"Burning Up." Intrigue on the race track with Richard Arlen and Mary Brian assisting the leading roles. A good evening's entertainment.

Rialto, 1508 Whittier.—"They Call Me Sir." Norma Shearer and Robert Montgomery do very well as the victims of parental divorce.

R.K.O. Hill at 8th.—"Wall Street." High finance is the subject of this offering, but not very lightly treated.

R.K.O. Orpheum, Bdwy. at 9th.—"No, No, Nanette." If you like the music, sound in the pictures, everything gay and colorful with Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray.

Tower, Western at 16th.—"Not for Publication."

United Artists, Bdwy. nr. 9th.—"Lummox." Fannie Hurst's novel of sorrow weds a lasting war scenario to screen with Winifred Westover giving a feeling performance.

Warner Downtown, Hill at 7th.—"Son of the Gods." An unusual picture in many unreasonable, relating fast-moving drama as the continent. Ruthlessness in a Chinese.

Warner's Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox.—"Second Choice." Dolores Costello is beautiful in notes and about nothing.

Westlake, 632 Alvarado.—"Not for Publication." See above.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th.—"Journey's End." R. C. Sherriff's war play is produced splendidly by an English company with Basil Gill.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland.—"Ladies of the Jury." The jury reveals itself as quite a humorous group in this farce comedy led by the capricious Mary Boland.

Hollywood Playhouse, 1733 Vine.—"Salt Water." Reviewed in today's Times.

Majestic, Bdwy. at 9th.—"Hey Mona." The musical operetta is well performed during the song hit "Lover Come Back to Me." Perry Askam and Josephine Houston.

Mason, Gr. Republic at Mason.—Beautiful annual pageant of the settling of California, up to its usual standard. With A. D. MacLean.

Music Box, 6126 Hollywood Blvd.—"Hill of Divorcement." Opens tonight.

Playhouse, Bdwy. at 8th.—"Five and Ten." Big business in a canning factory, with Kolb and Dill arguing a lot and the audience laughing much.

Vine-street, 1615 Vine.—"The Nut Farm." Reviewed in today's Times.

VARIETIES

Burbank, 6th and Main.—Burlesque.

Follies, 4th and Main.—Burlesque.

Virginia Beauty Scorns Society for Stage Life

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) Helene Haskin, 18-year-old daughter of one of the first families of Virginia, prefers her name listed in a theater program as a member of the ensemble to its continuance in the social register. The pretty southern girl of unimpeachable social position is also ambitious and clever, and so she has turned showgirl in the cast of "Ripples," the new Fred Stone show on Broadway.

"Yes, Helene is a chorus girl—and loves it," her mother, Mrs. Helen C. S. Haskin, admitted. "She calls it the star to her career and she's going ahead from that point without a pause for parties."

Miss Haskin received her chance through the intercession of a wealthy dowager and without previous stage experience entered the cast only five days before the show opened. She was graduated in 1928 from St. Agnes Episcopal School at Alexandria, Va., and came to New York only a year ago. Last summer on her own initiative she got a job posing for advertisements from a well-known illustrator.

Fake Schools to be Exposed

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (AP)—A nation-wide campaign against fraudulent trade and correspondence schools will be started immediately by the American Association of Engineers, according to an announcement made by the organization today.

The association plans to co-operate with State and Federal officials in exposing spurious institutions which are said to flourish, especially in Chicago, New York, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Cleveland, Detroit, Washington, Milwaukee and St. Louis.

Fire in Hanford Causes $40,000 Loss in Plants

HANFORD, Feb. 16.—With a loss variously estimated between $40,000 and $50,000, the bottling works and dried fruits plant of the Mt. Whitney Corporation and the Schnerereger and Downing Corporation were destroyed in a fire of unknown origin which started about 3 a.m. yesterday. The two firms own their own equipment separately but were housed in the old frame structure of the Schnereger and Downing Bottling Works, a landmark in the industrial section here. Manager Arthur G. Keran of the Mt. Whitney Corporation stated that about $25,000 insurance was carried. One of the losses was $6000 worth of raisins through water damage. Manager Keran said that he had just canceled the insurance on a carload of raisins which were to be shipped today.

During the progress of the fire four heavy explosions occurred, one a large ammonia tank used in connection with the refrigerating department. The city was shaken by the blasts and the building crumbled into a heap of flames, but no injuries resulted. Flying embers set fire to a number of dwelling houses in adjacent blocks, but only one was damaged to any great extent, a dwelling house owned by E. F. Carri, where the loss was about $300.

While the plant was burning the two companies began making arrangements for continuing business in a temporary building and this evening parts of the plant were operating. The two plants will begin to erect buildings of a substantial character as soon as the debris can be moved from the site of the old buildings.

County to Aid Morro Bay Plan

HANFORD, Feb. 16.—The Kings County Board of Supervisors yesterday set aside $1000 as a fund to meet this county's portion of the expense of making an industrial, agricultural and commercial survey of the five San Joaquin Valley counties interested in the project of developing Morro Bay into a deep harbor seaport.

The appropriation is contingent upon similar action by Fresno, Kern, Tulare and San Luis Obispo counties.

Some of these counties have already set aside their portion of the fund. The data gathered in the survey will be presented to the engineers of the United States War Department at a meeting to be held in a few weeks at San Luis Obispo.

HANFORD BRAVES IN RED MEN POW-WOW

HANFORD, Feb. 16.—Members of the local tribe of Red Men joined the tribes included in the San Joaquin Valley Red Men's Association in a big pow-wow at Tulare tonight. A big class was given the adoption degree. Distinguished officials attending the meeting were Great Sachem Charles Blaine, Great Keeper of Wampum Silas Wilcox and Great Chief of Records Port L. Bliss.

DAIRYMEN IN KINGS COUNTY FEEL SLUMP

HANFORD, Feb. 16.—Kings county's four creamery plants paid the dairymen for their January deliveries yesterday the sum of $243,215. This is approximately $40,000 below December payment, due to the slump in butter prices. The pay day was based on an average price during January of 40 cents per pound for butter fat in sweet cream.

FIRES COST STATE MUCH TIMBERLAND

Blaze Toll Outside of National Parks Reaches Huge Total

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Forest, brush and grass fires in the State outside national forests in 1929 burned 951,935 acres, with a loss of $1,328,001, of which $746,556 was in improvements, it was shown in statistics made public by State Forester M. B. Pratt here.

The fires were shown to have destroyed 47,933 acres of merchantable timber and 43,590 acres of reproduction timber.

Man-caused fires were blamed for a loss of $726,264. Careless smokers started 1279 fires out of the total of 3468, resulting in loss of $330,-186. There were 572 incendiary fires that caused damage of $372,-363. Campers were held responsible for 131 fires that damaged $23,-715 worth of property.

Other causes of fires were listed as: Railroads, 119; brush burning, 697; lumbering, eighty-seven, and lightning, thirty-eight.

Mendocino county recorded the largest number of incendiary fires, where 136 were set. El Dorado county had forty-four incendiary blazes; Shasta, fifty-two; Butte, thirty-one; Tehama, twenty-six, and Nevada, twenty-five.

ALIGNMENT OF TEXAS CHANGES

Hoover Democrats, G.O.P. May Join Forces

Anti-Smith Faction Barred From Party Ballot

But Voters Are Taken Back Into Democratic Fold

AUSTIN (Tex.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Steps toward another coalition of the so-called Hoover Democrats and regular Republican party organization of Texas are indicated by statements made by Alvin Moody, president of the anti-Tammany Democrats of Texas, as the organization is officially called, and R. B. Creager, head of the Republican party in Texas. Moody resents the recent action of the State Democratic Executive Committee in barring Hoover Democrats from places on the Democratic ticket as candidates for office in the coming primaries, while Creager looks upon such action as a big feather in the cap of the Republican party.

"INSULTING PROPOSITION"

"The State Democratic Executive Committee offers an insulting proposition to every Democrat who in 1928 voted for President Hoover," Mr. Moody said. "That committee says that those Hoover supporters may sink into the Democratic primaries and vote for candidates hand picked by the Al Smith faction of the party, but they cannot under any circumstances themselves be a candidate for any office from dog catcher up or have the opportunity of supporting a candidate who represents their principles.

"It is hardly conceivable that any self-respecting person would accept such a proposal. It is quite possible that the courts will reverse the action of the committee, but if for any reason they do not, then I do not see how any Democratic Hoover supporter of 1928 can, without sacrificing his honor, enter into the coming primary unless that course shall be found necessary in order to serve a great cause.

NEGROES WELCOMED

"This executive committee has clearly defied the law of the State; it has spurned the sovereignty of the State just as it spurned moral principles in the matter of oaths. In addition it has, by specific act, provided for negro participation in the coming primary, and even for negro candidacies—doubtless in reward for the great aid given to the cause of Al Smith by the wet element among the negroes in 1928.

"I urge all the 300,000 Texas Democrats who voted against Al Smith and his liquor program in 1928 and the other 200,000 dry Democrats who stayed at home rather than vote for Gov. Smith, to stand united now, not for one moment to consider submitting to the dishonorable terms offered them.

"In a few days or weeks the political course which it is best for us to follow will develop. I would be glad to hear from all who are opposed to the committee's action."

STANDARDS ASKED FOR WELFARERS

California Conference Seeks to Register All Social Workers

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Because of the growing feeling throughout the State that social workers should set up certain standards for those engaged in social and welfare work, the California Conference of Social Work, through its president, Justin Miller of Los Angeles, announces the appointment of a committee to study the question of the registration of social workers.

The proposal has been made recently that social workers be registered as are nurses. In order to determine the attitude of the social workers themselves, and to draft a satisfactory law if registration is decided upon, a Statewide committee is at work on this problem, with subcommittees in many cities. A report of the findings of this committee will be presented at the annual meeting of the California Conference of Social Work in Santa Barbara, May 13 to 17, next.

Miss Dora Berres, executive director of the Los Angeles Council of Jewish Women, is a member of the State committee, and has also agreed to serve as chairman of the local subcommittee, responsible for the survey in Los Angeles and Orange counties.

The State committee, of which R. E. Arne, assistant national director War Service, American Red Cross, is chairman, also includes K. J. Scudder of Whittier, Helen Ramage, San Diego; Phoebe Matthews, Oakland; John P. Plover and Theresa MacCarthy, San Francisco.

Hoovers to Eat Unusual Fowl

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—President and Mrs. Hoover's Washington day dinner at the Washington home of Secretary and Mrs. Wilbur will be an all-California one, it was learned tonight, the piece de resistance of which will be a California-bred fowl—the turken—which only a few have tasted. It is the developed descendant of the turkey, the pheasant and the chicken.

These birds will be shipped from the Menlo Park farm of George Schaefer with oranges and other California products so they will reach the capital the 20th inst. The turkens were requested by Mrs. Wilbur.

GOLD MEADOWS REVIVAL LOOMS

Legendary Bonanza Field in Spotlight Again

Strike Reported of $300 to $500 Ore Values

January Output of Tonopah Bullion $161,700

TONOPAH (Nev.) Feb. 16. (Exclusive)—Gold Meadows, reputed location of Capt. Jack's legendary gold bonanza for which prospectors have long searched, is again in the spotlight. A vein containing a seam of specimen ore is said to have been opened on the claims worked by Ray Morris and George Jackson and samples displayed in Tonopah show much gold. The seam is said to assay $300 to $500 per ton and has been opened to a depth of thirty feet. Deep snow is hampering work, but vigorous developments will be started with arrival of warm weather.

January production of the Tonopah district reached $161,700, with the Tonopah Extension Company credited with $86,700 and Tonopah Mining with $75,000. The output of the latter included shipments from the Belmont mine and leases on the Montana and other properties. The yield is considered highly favorable with silver commanding less than 44 cents a fine ounce. Ores milled in Tonopah average about one ounce gold to every 100 ounces of silver.

Development of a three-foot ledge of promising ore on the 900-foot level of the Simon Silver-Lead mine, near Mina, is reported by the management. A four-foot shoot is stated to sample around $90 per ton in lead, zinc and silver. The ore body was first opened on the 700-foot level and a winze is going down on the rich shoot from the 900-foot level. Sinking of the shaft another 100 feet is contemplated.

The Treadwell-Yukon Company reports that extraction of values from ores drawn from its Tybo mines has been increase by recent improvements in the plant. Recovery of lead has been raised to 70 per cent, and extraction of zinc increased from 46 to 50 per cent. The mill is treating 300 to 350 tons of ore daily. The shaft has reached the 900-foot point and is still going down.

The Round Mountain Mining Company announces the development of a large body of mill ore on the 800-foot level. The mill is running steadily, with profitable ore said to be coming from several faces.

DRESS AIDS GRADUATES AFTER JOBS

Personnel Man Tells What Qualities Sought by Employers

SYRACUSE, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) College seniors must be "smooth," but their dress must not be too "collegiate" when interviewing prospective employers, warned Donald B. Watt, men's personnel director at Syracuse University, in a statement to Syracuse seniors who are looking for jobs after graduation.

The "bull in the china shop" type who says, "I'm as good as the next man" will fail to impress the representatives of the many large firms which send men to the Syracuse campus each year to interview members of the graduating class, Mr. Watt declared.

Interviewers are not seeking "grinds," he told the seniors.

Good manners, correct speech, an adult point of view and a well-groomed appearance make as important an impression as the student's college classroom training and scholastic record.

"They want men who have 'done something' while at college," he asserted. "Most interviewers place the order of importance of college activities as follows: First, grades in college subjects; second, self-support activities, and third, extra-curricular activities. The student's record is completed by the opinions of persons concerning various qualities in which different employers are interested.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for disorders of constipation and torpid liver.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative, safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force the action unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth," bad breath—a dull, tired feeling, headache—torpid liver—constipation—you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c. [Advertisement.

GET RID OF IT!

Constipation causes a condition of "self-poisoning" that makes it easy for germs to lurk in your system and to breed their worst.

When Nature needs assistance, dissolve a teaspoonful of the genuine Imported Carlsbad Sprudel Salt in a large glass of water and take this just before retiring for the night. Not like other salts—pleasant to take. At all drug stores.

Miss Ella E. Helgeson of Chicago writes: "My friends thought I would never be able to do any work—but Carlsbad Sprudel Salt fooled them all. I am telling everybody about it!"

BATHING FEET PROVES FATAL

Alcohol Catches Fire from Gas Heater and Causes Burns That Kill Man

When alcohol in which he was bathing his feet caught fire from a gas heater jet, Edgar F. Davis of 4042 American avenue, Long Beach, suffered burns yesterday which resulted in his death several hours later at the Miles Sanatorium in Santa Monica, according to a report at the Coroner's office.

FARM BOARD OFFICIAL ON VISIT HERE

Co-operative Activities of Creamery and Poultry Men Aided by Schilling

Centralization of co-operative activities in the creamery and poultry industries is the object of a trip covering the Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain States which is being made by William F. Schilling, member of the Federal Farm Board, he said at the Alexandria yesterday.

WILLIAM F. SCHILLING

In each industry, he said yesterday, it is the intention of the board to assist in getting the existing co-operatives together in large regional marketing organizations. It is the desire of the board, for instance, he said, that for the dairy industry the country should be divided into three regions with a central organization in each, and a similar set-up will be applied to the poultry industry, although the number of regions into which it will be divided has not yet been determined.

He met representatives of creamery co-operatives in this section Saturday and will meet the poultry men today, after which he will leave for San Francisco.

Reading in a newspaper that the Minnesota Society was having a picnic Saturday Mr. Schilling, whose home is in Northfield, Minn., went unheralded to the picnic, but he was quickly recognized there and met hundreds of acquaintances. He also met two cousins residing here whom he had not seen for forty years. They are Mrs. F. A. Urban and Miss Olive Becht.

YOUTH SHOT ON HUNTING TRIP DIES

Plane Dash and Major Operation Fail to Save Gun-Accident Victim

Cyril Mulvey, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mulvey, 608 North Lafayette Park Place, died in the General Hospital last night as the result of a gunshot wound received while on a hunting-trip, despite the heroic efforts of an airplane pilot who brought the injured youth to the Grand Central Airport in Glendale in his plane.

The youth, with four others, Edward Robb, 21, 410 North Coronado street; John Shuey, 20, 3622 Sixth avenue; Leo Champion, 21, 706 North Lafayette Park Place and Milan Babcock, 21, 1203 North Virgil street, were hunting rabbits at Dry Lake near Muroc yesterday afternoon, and, failing to find game, set an old oil can on a rock as a target. According to the report given to police, the youths were preparing to return to Los Angeles when Edward Robb in taking the shells from a repeating shotgun, accidentally fired the piece and Mulvey fell with the contents of the shell in his abdomen.

A motion-picture company headed by Howard Hughes on location near by, provided a fast plane which took Mulvey to the Grand Central Airport where an ambulance was waiting. At the General Hospital a major operation was performed in an effort to save his life.

EXTRACT ENDS CANCER'S PAIN

Third Treatment Given to Sixty-two Patients

Two Injections Said to Have Stopped Suffering

Arrangements Being Made for Larger Clinic

Sixty-two men and women, all victims of cancer in its various forms, yesterday received their third injection of the extract discovered by Dr. W. B. Coffey and Dr. John D. Humber. All the patients reported that their pain had vanished after the second injection.

Among the number was an elderly man who, for several years, has been afflicted with the dread malady in its most malignant form. Sleep, or even rest, was impossible without frequent recourse to narcotics, the wife reported. The sufferer received his first treatment less than a month ago when the first clinic was conducted by Dr. Coffey in the Pacific Electric Building. His second was administered a week ago yesterday and he says a decided improvement is evident.

TREATMENT GIVEN 104

A total of 104 persons were given their first treatment yesterday, the physicians announced. In the morning they visited fifty-three cases undergoing the extract treatment which are confined at hospitals throughout the city. These include the Hollywood Hospital, St. Vincent's, Queen of the Angels and the Physicians' & Surgeons'.

The work is seriously handicapped by lack of adequate quarters for administering the treatment, Dr. Coffey said, but plans are under way to remedy this and it is probable that arrangements will soon be completed for conducting the clinics in one of Los Angeles' largest hospitals. Clinics will continue to be conducted weekly at Room 618, Pacific Electric Building, Sixth and Main streets, until further notice.

Assisting Dr. Humber in the actual work of treating the sufferers is his wife, who is a graduate nurse and who served sixteen months in the World War.

MUST HAVE LETTER

Many persons have applied for the treatment without even a letter of introduction from their own doctors, and Dr. Coffey reiterated that he cannot treat such patients. Every applicant must present a diagnosis, prepared and signed by a reputable physician, the extract discoverer said, and no exceptions will be made to this rule.

Co-operation of the Los Angeles Police Department in the work was assured yesterday when Captain of Detectives Edwards announced that a police fast car, equipped with a siren and manned by Detective Lieutenant Massey, has been placed at the disposal of Drs. Coffey and Humber. The rapid increase in the number of hospital patients, the growing number of patients awaiting clinic treatment each week and lack of time combined to make such a course necessary.

Many of the patients at yesterday's clinic arrived early with lunch baskets, prepared to wait all day, if necessary, for the anticipated relief. Some even bore pillows and blankets and set up camp in the corridors outside the treatment rooms.

WOMAN BROUGHT IN PLANE SLIGHTLY BETTER

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Physicians at St. Mary's Hospital today reported the condition of Mrs. Gertrude Edwins, brought here by plane Friday from Wenatchee, Wash., to obtain the new Humber-Coffey cancer serum treatment, as slightly improved following a blood transfusion operation.

The transfusion was resorted to in an effort to strengthen Mrs. Edwins for a second injection of the serum. The blood was furnished by Irving Edwins, Chelan county (Washington) orchardist, who mortgaged his property to bring his wife here for the new treatment.

The transfusion was directed by Dr. G. K. Rhodes, assisted by Dr. Wesley Scott.

"There is a noticeable, although slight, improvement in Mrs. Edwins's condition, which was extremely critical," Dr. Rhodes said. "The serum does not work miracles and is but an experiment at present. We are more than satisfied with its action in this case, however."

Former President and His Wife Seek Rest Here

They Will Be Guests of Los Angeles Today

Above, Former President Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge. Below, parlor of the suite the distinguished couple will occupy at the Biltmore.

CITY GATE OPEN FOR COOLIDGES

Ex-President and Wife Will Arrive at 9:15 a.m.

Number of Officials Will be at Central Station

Police Escort Will Go With Them to Their Hotel

Traveling merely as tourists in quest of rest and recreation, Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge will arrive in this city at 9:15 a.m. today on the Argonaut of the Southern Pacific. Despite a wish expressed in a letter to Postmaster O'Brien for a simple and unobtrusive entry to the city, the couple will be accorded a welcome that will remind them of the days when they were, respectively, President and First Lady of the Land.

At the station, which has been made gay with flags and bunting, the official reception committee will be headed by Postmaster O'Brien, ranking Federal officer in Los Angeles. With him will be Gov. Young, Mayor Porter, Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, President Austin of the Chamber of Commerce, President Sanborn of the City Council, Supervisor Chairman McClellan, Chairman Fowler of the Republican County Central Committee, Clark Bell, general manager of the New York Life Insurance Company's office here, the concern with which Mr. Coolidge is identified; J. A. H. Kerr, C. C. Hine and F. L. B. Harman.

STREET DECORATED

Charles A. Cooke, official greeter of the Chamber of Commerce, left yesterday to meet Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge at some point east and escort them into the city.

An emergency resolution was passed by the City Council Saturday as a result of which Fifth street is decorated from Central Station to the Biltmore. Chief of Police Steckel has assigned a guard of honor, consisting of thirty motorcycle officers and eighty patrolmen, to be on duty at the station and conduct the Coolidge party to the hotel.

In accordance with Mr. Coolidge's wishes, the Biltmore has confined its decorative efforts to the main entrance of the building and to California blossoms for the suite which the couple will occupy. Apartment C on the eleventh floor has been reserved for them and over the week-end a group of painters, cleaners and decorators was at work putting it in readiness for the Coolidge occupancy this morning.

PLANS KEPT DARK

Of their plans for their stay here little has been announced as yet. Mr. Coolidge wrote to the postmaster that he wished to go directly from the train to the hotel, but further than that he did not divulge his plans or wishes.

The suite prepared for the Coolidges is in the northwest corner, overlooking Library Park, and consists of three bedrooms, a dining-room, a parlor and a butler's pantry. Flags were ordered placed over the main and south entrances of the hotel.

AUTOS PROVIDED

It is likely, William Wrigley, Jr., said last night, that some portion of the time spent by the former President and his wife in Southern California will be devoted to a visit to the palatial Wrigley home on Catalina Island. Wrigley has been a close personal friend of the Coolidges for a number of years.

"No definite time has been set for the Coolidges' visit to Catalina," Wrigley said, "but I have invited him many times and he has always answered with a promise to come over to the island whenever he made any extended visit to this part of the country.

Two automobiles have been provided for the visitors' use by the Pierce-Arrow company through arrangements made by Dana Jones, president of the Rotary Club, and John Gage of the Biltmore directorate.

After their arrival at the hotel this morning the former President and his wife will be serenaded by the Los Angeles Playground Boys' Band. The band took a prominent part in the welcome given President Hoover on the latter's most recent visit to this city.

SOUGHT AS SPEAKER

Although Mr. Coolidge made it plain in his letter to the postmaster that he is desirous of making his stay in this city a quiet one, many organizations in the city are planning to endeavor to induce him to address their meetings. Inability to establish contact with him before his arrival has prevented them from making any move in that direction thus far, but he will be

OUR latest murder sensation is interesting.

A man named Richardson kills his divorced wife; then says he is just that way; when he gets mad, he chokes cows and beats balky horses to death.

Personally I am very skeptical about violent tempers. These temperamental persons always seem to fly into frenzies over cows; but never over lions. They beat up bill collectors; but they never seem to get real mad at the Jack Dempseys.

VIOLENCE

One of the most delightful scenes that has ever been in any play was where David Warfield in "The Auctioneer" flew into a wild rage; was about to hurl a vase to the floor; looked at the price mark and hurled a cheaper one instead. My observation is that there is a good deal of show-off in these uncontrollable rages.

People of so-called violent temper always seem to take a unique view of the situation. They bite the baby, kick the cat, break the dishes and howl. When they explain: "I got hot under the collar," the rest of the world is supposed to say: "Oh, yes; too bad."

SKYSCRAPERS?

If Los Angeles is to have skyscrapers, it must also have subways.

It isn't a problem of sunshine and "dark canyons." It is a problem of office buildings holding the population of large towns—to come pouring out into already crowded streets.

The estimate is that if all the office buildings of New York City should suddenly disgorge their occupants they would be five deep in the streets.

There is no particular reason for skyscrapers in Los Angeles. New York had to have them because it is a skinny little island with no room to expand except up. There is so much room in Los Angeles the office buildings could all be of one story.

JOHN D.

At 91 years of age, John D. Rockefeller whacks the golf ball 150 yards—"straight as a gun." And the American public which used to hate him as a grinding tyrant heel watches with a grin of delight.

Nowhere has there been a greater change of thought than in the attitude of America toward wealth. For this Mr. Rockefeller—with his funny habit of giving away dimes to visitors and millions to hospitals—has been partly responsible. He has made it apparent to everyone that a man of great wealth is a trustee rather than an owner. He can actually own only as much as he can use—and he can only use so very little. Beyond that he is only a herder who rounds up the dollars which are passed along to the public.

DEPORT THEM

Wholesale deportation of foreigners with police records would help Chicago. The deportation machinery of this country ought to be like stepping on a greased slide. There are so many decent, law-abiding workers seeking to come to America that the weeding-out process ought to be severe.

HOOSIERS CALLED TO PICNIC

President Ralph L. Chapman of the Indian State Society, has called the Hoosiers to meet for the annual picnic reunion next Sunday in Sycamore Grove Park. Judge McConnell is chairman of arrangements. County registers are to be open all day and coffee and badges will be supplied. The program of song and oratory is scheduled to open at 2 o'clock.

JAIL LOOMS FOR BERMAN IN OIL SUIT

Julian-Case Witness May be Sentenced as Result of Balking Questions

Jacob Berman, alias Jack Bennett, known as the "bright boy" of the old Julian Petroleum Corporation, and blamed by S. C. Lewis, the former president, with issuance of a large part of the worthless stock which wrecked the company, may go to jail this week.

Standing on his constitutional rights, Berman last week refused to answer most of the questions put to him during the taking of his deposition in the $15,000,000 Julian stockholder's suit against the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and a group of local stock brokers and early this week a commitment for contempt of court will be requested by the stockholders' attorneys.

For two days, ending Friday afternoon, Berman, from the witness stand in Judge Tappaan's court, refused to answer hundreds of questions put to him by Attorneys Lewinson and Crump acting for the stockholders. Late in the attempted examination Judge Tappaan indicated that Berman will have to answer most of the questions or go to jail.

After the Berman matter is disposed of Lewis will be returned to the stand for cross-examination. He finished his direct examination last week and is expected to occupy the witness stand for at least three more days under cross-examination.

Old Sol Dizzy With Heat but No Record Set

The local weather market opened strong yesterday with the sun bringing an upward movement that resulted in a high thermometer quotation of 86 deg.

Quotations dropped to 81 deg. at 5 p.m., but not before local residents had lost their topcoats.

It might have been worse, however, Federal weather experts reporting that the high could have gone 6 deg. more without breaking the forty-year record of 92 deg.

Moderate variable winds today and tomorrow are predicted by the meteorologists to bring the local situation back to fair and mild weather.

Bench Warrants Issued for Two Film Notables

Two screen celebrities who disappointed Municipal Judge Bush by failing to appear in his Traffic Court last week will receive pressing invitations to visit his courtroom. So anxious is the judge to meet them that he ordered police warrant officers to give them a free ride to court, under arrest, unless they appear voluntarily.

LOUIS WOLHEIM

Louis Wolheim did not appear to explain his failure to make a boulevard stop on the 7th inst. at Carson and Main streets. Hedda Hopper is wanted on a charge of speeding in a twenty-mile zone on Sunset Boulevard on the same date.

MARGARET LIVINGSTON.

Margaret Livingston, film actress, also failed to appear, but her case was continued until Thursday before Municipal Judge Valentine when her attorney asked for time.

Ambassador Moore Still Seriously Ill

The condition of Alexander P. Moore, Ambassador to Poland, is still very serious, according to an official bulletin issued by his physician, Dr. P. G. White, at the California Lutheran Hospital late last night.

The bulletin announced Mr. Moore had a very restless day and has a temperature of 102 and pulse 120.

DRAIN FUND ORDERED

The City Council has directed the City Engineer to draw $2158 from the permanent improvement fund for the remodeling of the street at Vermont avenue and Forty-seventh street to care for the storm water in that vicinity.

CITY'S AID URGED ON NEW LAW

Contractor Registration Co-operation Advocated by Werner in Letter

Amendment of the city's building and safety ordinance to provide for enforcement among Los Angeles contractors of the California contractors' registration law is favored by City Attorney Werner in a letter to James F. Collins, State registrar of contractors.

Expressing the belief that the city should do everything in its power to co-operate in enforcing the registration law, Werner says he is of the opinion the law is a step in the direction of protecting the people of California from frauds and abuses suffered at the hands of unscrupulous contractors.

Under the law contractors and subcontractors who engage in contractural work where the amount involved is $200 or more must be registered and licensed by the State.

The city of Sacramento has adopted a resolution directing the city building inspector to refuse to issue a building permit to any contractor or subcontractor who has not been licensed.

FINANCE COMMITTEE WILL ACT ON LEASE

The City Council has referred to its Finance Committee the request of the Director of Airports Barnitz that a lease be drawn between the city and the Pacific Airmotive Corporation whereby the company will occupy a hangar to be erected by the city. The rental is fixed at $650 for the first and second years, $715 for the third and fourth years, and $760 for the fifth year.

ART FOUNTAIN DEDICATED

Exercises Sunday at Palos Verdes Estate Attended by Large Gathering Including Notables

Almost a thousand interested spectators were present yesterday afternoon at the dedication of the beautiful marble Neptune fountain recently placed in Malaga Cove Plaza, Palos Verdes Estates. Many notables were present.

The basin of the fountain was made at Bologna, Italy, in replica of the original through the courtesy of the Mayor of that city. The fountain bears an inscription dedicating it to international good will. The top is a vigorous life-size figure of Neptune, with his trident, facing the sea, and below are three successive pedestals with dolphins, mermaids and sea horses. It is considered a notable addition to the art treasures of Southern California.

Donation of the fountain to the community was made by Jay Lawler, who is manager of the Palos Verdes project. It was accepted for the home owners by W. J. Braunschweiger, also on behalf of the art jury, the Homes' Association and the Board of Library Trustees.

Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan spoke on behalf of the State, having been appointed by Gov. Young to represent California at the ceremonies. President C. Herrick Hammond of Chicago, of the American Institute of Architects, and Vice-President J. Monroe Hewlitt of New York also responded to the dedicatory address with a few suitable words. They commented upon the beauty of the setting, on the perfection of the work and the influence it will have in future years.

Vice-Consul Cav. Alberto Mellini of Los Angeles was officially designated by the Italian government to speak at the exercise. He spoke of the bond of friendship and good will that has been established be-

MASS MEETING CALLED TO FIGHT BELL PLANT

A mass meeting to organize a "home zone defense association" for furthering the fight against the Alphonzo Bell interests' proposal to establish a rock quarry and crusher in the Santa Monica Mountains has been called for tonight in the Miramar Hotel, Santa Monica.

Organizers of the new association were among the leaders in the unsuccessful fight against the Bell project. One of the objects of the association will be to raise funds to force a referendum vote on the City Council's action in granting the permit for the plant. Temporary offices will be at 402 Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

Among the organizers are E. F. Leonard, Rev. Gustav A. Brieglieb, Arthur Taylor, C. M. Conant, Mrs. Sylvia Morrison, Orrin W. Lord and Thorwald Siegfried.

TWO NEAR TRAFFIC DEATHS

Baby's Skull Fractured and Face Badly Lacerated; Another Child's Life Saved by Mother

Two persons are near death and twelves others are nursing bruises and cuts as the result of automobile mishaps yesterday. One of those most seriously injured is a 3-year-old baby whose face was terribly lacerated and her nose severed.

The baby is Adeline Oris, daughter of Samuel Oris, 1845 South Longwood avenue. In the car with him besides Adeline, were his wife and son Robert, 18 months. Their car collided with one driven by J. L. Jones, 2123 Victoria Place. At the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where all were treated, it was found Adeline's skull also had been fractured. The crash occurred at Victoria Place and Washington Boulevard.

In another crash, in which a 2-months-old baby figured, three persons were critically injured, but the mother, who was tossed twenty-five feet from the car, held the child closely and managed to twist her body so that she shielded the infant from receiving even a slight scratch. The mother was rendered unconscious.

She is Mrs. Howell Bennett, 1023 Grattan street. With her husband and child they were returning home from a trip when they collided with a car driven by R. O. Dunham, 2112 Sunset Boulevard, at Tenth street and Westlake avenue. All were treated at the Georgia-street Hospital.

Another near death is Noah Allinkov, 27, a musician, of 2629½ East Fourth street, who was hurt in a collision at Main street and Florence avenue.

Allinikov was riding in a car driven by Richard Nelson, 32, of

Bullets Fly as Victims Battle Bandits During Hold-ups

WOMEN AMONG ROBBERS' PREY

Violence Reported by Two in Week-end Crimes

Quartet in Cafe Fight With Pair of Desperadoes

More Than $1000 Obtained in Series of Forays

A early morning battle between two robbers and their victims, in which bottles and bullets were exchanged in desperate abandon, featured the activities of marauding bandits over the week-end, a general police check-up of hold-ups revealed last night. The melee occurred in a cafe, and, considering the close range at which the fight was waged the authorities consider it miraculous that none was injured.

Other bandits engineered a daring hold-up of a house-party, while still others dealt violence to two women, locked a man in a closet, threatened a war veteran with brass knuckles, and rifled a service station. More than $1000 in cash and jewelry was obtained in the series of hold-ups, it is reported.

BATTLE IN CAFE

The free-for-all encounter took place in the Marcus Barbecue, 2972 Beverly Boulevard, after midnight. Four persons, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Willis, the proprietors; L. P. Shaw, a waiter, and Capt. N. R. Dowley of 1714 Ivar street, a customer, were in the cafe when two men entered and covered the quartet with revolvers. As one of the robbers scooped $50 from the cash register, Willis threw a metal napkin-container at the other.

Both bandits then backed to the doorway, whereupon Capt. Dowley hurled a half-dozen empty bottles at them. Dodging the bottles, the robbers leaped into an automobile at the curb, fired a number of shots at their victims without effect, and sped away in the darkness.

DOOR SMASHED

Smashing a glass door with a brick, burglars early yesterday entered the Albert Sheetz Candy Company store at 3833 Wilshire Boulevard, according to a police report, and after carrying two cash registers to a near-by vacant lot, rifled them and escaped with $75. The burglary was reported by a citizen who stumbled on the abandoned cash registers and then discovered the shattered door.

Jose Aguilar, 1805 East One Hundred and Eighth street, and seven companions, three of whom were women, were robbed of more than $30 early yesterday by three men who entered the house and forced the victims to stand against a wall with upraised hands while they took the money. Two of the victims attempted to run from the house and the three men opened fire at Aguilar and his companions and then escaped in a roadster. No one was struck by the shots, of which more than fifteen were fired, police report.

Mrs. Jesse L. Stone, 72 years of age, was struck down in the hallway of her home, 2921 Leeward avenue, by a robber who attacked the aged woman with a bottle. Mrs. Stone entered the hall when she heard a noise and the man struck her over the head with the bottle several times, lacerating her scalp severely as the weapon broke from the force of the blows. She was removed to the Georgia-street Hospital for treatment.

A bandit armed with a revolver held up Mrs. Eleanor Powers, 45, of 245 South Fremont street at Third and Fremont streets, and, after robbing her of her purse, threw her to the pavement and attacked her, according to her report to police.

Mrs. Powers stated she was walking toward her home when the man leaped out of the shadows of a doorway. He leveled a revolver at her, she said, and gruffly told her, "Do as I tell you or I will kill you." Pressing the muzzle of the revolver against her back, the man then threw his other arm around the woman's throat, choked her and forced her to the sidewalk.

As he fled after the attack he is reported to have attempted to hold up Miss Kathryn Edsell in the yard at the rear of Mrs. Powers's address. When Miss Edsel ran back into the dwelling in disregard of the bandit's commands, he leaped a rear fence and vanished.

Mrs. Powers described the man as being about 23 years of age, 115 pounds in weight, about five feet seven inches in height and wearing a dark suit.

Boyle Heights officers answered a call Saturday night to 2137½ Brooklyn avenue on complaint of neighbors that a man was calling for help. Officers found Louis Kaplan of that address locked in a closet where, he told police, a youthful bandit had forced him a few minutes before. Kaplan was going to his bedroom, when the armed man stepped from the closet, took $40 from him and then shoved him into the recess and locked the door.

Two bandits using brass knuckles stopped Richard Hamner of the Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle, at Ninth and Orme streets, threatened him with a "skull fracture" and robbed him of a $750 diamond ring, a $50 watch and $65.

Another pair who proclaimed that they had "just arrived from Chicago," were "tough guys" and "needed jack," forced Virgil Hollham to lie on the floor of a service station at 4339 Angelus Mesa Drive, and rifled the cash register of $52. They fled in an automobile.

F. O. Johnson of 830 West Sixth street and a woman companion, were robbed of $6 by two men as the victims were sitting in Johnson's car at Redlands and Waterloo streets, Venice.

After purchasing a tank full of gasoline two bandits held up Clifford J. Brochu in a service station at 4072 Verdugo Road and got away with $31.

While delivering milk for the Swiss Dairy Company at 7:30 a.m. yesterday Charles E. Kratsch was held up by a negro bandit and robbed of $11, he reported to police. The robbery occurred at Fiftieth street and Morgan avenue.

Strong arm methods were used by a trio of bandits who stopped K. Sehiota of 564 North Virgil avenue at Alameda and Ducommun streets at an early morning hour, choked him into insensibility and then robbed him of $3, according to another report.

PLANNING BOARD POSTS SOUGHT

Real Estate Men Urged For Appointment by County Supervisors

A request that county boards of supervisors all over the State be urged to appoint real-estate men as members of the planning commissions yet to be appointed as provided by the last Legislature, is made by W. H. Daum, president of the California Real Estate Association, in a letter to all members of real-estate boards in Los Angeles county. Members are requested to write letters to the Board of Supervisors. In one county, it is pointed out, the Supervisors appointed nine members of a regional planning commission without naming one real-estate man.

flooded with invitations when he reaches his hotel today.

The possibility of a keen scramble among the various motion-picture studios to be the hosts of the former President and his wife on tours of their studios was seen last night when it was learned that virtually all of them will extend invitations to the visiting couple. If the Coolidges wish to visit any of the studios, however, they will probably do so under the guidance of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, officials of which said last night they had informed Mr. Cooke of their willingness to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce in any plans made to entertain the city's distinguished guests.

CROWD AT TUCSON GREETS EX-PRESIDENT

TUCSON (Ariz.) Feb. 16. (AP)—Former President Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge arrived in Tucson tonight on their way to Los Angeles. They were greeted at the station by Gov. Phillips of Arizona and several thousand persons who gathered around the train as it stopped briefly.

Mr. Coolidge appeared on the rear platform and acknowledged applause extended by the crowd.

Gov. Phillips and a delegation of Arizonans remained on the train and will continue to Casa Grande, Ariz. Efforts are being made to have Mr. Coolidge dedicate Coolidge Dam while in the West.

As the train pulled out of Tucson the Coolidges were dinner guests of Walter Douglas, a director of the Southern Pacific, in his special car.

The train arrived at Casa Grands, sixty-eight miles north of Tucson at 8:50 p.m., leaving there at 9 p.m. As at Tucson, a large gathering met the train and Mrs. Coolidge was presented with a basket of flowers by the women of Casa Grande. Gov. Phillips and other members of the Arizona party left the train at Casa Grande.

COOLIDGE TACITURN WHILE AT EL PASO

EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 16. (AP)—Calvin Coolidge was in one of his taciturn moods when his train halted here for fifteen minutes this morning. He remarked that conditions seem little changed in West Texas in comparison to twenty-one years ago, when he first visited this section. Mrs. Coolidge accompanies her husband on the trip which started in Florida. They are scheduled to arrive at Los Angeles tomorrow.

Mr. Coolidge posed for photographs on the platform of the Argonaut, Southern Pacific train and told reporters he has not yet written the 500-word history of the United States to be inscribed on a monumental hill in the Dakotas.

The former President arrived here with flowers in abundance and the good wishes and greetings of many Texas cities.

His schedule of no speeches and no stopovers before arriving at Los Angeles has been adhered to in the usual definite Coolidge manner. Similarly, he "did not choose" to discuss national and political affairs.

Both the former President and the former First Lady of the Land seem in good health.

GOV YOUNG PLANS TO EXTEND WELCOM E

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Gov. Young and Mrs. Young will leave for Los Angeles tonight to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge on their arrival, the Governor said today in a telegram to the former President extending greetings of California.

Gov. Young expressed the hope that Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge can visit Sacramento in the course of their trip.

The telegram was sent to Mr. Coolidge on his train at Casa Grande, Ariz.

Stocker Heirs Compromise on Estate Suits

Four suits in the controversy between the heirs of the late Clara Baldwin Stocker and Walter T. McGinley, her business manager, were compromised by a settlement approved by Superior Judge Stephens.

The suits involved the possession of a private car McGinley said he had purchased for Mrs. Stocker, accounting of money belonging to the estate and a $400,000 claim for indebtedness presented by Mrs. Rosebudd Doble Mullender and Albert E. Snyder, children of the decedent. According to the settlement, the estate gets the Pullman car and other property is divided equably, according to Attorneys Francis J. Heney for the estate and Byron Hanna for McGinley.

Other features of the settlement include dismissal of the accounting suit on trial in Superior Judge Haslett's court and the withdrawal of McGinley's action to collect a $375,000 mortgage against the estate.

"TIMES" COVER DONE IN BRONZE

Student Perpetuates Youth Spirit

Repousse Work Praised

Edmundo De Leon and chest cover inspired by symbolic fantasy appearing in "Times" Preview.

THE fantastic picture on The Times first annual Preview cover, April, 1927, has been perpetuated in bronze repousse by Edmundo De Leon, a young art metal craftsman, 1919 Norwood street.

The cover was designed by Times Staff Artist Owens and in it is depicted in more or less symbolic fantasy the rise before the lens of the spirit of youth, a la Hollywood motion-picture feminine gender, toward fame and riches amidst the stars from a potpourri of modernism and classicism. It so inspired the young Mexican craftsman that he boldly undertook to do it in bas-relief on bronze by repoussage.

After some 350 hours of work during odd moments and mostly at Polytechnic High School's night classes, De Leon achieved his objective in a manner that drew praise from Owens himself. De Leon worked the piece into a cover for a book-form treasure chest about twenty by fourteen by eight inches in size.

Naval Reserve Units Prepare for Inspection

Annual inspection of personnel and equipment of Naval Reserve units will be held Wednesday evening at the Armory, 1965 South Los Angeles street.

The inspection is by a board of regular naval officers and is one of the outstanding ceremonies of the year in reserve activities. Rivalry is keen between various divisions to present the most military appearance as well as to make the best rating for efficiency in seamanship, gunnery and tactics.

The inspection board is composed of Capt. C. A. Blakely, Commander R. A. White and Commander G. H. Bowdey. They will be accompanied on their tour by Capt. A. H. Woodbine, aide to the commandant, Eleventh Naval District.

Inspection of the Santa Barbara unit will be held today, San Diego units tomorrow, and Long Beach aviation unit Thursday.

The ceremony will be open to the public.

San Joaquin to Have Air Lines

Completing a two weeks' aerial survey of the San Joaquin Valley, during which plans were outlined for a feeder service out of Fresno to all valley towns with flying-fields, a party of officials of Continental Air Express, headed by President H. H. Pursel, returned to Los Angeles yesterday.

The survey was undertaken with a view to mapping out routes for use in transporting passengers to and from Fresno's municipal airport before and after the C.A.E. through ships to San Francisco and Los Angeles arrive and depart, the officials explained. It is expected that the feeder service will be in operation within the next thirty days.

National Legion Chaplain Here

Rev. George F. Kettell of New York, national chaplain of the American Legion, who is making a tour of the United States, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday as the guest of Fay Smalley at the Alexandria. During his stay he paid a visit to the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle and last evening spoke at Immanuel Presbyterian Church on "Popular Americanism."

He is accompanied by Clarence Kincaid, State commander, and James K. Fisk, State adjutant of the Legion. The party will go to Santa Barbara today, proceeding thence to San Francisco.

CHANGE OF STREET NAMES REQUESTED

T. C. Law and others have requested the City Council to change the name of a number of streets to Wesipark Drive and the matter has been referred to the City Engineer and City Planning Committee. The streets involved are Beck avenue from Weddington street to Magnolia Boulevard, and Camellia avenue, Morrison street, Farmdale avenue and McCabe Drive.

MANY INJURED IN ACCIDENTS

2116½ Valentine street. Also in the same car were Frank Millan, 19, of 104 Matthews street, and Ben Taylor, 29, who lives with Nelson. Millan is a musician, Taylor a salesman, and Nelson an advertising man. All suffered cuts and bruises.

The other car was driven by Lloyd Manley of 1213 East Seventy-fifth street, according to police. He was not hurt, it was stated. Nelson's machine turned over and Allinikov was pinned under the car.

DRIVER ARRESTED

Fleeing from a traffic crash in which one automobile was overturned and its occupants injured, Fred E. Stone, 44, a janitor, was taken in custody early yesterday on suspicion of failing to stop to render aid after an accident, according to the report of Officers Craddock and Tripple.

The crash, the officers assert, occurred at Avenue 56 and Maridian avenue. One of the cars, driven by William Zinser of 109 1-2 North Avenue 56, was overturned. Stone, according to the police report, backed his car and fled at a high rate of speed. The officers gave chase and caught him at Avenue 56 and Eaton street, they said.

With Zinser was Miss Marian Messick of 5237 Stratford Road. Both were cut and bruised and taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for emergency treatment.

Dinner Slated for Leaders of Architects

In honor of C. Herrick Hammond of Chicago, president of the American Institute of Architects, and of other officers and directors, a dinner will be given tomorrow evening by the Southern California chapter. Guests of honor will include James Monroe Hewlett of New York, first vice-president of the institute; Edwin Bergstrom, treasurer; Fred Fielding Willson of Bozeman, Mont., director of the Western Mountain Division; Myron T. Hunt of Los Angeles, director of the Sierra Nevada Division; and Clarence Tantau of San Francisco.

John C. Austin, fellow of the American Institute of Architects and president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, will act as toastmaster.

Hammond and Hewlett arrived yesterday to act as judges in honor awards to be made for Southern California architecture.

Chamber Calls All Committees

Called to make the various groups better acquainted, a meeting of 1000 members of the Chamber of Commerce standing committees will be held next Wednesday noon in the main chamber dining-room with President Austin presiding. It is the first joint session of all committees ever called.

Clarence H. Matson, manager of the department of foreign commerce and shipping, will make the introductory remarks, followed by an address by Secretary-Manager Arnoll. Special prominence is to be given Foreign Trade Week activities, the 16th to 22nd inst., and brief talks are scheduled by representatives of films engaged in export trade.

Western Air Express Gives Service Accounting

Ships Flying Four Years; No Passengers Hurt

Distances Covered in Excess of 4,000,000 Miles

"During four years of commercial air transport operation planes of Western Air Express have flown a total of 4,151,775 miles without a single injury to a passenger, establishing a safety record unparalleled in world aviation," says an announcement by the company issued yesterday.

The yearly totals since the company's beginning here four years ago were: 1926, 323,892 miles; 1927, 1,339 miles; 1928, 946,660 miles; 1929, 1,216,610 miles.

The grand total mileage flown from to January was 3,960,491 miles. During January planes of the company traveled 191,284 miles, which brought the total to more than 4,000,000.

"These figures were taken solely from the operation of the company over its six Air lines radiating from Los Angeles and do not include Aero Corporation of California, West Coast Air Transport and Southwest Air Express, affiliated companies," the announcement sets forth.

"Plane miles scheduled daily today total 9,070. If the totals of the affiliated companies are added the daily mileage is 13,270."

BURGLARY SENTENCES LEAD ALL

Today's Bible Text

But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.—Romans v, 8.

A COUNTER QUESTION

Does Los Angeles need skyscrapers? ask the iron and steel industry leaders. Does Los Angeles want more street traffic congestion? is also a pertinent question. To get the one without the other is the big problem.

CHINA'S CONTRIBUTION

China does not do much in providing jazz entertainment for the modern world; but she is the only country left with a genuine supply on tap of the old-time pirates, such as we love to read about in sensational fiction.

FREAK VALUES

At an auction sale in London a first edition of Roderick Random has just sold for $750. We wonder if there are 750 people living today who would pay 10 cents for Smollett's old novel if they had to read it from beginning to end.

A TIP TO WRITERS

Harold Bell Wright, just back from Honolulu, told local reporters that his only rule for writing was "a wastebasket and a yen for lots of hard work." If this doesn't leave Harold wide open for new attacks from critics to say mean things about what he didn't throw in his wastebasket we're no good as guessers.

DID HE START IT?

Milan is about to celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the man who invented the alarm clock. That is about the time Europe began to wake up after the Middle Ages, so possibly Dr. Andrea Alciato had something to do with starting modern civilization. Maybe we all owe him a debt of gratitude or something.

NEW SHARK STORY

That Long Key dispatch which said that Justice Stone, one of President Hoover's fishing companions, reported that he had hooked a sailfish which he believed to be larger than the one the President caught, reminds one of the story of the fellow who declared that he was "a bigger man than old Grant." Let Justice Stone leave out the shark next time he tries to prove that he's a bigger fisherman than Mr. Hoover.

FLOGGING IN ENGLAND

To flog or not to flog criminals is now a leading issue in England. Meantime the courts are sentencing ruffians who rob with violence, and for a few other crimes, to the whipping post. So-called humanitarians are protesting against the practice which some of them affect to believe worse than the death penalty.

This seems to be the opinion of some criminals as well; at least, they make a greater demonstration of terror over a commitment to the wielder of the cat-o'-nine-tails than to the hangman. One British prisoner, sentenced to receive fifteen lashes, escaped the ordeal by committing suicide, by jumping from a high window of a jail in which he was confined.

With his usual habit of protest, Bernard Shaw wrote a letter to a London newspaper the other day saying that "every judge who sentences a man to be flogged ought to have two or three doses of it himself." To this sally Lord Darling, formerly a noted justice, made reply: "No one is flogged except when he has been guilty of personal violence. In my opinion a public opinion which approves of prize fighting, including the knockout blow, cannot logically condemn flogging."

Up in Portland a bandit has been swatting the heads of his victims with a gas pipe, and the Oregonian says quite logically that he should receive corporal punishment. "There is something peculiarly baffling," says that newspaper, "about the futility of commonplace penal methods in cases like the current one." And so there is.

In Delaware, where flogging is administered for robbery of almost any kind, the people boast that they never have to lock their doors and that hobos give their State a wide berth while traveling north or south.

But false ideas entertained by "humanitarians" have kept all but two of our States from giving even worse offenders than mere robbers their just dues.

FOREIGN-TRADE WEEK

Foreign-Trade Week, which started yesterday, is of more than usual interest to Southern California this year because Los Angeles will on May 21, 22 and 23 be host to the seventeenth National Foreign Trade Convention and also because foreign trade is playing an important part in the recovery of national prosperity. According to James A. Farrell, chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, the export of finished manufactured products increased by more than 12 per cent last year, and exports of such products during December were ahead of those for December, 1928, showing the quick recovery of the exporting business from the Wall street slump.

Los Angeles, as one of the principal ports of the country, should be extremely interested in this subject as is, of course, the whole State of California. Among some of the products that California exports are lumber, canned fish, petroleum and its products, motion-picture film, music rolls, caterpillar tractors, fruits and nuts. These are produced in greater volume than the Pacific Coast can absorb and in some cases beyond the capacity of the United States to absorb. If these industries are to be maintained at a profitable level, giving employment to California people, their products must be sold abroad.

Importation is no less of importance in foreign trade. California needs coffee, fertilizers, bananas, metals and some manufactured goods not produced here in sufficient quantity or variety to meet our requirements. Exchange of our surplus for surpluses of these products produced elsewhere is a profitable transaction on both sides.

But foreign trade does not just come by accident; like any business it has to be gone after, and study of the best methods for obtaining it is the purpose of Foreign-Trade Week and of the coming convention. Intensive development of merchandising and skillful practice by American producers and traders have resulted in the past from such study and further study may be expected to result in increasingly good returns.

Foreign trade is not only profitable in itself, but it is a form of business insurance. The wider the distribution that can be given to California products, the less likelihood there is that fluctuations in demand in any particular locality will affect producers adversely, since if one market does not want a particular product at a particular time, some other probably will. Foreign trade has a tendency to level out economic peaks and depressions and prevent both slumps and booms.

The National Foreign Trade Convention has not been conducted on the Pacific Coast for ten years, despite the fact that this is the fastest growing trade area in the world, and this fact alone is enough to make the meeting an outstanding success. The convention at San Francisco in 1920 broke all records; Los Angeles can and will set another new mark this year, if business organizations and individuals take the interest in it that its importance deserves.

PROSPERITY AGENTS

Renewed confidence in the unbroken progress of Los Angeles is the natural consequence of the joint meeting just held between the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. These two organizations have played important parts in securing for this city the prosperity we at present enjoy. Their pledge of earnest co-operation along the same proven lines and policies is the best promise we could have for its continuance in the future.

To the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association we are indebted for the industrial conditions that have attracted to this city so many business concerns looking for extensions of their plants or for new factory locations. No less it has assured a fair and square deal for the labor needed to run these new establishments. Its mission has been to replace the old militancy between employers and employees with an intelligent understanding each of the other's problems and difficulties. By thus stabilizing industry in the Southwest it has laid a firm foundation for a common base on which independent labor may treat with capital and both work together for the whole good of the community.

At the present time the Chamber of Commerce is undertaking three big campaigns of greatest importance to the business and industry of this area. It is striving to increase the number of non-competitive industries in 1930 above the number registered during the past year. It is working for further harbor development and the listing of more foreign trade outlets for locally made goods. And it is campaigning to promote a wider reciprocal trading among the eleven Western States.

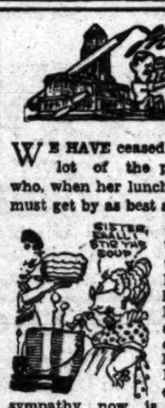
Some of the results of concerted effort, to which the Chamber and the M. and M. have largely contributed, are worthy of note. This section is now the world's second largest automobile tire factory center. Twenty-seven new ship line services to other ports were added to Los Angeles Harbor in 1929, making a total of 105 services. In the same year new factories and expansions created expenditures of more than $26,000,000 and the value of manufactured products for the Los Angeles metropolitan area was raised by $50,000,000 above that of the year preceding.

The chamber employs highly trained engineers to prepare detailed surveys and to collect data useful to those engaged in old or new businesses. In conjunction with the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association it has made better relations between employers and employees one of its main objects and has stood resolutely for the open shop. It is more than a coincidence that while Los Angeles has been making the greatest growth of any first-class city on the continent, it has also had the largest and most representative Chamber of Commerce.

ANTI-NOISE CRUSADE

The first zone of quiet around a hospital was instituted a generation ago due to the agitation against city noises by Mrs. Rice of New York, who also campaigned for suppression of street-peddler noises and decrease in steamboat whistling in the harbor. Now a score of big cities here and abroad have commissioners or committees for suppression of the increasing noises of civilization.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
BY Lee Shippey



WE HAVE ceased to weep over the lot of the poor working girl who, when her luncheon hour arrives, must get by as best she can on a very light snack at the soda fountain. Not, we hope, have we grown hard-hearted, but because knowledge of greater griefs has dwarfed hers. Practically our entire stock of sympathy now is taken up by the poor club woman who has to struggle along through a hard day's clubbing with only a regulation club luncheon for sustenance.

Our confidential opinion is that one reason why many women are such enthusiastic clubbers is their certainty that on club day, anyway, they will lose a couple of ounces, if not pounds.

The Old-Time Church Social

When we were a boy, the church social was the universal habit. The women of every community we ever knew never seemed happy unless they were lifting the mortgage off the church with an oyster supper or something like that. In those days, when occasion demanded it, any enterprising ladies' aid society or young ladies' guild could make a dozen oysters supply oyster soup for 200. But in those days, things which did not have to be bought were provided in profusion. The cake makers vied with each other in seeking popularity for their wares. So did the salad and biscuit and pie makers. We never will forget George Fitch's description of how a good and worthy man went to a church social in order to eat for religion. He ate two or three helpings of fried chicken, several slices of country ham, eight or ten biscuits, seventeen varieties of salad and fourteen colors of cake, then staggered to the cashier, handed her a quarter and tottered out, happy in the consciousness that he had done something for the Lord.

The descendants of those mortgage-lifters now seem to be lifting mortgages off clubhouses. Only in these days of prosperity and high prices the busy club women have no time to get up the dinners themselves. They farm out the job to caterers. But we suspect that many of the clubs still are making a substantial profit. If not, they ought to be.

Spiritual Food

Yesterday we spoke our little piece before a prominent woman's club in Hollywood. (Editor's note: This article was written several months ago, but for obvious reasons its publication was delayed.) The menu was as follows:

Salad consisting of one lettuce leaf daintily decorated with a few morsels of salmon swimming in dressing.

One croquette guarded by three green peas.

One youth's-size French bun.

Small wine glass nearly full of sherbet tasting very strongly of water.

Coffee guaranteed not to burn the tongue or keep anyone awake.

It was easy to see that those dear ladies were determined not to dull their wits for the mental feast of the afternoon program by overindulgence in mere bodily food. Yet it took a solid hour to serve it.

We learned that the luncheon cost the members 75 cents apiece. If 50 cents of that didn't go into the club treasury somebody was getting cheated.

Women Outsmart Men

In the smaller towns surrounding Los Angeles, the club luncheons are much more substantial, especially those served to the men. For those energetic mortgage-lifters make a business of feeding the brutes and making them pay. All the men's luncheon clubs meet at the women's clubhouses, usually having none of their own. And when one thinks of all the charming women's clubhouses which the clever women have made the men pay for in this way he must admire their enterprise.

In town or out, though, the women beat the men. The average man's luncheon club in town is a place where one can get a very good 40-cent luncheon for $1 and the men aren't lifting any mortgages that way, either. But the men don't seem to mind, so long as they can enjoy plenty of horseplay and see their fellow-members soaked with fines. From an intellectual point of view, the women's club meetings are ten times as ambitious as the men's. A seasoned club woman can sit through a whole afternoon of heavy thinking which would give an average man a headache.

Study in Fractions

Lee: Lo, the poor Indian! He has suffered much from misunderstanding—including misunderstanding of the English language. In the forty-seventh annual report of the Indian Rights Association I find this astonishing statement in a report on the Hulapai Indians of Arizona:

"The tribe was decimated to less than one-half of its former number."

RAILING AT REFORMERS

Mayor Thompson says it is all the fault of the "meddling reformers," "reform advisers," "reassessment reformers,' "loop reformers," "the lies of reformers." He appears to have reformers on his conscience.

His police, after muffing the ball, blame it on the civil service. One way of shunting off being disturbed in sleep is to throw a boot at the watch dog. Killing the prophet has been a favorite method of vice to rid itself of the uncomfortable.

It is hard to make the world believe that the school-teachers of Chicago are without pay because the decent people want things cleaned up. It is hard for the police to blame their flat, pocket-books on anything but the ratholes in the City Hall.

The Chicago business men do not appear to take stock in the Mayor's alibi. Vigilantes are the last resort of decency in any community. When the government flunks in a new country, vigilantes are organized to look after affairs.

Chicago has become the dump heap of the world. It has been advertised as the gangsters' sanctuary. Every bomb that bursts in the headlines is an invitation to the whole brood of racketeers. The sewer of every city in this country pours its refuse into Chicago. It is an unenviable reputation.

Naturally if the reformers would let up, the gangsters would not have to bomb anybody's business. If all laws were repealed, there would be no law-breaking either. If there were no Eighteenth Amendment, there would be no bootleggers. If there were no statutes against killers, there would be no murder. Vice feels injured by having the criminal code make it an outlaw. Otherwise it might pass current.

But the law of sowing and reaping still stands. It is written in flesh and blood, even in stone and dirt. There is no repeal. As long as right is right and wrong is wrong, evil will whimper at indignant righteousness.

Chicago is a sermon in civics. And when business men sow to the wind by sidestepping and trimming, they reap the whirlwind.

SHAVIAN STORIES

George Bernard Shaw is figuring in many Shavian stories these days. One is to the effect that when dining in a restaurant with a friend, he sent for the leader of the orchestra after a particularly deafening selection and asked: "Would you mind playing something at my request?" When answered in the deferential affirmative, G. B. replied: "Then please play a game of cards—and make it solitaire." Another story is concerning the astonishment of American guests at the amount of cakes and cups of tea consumed by Mr. Shaw at a tea given by Lady Astor. Perhaps this is due to the Shavian length which makes up for a lack of girth.

NO NEWS IN THIS

Senator Heflin says he will run again even if he is barred from all the party tickets, according to a news dispatch. The Washington correspondents must have had a dull day to burden the wires with such obviousness. Heflin wouldn't agree to quit even if the Pope resigned.

AN EXPLANATION

A ping-pong championship tourney is now being conducted at the University of Chicago. Records of the Maroon football teams for the past three or four seasons may be the reason for the development of interest in the table-top sport.

THE DEATH OF AN ART
By James J. Montague

Austrian barbers are urging the return of whiskers as no professional skill is required in mere shaving

When an Austrian tour I made,
Some seven or eight years ago,
I found that the barbering trade
Was a lucrative calling to know.
The natives wore beards in a number of shapes,
Trimmed in "v's" or with full rounded edges,
Or pruned as the husbandman prunes his young grapes
Or the gardener clips the yew hedges.

To bring out a thick whiskered face
With a dignified Cavalry Bob
Or a bifurcate Emperor Lace
Was a deft and a delicate job,
And the barber who hid with an artistic hand
The round rolling Viennese collars
With modish alfalfas, could always command
A goodly abundance of thalers.

But the times bring a hideous change—
No superabundance of hair
In drapings fantastic and strange
The up-to-date Austrians wear.
Of the pompous adornments of ten years ago
The tourists discover no traces;
To and from their employments the citizens go
With arid and clean-shaven faces.

What a sinister creature is Style—
A fickle and hard-hearted jade
Who harbors no pity the while
She ruins a sternly earned trade!
The artists who once fashioned beards into forms
That lighted the eyes of all gazers
As they waved in the zephyr or flapped in the storms
Are now merely pliers of razors!

Immigration Control

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Any article, such as your recent one on immigration, helps toward a right solution of our problem of immigration control. Upon this depends the make-up of our national population of the generations to come. Our present living standards are the world's best. Our task is to keep them so.

The old Anglo-Saxon stock was remarkably fecund. Wesley Senior is an example, being father of nineteen children. Today with changed living standards the average family of old-time American stock has about three kiddies. We have here on charity rolls numbers of alien social inadequates, who should never have been admitted, who have nine children, several of thirteen and fourteen, one of sixteen.

At the three-child rate the third generation hence would show twenty-seven descendants, at the nine-rate 729. This shows strikingly the menace of admitting low powers that breed like rabbits.

To Preserve Our Beaches

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Nothing is more vital to the life of the beach towns than protection from the menace of oil.

It is our conviction that the only safety lies in denying all applications to drill on tide lands.

LAGUNA BEACH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,

Slams the Collegians

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your article on "Academic Faith and Unfaith" was a comprehensive presentation of two human cosmogonies, both trying very hard to pierce the veil that forever binds them to illusions.

Everything in the universe is perfect—except that very curious piece of work—man. Have you never thought out any reasons why he should be the one flaw—the one incomplete creature in a hateless creation?

When the leading scholars and thinkers of this country refuse to support a system of reality having for its objective the origin of life and things, it is manifestly apparent that something vile and hideous has crept into the souls and lives of men who live in this world of make-believes.
G. R. PASCOE.

Lincoln Lives

POMONA, Feb. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Thank you for your splendid editorial article, "Lincoln Lives."

The man who wrote it knew Lincoln and loved him.

Quite likely he was in an atmosphere created by Edwin Markham's Lincoln—"The Man of the People"—or Vachel Lindsay's "Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight" or John Gould Fletcher's "Lincoln."

Stanton's remark at Lincoln's deathbed does not and cannot atone for his insulting conduct toward Lincoln at Cincinnati, or his "original gorilla" comment at a later date.

The Douglas monument on Thirty-fifth street, Chicago, is on the road to decay and some day will go down as Douglas is going—to forgetfulness.
W. G. SHERER.

No Corsets For Her

OJAI, Feb. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It will perhaps be a surprise to the fashion dictators and Paris to hear that the average woman is very dissatisfied with the present fashions. A dressmaker told me she has many complaints and women tell her they will not conform to them. And as one who has lived through the uncomfortable corset era, never again for me.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Psychology?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A series of free psychology lectures is being given at the Sentous Evening High School, 1205 West Pico Boulevard, on Fridays, 7 to 9 p.m. in the auditorium of the school. The lectures are in popular form, the simple language being within the reach of all. In February and March the topics will be: Day Dreams and the Escape From Reality; Fears, Worries and Obsessions; Our Emotional Life; Epilepsy and Kindred Disorders; Changing One's Job; Pseudo Sciences and Psychological Fakes; Habit and Habit Formation; Mental Disease.

A question box is at the door of the auditorium and visitors may drop in questions. These will be brought up during the discussion hour and answered without disclosing the identity of the questioner. There is no charge of any kind for these lectures or the question service and people of all ages receive a cordial welcome.

The auditorium is easily reached by going to the rear of the main building and entering through the yard. The "P" car stops at the door.

EPISCOPALIANS CONFER

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Two revolutionary suggestions came out of the eightieth annual convention of the Episcopal Church of the Diocese of California held in San Francisco last week.

Bishop Parsons told 500 Episcopalian clergymen that they should take the lead in bringing about Christian unity, not only among Protestant denominations, but also to include Catholicism.

He also considered that the advancement of women to more important positions in the church was highly desirable. "No artificial barriers," he said, "should stand in the way of women occupying any place in which they may serve with advantage to the church or the community."

Both of these statements would have been utterly impossible even as recently as the last generation. The Protestant churches in general, and the Episcopalians in particular, have held St. Paul's opinion of women . . . essentially lowly if they were good and just plain brazen if they weren't. They must always remain with their heads covered in church. Many and manifold were their religious duties, but they must be strictly inconspicuous. They were just unfit for authority of any kind ever.

There has even been grave doubt in the minds of some Protestant gentlemen that women could ever get to heaven. They were willing to help us try, if we would obediently follow their directions and conduct ourselves with suitable humility in this life.

However, it is the Protestant denominations that are confronted with backsliders . . . and empty churches. Even in England, where the Episcopalians are the "established church" of the realm, churchgoing has fallen off alarmingly. And long before that, women had always formed the major part of congregations in all Protestant churches. When the women began to fall . . . voila. The meager congregations left are still composed mainly of women. But the rising generation of girls cannot be depended upon to undertake all the important but inconspicuous chores that go with church membership, so faithfully performed through the centuries by their grandmothers.

Universal education has not improved things for the churches. Directly everyone was taught to use their brains, one of the first things realized was the ridiculous dissension between all the so-called Christian denominations. If they all held each other in such colossal contempt . . . just how much good was there in any one of them?

Once I "wrote churches" for two years, attending personally services of eighty-nine separate, distinct denominations in this city. It was then I discovered how cordially they despised each other. The whole adventure was shockingly depressing. I have never wanted to go to church since. I decided right there that I still wanted to be a Christian, but never again a denominational Christian.

There isn't a thing the matter with Christianity, but there is a great deal the matter with professional denominational Christians. And their attitude is not exactly designed to appeal to the modern woman, who is beginning to use her brains. We are no longer content to be regarded as inferior, or blamed for all the sin in the world, or to listen to other Christian denominations being damned. We found sermons against short skirts merely silly. We disliked the everlasting begging. We doubted the virtue of the missionary idea in such hands. And we objected to the paltry man-made restrictions for women, which struck us as a bit ironical.

So that Bishop Parsons's address to the California Episcopal conference has aroused our interest exceedingly. There is a chance yet that Christians may do Christianity credit. Perchance our children's children will not have to be forever explaining to their children the subtle distinctions between some 100 Christian denominations. It is going to be much easier to be a good Christian in those days.

THE "SINNER"

The guardian stood at the gate-way of heaven
To welcome the friends of his Master and King.
He smiled as the sainted ones entered the portals,
And listened with joy as they started to sing.

Then came there a pilgrim all footsore and weary
Who bowed as he spoke to the guard at the gate:
"I fear you may not think me worthy to enter—
Yet I shall not murmur, whatever my fate.

In the world that I left, many years I have wasted
In the life that was given me under the sun.
I have more regret for the good deeds omitted
Than I have of remorse for the evil I've done."

The watchman looked down, with a smile, on the pilgrim
And, taking his hand in his own, he replied:
"The worst of your sins is your self-condemnation—
And I am placed here not to censure, but guide.

You builded your best with the tools in your workshop;
You acted the role nature gave you to play.
Your talents were few, but your use of them noble;
Your progress was slow—but you came all the way!"
JAMES WARNACK.

INCOME TAXES

Once more the U. S. tax lector is asking me to pay dues, and I'm afraid the rector would grieve to hear words I use; it seems I'm always paying taxes on home and and battle-axes, and high my dignation waxes, and in my I have the blues. I fain help the poor and needy, if I had ample means; I'd give the man who's brand new suit of gabardine I'd gladly make the old brighter, make weary burdens lighter, but that old comes and spills the beans. I poor people 'round me and I would help them if their wailing, they have no or kindling wood; but tax always near me, always ing whatever coin I may catching, their talons withstood. The women always telling of things cannot do without, new for our humble dwelling, chair, a can of kraut; collectors take the money would use to make life spread the daily bread honey, the tax collectors knout. The rector tells heathen people in dreary gions far away, who have church, who have no who have no decent pray; to help such folks more than willing, but with good resolves I'm the tax collector takes ing that I might send Cathay. I'd do much good I am living, I'd make this a brighter place, to all schemes you'd see me with princely zeal and grace, but for the tax snoozers, the heartless financial bruisers, who with the four-line lowers with them iron heels face.

LINCOLN CALLED NATION'S GREATEST POSSESSION

Martyr's Life Declared by Rabbi to Symbolize Frontier Spirit Out of Which Democracy Emerges

"A child of the frontier, embodying the virility and hardiness of his race, a man of common sense and honesty, royal in his democracy and aristocratic in his simplicity, Abraham Lincoln is the most picturesque and poetic character America ever produced," declared Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin in his sermon yesterday at Temple B'nai B'rith.

"No one has the freedom of life will have lost her peculiar quality," said Dr. Magnin. "Democracy springs out of life and is characterized by it. Democracy, European aristocracy, based upon wealth or title, have their day and cease. They are dangerous in this age. They stultify growth, encourage and decay. To be a democrat is not a task for the weak, but splitting rails with lovely hands, tough mental and mental vigor. The earth confers her most precious gifts upon those who labor for them. Prophecy has emanated from regions where the thoroughfares, the busy marts and the silence of the desert, have nurtured the human spirit. Jesus, He who dwells in the desert, could read a legend in the stars, hear blows, wanderers in the vast spaces of the earth come to know God face to face and redeemed a nation. Thus David, the shepherd, sang songs of the fraternity of the fields as sweet as honey, upon which none pure than purest of the lambs redeemed a whole race. His life was a life of open air. He is American in every sense, far more than for material wealth or political power."

ENDURING TEMPTATION INSURES BLESSEDNESS

"The most subtle sin in the world is the sin of wanting to sin," declared Dr. John Snape in his sermon yesterday at Temple Baptist Church.

"No man is guilty of the 'unpardonable sin' who thinks he is guilty of that sin," said Dr. Snape. "If he were guilty of the unpardonable sin, he wouldn't think about it at all, and he wouldn't struggle at all. There is hope for the man who hopes. No promise is there of immunity from temptation, but there is a promised blessedness for the man that endures temptation. It is not a sin to be tempted, it is a sin to yield."

"CHEAP MARRIAGES" SCORED BY PASTOR

"It does not follow, because two persons are good, that they are good for each other," said Dr. Bruce Brown in his sermon on "Marriage," preached yesterday at South Park Christian Church.

"Unless a man and woman are fitted to be friends, it is impossible for them to be happy as husband and wife," said Dr. Brown. "The first step in getting married ought to be getting acquainted, but this is often the last. Cheap marriages don't last long. The couples that slip out of town, between meals, and pay some justice of the peace $2 for a hurry-up job, get about as much satisfaction out of it as a fellow does from a second-hand celluloid collar. There is divine significance and depth of meaning in a marriage ceremony and it should be the most beautiful memory in a woman's life."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON "SOUL"

"Soul" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday in all churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Among the Scripture selections in the lesson-sermon were these exhortations from the Psalms: "O sing unto the Lord a new song: sing unto the Lord, all the earth . . . Honour and majesty are before him: strength and beauty are in his sanctuary. . . . O worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness." "And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us." "Let Israel rejoice in him that made him: . . . he will beautify the meek with salvation."

Correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," presented these statements by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The embellishments of the person are poor substitutes for the charms of being, shining resplendent and eternal over age and decay.

"The recipe for beauty is to have less illusion and more soul, to retreat from the belief of pain or pleasure in the body into the unchanging calm and glorious freedom of spiritual harmony."

ONLY DIVINE POWER HEALS SPIRITUAL ILLS

"The fact that a man suffers from illness does not mean that he is out of touch with God," said Adjt. Frank Howell in his sermon yesterday at Salvation Army Temple. "Some of the world's greatest saints have suffered and been invalids," said Adjt. Howell. "We believe that God can heal today as He always could, but we likewise are convinced that the greatest of all healing is the healing of the soul. God has power to take the virus of sin out of the soul, as He can take the virus of disease out of the body, but it must be borne in mind that only by divine power can we be healed of our spiritual ills."

RABBI FROM OAKLAND TO SPEAK HERE

Birth-Control Conference Will Open With Dinner at Roosevelt Thursday

Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee of Oakland will speak on "The Spirituality of Birth Control" at the mass meeting at Trinity Auditorium next Sunday evening, according to Raymond H. Arnold, executive secretary of the Western States Conference on Birth Control and Population Problems.

The meeting will be given under the auspices of the Western States conference, which opens here Thursday with a dinner at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Rabbi Coffee, a member of the State Board of Charities and Corrections since 1924, in his letter of acceptance to Mrs. Margaret Sanger, chairman of the committee on Federal legislation for birth control, said: "In a way, the spiritual aspect should outweigh all others. If birth control is spiritual, and I certainly believe it is, then our position is doubly assured."

AIR LINE WILL ADD TWO STOPS IN STATE

Beginning March 1 San Diego and El Centro will become regular stops on the Los Angeles-El Paso division of the Standard Airlines, Inc. through a change in routing, according to a company announcement. While recruiting will add approximately 100 miles to the already established 800-mile route the present schedule will not be affected.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

The Left Bank or Latin Quarter of Paris has settled down to its reduced activities of late winter.

Ernest Hemingway sailed recently with Mrs. Hemingway and his two boys for Key West, "to live," says the novelist, "on the coral reefs of Florida until rents in Paris fall." They are planning a visit with Mrs. Hemingway's father in Arkansas, where some quail shooting is promised. Mr. Hemingway gave a small party at his favorite cafe in the Boulevard St. Germain before leaving.

Motoring up from his villa in Nice, Eugene Paul Ullman, the American painter, has arrived on the Left Bank. He and his young wife are stopping for a few days at the Hotel Lutecia before returning south. Phil Phillips, the artist with the color camera, came up with them.

A studio dance given recently by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hersch at their home in the Rue Notre Dame des Champs proved a temporary farewell party, the hosts now having left Paris for the Midi, to stay away until warmer weather. Among those at the dance were Ludwig Lewisohn, author; George Seldes, Mrs. Boyd, American poet, and Mr. and Mrs. William Bandy of Washville, Tenn., the returned bride and bridegroom who have settled in the Invalides region of Paris.

For his promised volume Cheever Dunning, the poet, is busily at work on his verses in fixed form which he intends to call "Crystals." His daily stroll has lengthened to a brisk walk and he now is frequently seen in conversation with one or more of his innumerable friends. He was at the Hersch party.

Leaving this week for Tunis to stay the rest of the winter, Mrs. May, American painter, now is at the Royal Hotel.

The sunshine in Arles draws Ruby Boardman, California poet, from her pleasant retreat in Versailles. She leaves at once for the south.

Again installed in her permanent quarters in the rue Bonaparte is Miss Janet Flanner, just back from a short stay in New York.

Expected from Philadelphia is Miss Helen W. Henderson, well known as the author of "Diane de Poitiers" and that series of travel books in which she loitered around Europe.

Still another new novel is said to be on the way from the pen of Gelett Burgess, who, so Quarter report has it, admits his continued devotion to the cross-word puzzle as a recreation.

The yachting season in England will start earlier than usual this year so that Sir Thomas Lipton's American Cup challenger Shamrock V can be tried against British yachts on the Solent.

The leading Solent clubs will give six days of special racing, commencing May 28. The Shamrock V is expected to take part in all the principal fixtures until the close of Clyde Fortnight, when she will sail across the Atlantic to compete with America for the cup, which will begin September 13.

Lord Egerton of Tatton, who served with the R.N.V.R. during the war, has provided two of the American, Star-class, of-one-design yachts, numerically the largest class in the world and especially popular in American waters, which will make their maiden appearance on the Solent and at other racing centers this season.

An exhibition of modern etchings by American artists opened last week in the Fine Art Society's galleries in New Bond street, London, and will remain open during February.

Mrs. Lily Converse of Philadelphia has six lithographs of trees on view at the Twenty-one Gallery and others can be seen at the Reed & Lefebre Gallery in King street, St. James's and at the Godfrey Phillips gallery in Duke street. Their execution is wonderfully alive and free. Mrs. Converse's lithographs of Egypt now are in the printroom of the British Museum, after being exhibited at Claridge's in May last year. They also were exhibited in Paris.

Lord Beatty last week celebrated the fifty-ninth anniversary of his birth. Since retiring from the admiralty, he has enjoyed a great deal of hunting in the heart of the shires. He bought Dingley Hall, a beautiful old country house near Market Harborough, so as to be near the most famous hunts. Lady Beatty is a daughter of Marshall Field of Chicago and married Lord Beatty in 1901. Their town house is in Grosvenor Square, and they also have the fine estate of Grantully Castle in Perthshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Atherton of Philadelphia were guests at a dinner party given by the Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Matsudaira at the Japanese Embassy in Grosvenor Square last week.

The American Women's Club of London has extended its courtesy to the wives of members of the American delegation to the naval conference.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Winston have arrived in London from Los Angeles and are staying at Grosvenor House, Park Lane.

The President Harrison, world cruising vessel of the Dollar Line, is under way through the Pacific Ocean with a goodly list of passengers, many of whom will visit European ports, some disembarking at Monaco. Among those making the complete globe circuit are A. A. Burnand, Mrs. Greta C. Cook and Miss Virginia V. Cook of San Diego and Mrs. Jane Reidel of Hollywood.

George L. Burdick of Los Angeles, engineer, has arrived in Berlin and is staying at the Hotel Adlon for the moment.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Logel of Los Angeles have been passing some time at the Hotel du Parc in Cannes, France.

At the weekly meeting of the American Women's Club of Vienna, Miss Margaret Whittemore, vice-president of the American National Women's party, spoke on women's rights in connection with the codification of international law by the League of Nations. Among those present were Mrs. Von Echey and Mrs. Julia Dexter of London, who were introduced by Mrs. May Albers of Los Angeles.

Miss Lulu Bocciardo and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kinsley Macomber of Pasadena are passing the winter in San Remo at the Royal Hotel.

Paul Baclop of Los Angeles has arrived in Paris and is staying at the Hotel Commodore.

W. H. Reimer of Los Angeles, who has been traveling along the French and Italian Rivieras, was a recent arrival in Genoa, where he registered at the Hotel Columbia.

Harry Kilby of Los Angeles is in Paris, sojourning at the Hotel Ambassador.

Frank Keith of Los Angeles has arrived in Paris and is staying at the Hotel Saint James et d'Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Merrick of Hollywood have arrived at the Hotel Scribe in Paris from Cap Ferrat, France.

Mrs. Aida Calmi of Los Angeles is now in Berlin. She is staying at the Hotel Adlon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Baker of Los Angeles were among those entertaining at the Savoy Restaurant in London last week. Mrs. Jennie Marx is wintering in Cannes, France, stopping at the Hotel Beau Sejour.

Thomas Baker of Los Angeles has been for some time in Florence, Italy, this winter, staying at the Grand Hotel Baglioni.

Mrs. Madge R. Holton of Los Angeles has been traveling in Austria during the past month. While in Vienna she was a guest of the Grand Hotel.

Miss Renee Bullard of Los Angeles, member of the Vienna Opera, had a great success when she sang songs of Gustav Mahler, Josef Marx and others at a social entertainment in the Federal Chancellery in Vienna last week for charity. The Rose Quartet and leading stars of the Vienna theaters were among the other performers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford F. Ahlers of Los Angeles are among Californians making a cruise of the Mediterranean this winter aboard the White Star liner Laurentic.

Mrs. Sippy Norton of Hollywood has returned to Paris after enjoying the holiday season with friends in Cannes.

Chef Wyman's Recipes

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

SALMON LOAF

One tablespoonful of gelatine, one fourth of a cupful of cold water, the yolks of three eggs, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, three-fourths of a cup of milk, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one large-sized can of salmon, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, a few grains of cayenne pepper, and a seasoning of salt and paprika, soak the gelatine in cold water, beat the egg yolks slightly, add the salt, mustard, cayenne peppez, and the butter, milk and lemon juice, place in a double boiler, and stir constantly, until the mixture thickens, add the gelatine and the salmon that has been drained and flaked; add the parsley, turn into a mold that has been wet with cold water, chill, serve on a bed of crisp lettuce, with a mayonnaise dressing.

POTATO AND ONION PIE

Six medium-sized potatoes, three medium-sized onions, one-third of a cup of butter, a seasoning of salt and paprika, peel and wash the potatoes and cut them into slices, an eighth of an inch thick, slice the onions very thin in rounds, butter a baking dish, place in it a layer of the potatoes, sprinkle with a little chopped parsley; dot with a few pieces of butter, then add a layer of onions, season with salt and paprika, having the last layer of onions on top. Sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs, or a short pie crust, may be put over the pie, bake in a medium oven for one hour.

MEAT LOAF

Four thin slices of bacon, cut in dice, two pounds of ground steak, one-third of a cup of quick cooking tapioca, one small onion, chopped fine, two cupfuls of tomatoes, a seasoning of salt, paprika, and a tablespoonful of finely chopped paraley, cook the bacon, until a golden brown, mix all the other ingredients together, including the uncooked tapioca, mold into a loaf, place in a pan, place in a hot oven for the first fifteen minutes, then decrease the heat and bake thirty minutes longer.

GRAPEFRUIT, PEAR AND CHERRY SALAD

Allow half a grapefruit for each service, scoop out the pulp, and membranes, scallop the shells around the edges, cut the pulp in dice, and add to it an equal amount of pears, cut in dice, add half a cupful of Maraschino cherries, cut in halves, and the same amount of green cherries, season with salt, and one-fourth of a cupful of lemon juice, mix thoroughly, leave in the ice box to chill overnight. Fill to shells with the mixture, place a spiral of mayonnaise on the top and garnish with a red cherry.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday. (All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

Modes of the Moment

by Honore Booth

FASHION EXPERT OF HARPER'S BAZAAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (Exclusive) The seasons change. We have routed the long winter and already in February spring is at the door. Though you may need your fur coat for some weeks yet, you will begin to plan for the vernal season and you may now safely buy for it. Coat lengths, severe problems of a severe winter, will be solved in the choice of a suit. It will be a joy to you to see how youthful are the spring ensembles. A matronly figure becomes less so and a slim one slimmer.

A Flare for Skirts

Some ensembles will have straight skirts, of course, but many will flare. Tucked pleats at the back are jaunty. Seaming may throw the fullness to one side or both, or the center. Many skirts flare from yokes fitted snugly to your hips. In others, gores give a low fullness. They are all longer than they were last year, but have them practical for walking if they are planned for the street.

Skirts are subtle, coats daring. From pert abbreviated jackets to three-quarter princess ones, they run a greater gamut than ever they did in the past. Even the classic tailleur has caught the infection of gaiety and has allowed its classic waist to be nipped in with pin tucks.

Furs and Fabrics

For trimming, galyak in the ascendant, is often an integral part of the scheme. As a scarf (tying any number of ways,) edging of a peplum on coat or skirt, or accenting a three-quarter sleeve.

Silk fabrics are leaders for the southern season for suits, and will be in the North when spring comes to town. In the interim, crepella, wool crepes and the exciting nubby tweeds are perfect.

A LeLong Suit

I saw recently a Lelong suit which embodies many of the most striking spring features. To begin with, it is of jacquard marocain (the jacquard fabrics are a very high highlight for the coming season) in a fine blue and white check. It consists of dress and jacket.

The former has a pronounced peplum from under which come seven or eight deep pleats, throwing the skirt fullness entirely to the back. Its sleeves are long.

The coat has a three-quarter sleeve wider than that of the dress. It blouses above a close-fitted waist and has a peplum with exactly the same line as that of the dress, but several inches longer. The effect is a double peplum. Two bows, at waist and neck, tie the front of the jacket.

Household Suggestions

Faded Dresses

If the color and pattern of the house dress has faded until it just looks rather soiled in color, why not buy some of the dye that is on the market that removes the color entirely and leaves the dress a clean white? You will feel much more comfortable in it.

In the Sewing Room

If you do a great deal of sewing you will find a typewriter chair a splendid bit of equipment for the sewing room. It revolves, thereby letting you have the sewing machine on one side of you and your table on the other with no trouble at all to turn to either. Then it has a particularly comfortable and supporting back to it that will take away that kink you are prone to get now.

Ventilators

Nowadays when we can buy metal ventilators in the five-and-ten-cent store there is no excuse for a house with bad air in it. One ventilator on each floor of the home during the winter months will change the atmosphere without affecting the heating of the home in the least.

For Little Visitors

One woman who has no children of her own has a cupboard drawer where may be found a few story books, blocks and inexpensive toys to amuse the little youngsters who come avisiting. Then she and the child's mother enjoy a nice visit without the youngster becoming restless.

Your Baby and Mi

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, stves and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered by the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

GO EASY WITH FOOD CHANGES

The first rule in the feeding of children is that all new foods must be introduced gradually . . . by degrees . . . slowly! The same rule applies just as forcibly to all changes in the formula. Suppose the baby is accustomed to whole milk. For some good and sufficient reason the mother decides to change his diet to dry or evaporated milk. Or again, a change from lactic acid to sweet milk may be in order. Under any such circumstances the change in the food must be made gradually. Any abrupt change in diet may result disastrously.

Substitute one bottle of the new food for one of the old. In two or three days try another bottle of the new food. Without digestive upset or temper tantrums the baby can be induced to like this new food we are offering him, and in a week or two the new food will reign supreme.

Mrs. T. E. H. wants to change from lactic acid to sweet milk now that baby is 1 year old. She fears too long use of lactic-acid milk will cause rickets. Her baby is likewise sensitive to egg and breaks out if it so much as touches his face. Eating it makes him very ill.

CRUTCH TO DIGESTION

The use of lactic acid in whole milk serves the purpose of helping baby digest this strange food. At 1 year of age baby should need no such crutch to his digestion and for that reason only it is unnecessary to continue the lactic-acid milk. However, there would be no more danger of rickets with lactic-acid milk than with any other milk formula. Rickets comes from constant feeding of a deficient food, as well as from a diet that lacks all the necessary additional foods and the cod-liver oil (or direct sun-

Into the kettle garden fresh

When Heinz tomatoes are fully ripe, off the vines they go—into the ketchup kettles. Kitchens right on the spot capture that fresh taste of sunny gardens—there's no chance for a bit of that precious flavor to escape.

That's why the flavor of Heinz Tomato Ketchup is unmistakable. You recognize it whenever and wherever you taste it.

HEINZ Tomato Ketchup

There's extra flavor in Heinz Oven-Baked Beans—because it's one of the 57.

Health and Diet
ADVICE
by DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

sorption of the bony socket may take place so that the tooth is left without proper support, and it becomes loosened. Of course, most cases are not allowed to progress as far as this and trench mouth usually yields to dental skill if you will only consult your dentist early enough.

The terrific spread of this inflammatory disease is due to the modern diet, which does not build strong enough gum tissue. The gums are not massaged by the chewing of tough, hard foods, as most of the foods on the modern table are soft and slip down easily without much work on the part of the teeth. Once the tone of the gums has been reduced, they lose their resisting powers so that the germs causing trench mouth can readily invade.

In trench mouth, there are usually two organisms present. First, the bacilli fusiformis, with which there is ordinarily associated a spirillum (spirochaete vincenti.) Other predisposing causes may be the malformation of the teeth so that the bite is not correctly placed on the biting surfaces, or a deposit of tartar around the teeth.

If you find that you have developed a case of trench mouth, find a dentist who has an ultra-violet equipment. By using local treatments in the mouth he can destroy the bacteria and clean up the gum tissue for you. He will also have an apparatus with which he injects free oxygen around the gums and this will destroy some of the bacteria. You may also be given some special local medicinal preparation to be placed directly on the infected gums.

It must be remembered that while trench mouth is curable, especially in the early stages, it will stay cured only if your wrong habit of eating are changed to better ones. The diet should be changed immediately so that enough of the fibrous foods, such as raw vegetables and hard toast, are used to give the gums the benefit of the chewing which these foods induce. The food should be predominantly alkaline, so that the systemic acids which have been bathing the gums are neutralized. If you do not know which are the alkaline forming foods I will be pleased to send you an article on this subject if you will write to me, in care of The Times, inclosing a large self-addressed stamped envelope.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES
by THORTON W. BURGESS

A BABY HAS A TUMBLE

You'll often find a sorry deed
Is traceable to naught but greed.
—Old Mother Nature.

Sammy Jay couldn't keep away from that part of the Green Forest where Hooty the Owl and Mrs. Hooty had their nest. He knew he was running a risk every time he went over there. But the idea that anyone could have babies in winter, with snow and ice all about, was something that Sammy couldn't get over. Once he got near enough to that nest while Hooty and Mrs. Hooty were away so that he got a good look at the two baby Owls. He discovered then that of all the bird babies he had ever seen these were the most warmly dressed. They had downy coats that went clear to their toenails. He understood a little better then how it was that they could stand the cold weather.

And such a hungry pair as they were! Sammy soon discovered that Hooty and Mrs. Hooty hunted by day as well as by night. He used to wonder sometimes when they slept. He was shocked many times, was Sammy Jay, when he saw how many little people had been caught and killed that those little Owls might grow.

"They have bad tempers," declared Sammy to Mrs. Sammy. "They fight over their food. You would think there was enough for a dozen babies, but, just the same, they fight over it. Never in my life did I see such cross, greedy youngsters!"

This was quite true. Those babies were short-tempered and they were greedy. However, Hooty and Mrs. Hooty were good providers. It might be hard hunting at that season of the year, but the babies were never allowed to go hungry. The father and mother might go hungry, but the babies never did. Of course, having plenty to eat, they grew rapidly. It was surprising how fast they did grow. When there was a storm of snow or rain their mother kept them covered. Sometimes it seemed as if the worse the weather, the stronger those babies grew. They certainly were a healthy pair.

It happened that one morning Sammy Jay got over there very early. He discovered right away that Hooty and Mrs. Hooty were both away. Those two little owls were fighting over something. Yes, sir, they were quarreling and fighting. It wasn't at all a nice thing to see. Presently one of them, who was a little bit stronger than the other, managed to push the other to the very edge of the nest. Then what do you think he did? It wasn't at all a nice thing. He pushed that other right out of the nest. Yes, sir, he did just that thing. Sammy Jay saw it all.

"They have bad tempers," declared Sammy to Mrs. Sammy

The little Owl who was pushed out fell over backward. He turned over once in the air. He hit against a limb, and before he could grab it with his claws he fell once more. He hit on the broad part of a hemlock limb below. It didn't hurt any, but there was nothing to hold onto. He just slid off. So, flapping his funny little wings, that hadn't feathered out yet, he tumbled on clear down to the ground. He landed with a thump. Sammy wondered if he were hurt. Then he concluded, by the fuss the little Owl was making, that he was more frightened than hurt. Sammy himself was very much excited. He wondered what would happen now. What would Mrs. Hooty do if she came home and found only one baby? Would she go looking for the other? If she found him, would she pick him up and carry him back?

"I've got to stay around," muttered Sammy. "I've just got to see what Mrs. Hooty will do. Yes, sir, I've just got to see. My, my, I would not have missed this for anything! Such tempers as those two young Owls have! I'm glad my youngsters are not so cross. If Mrs. Hooty doesn't take that youngster back up in the tree, Reddy Fox or Old Man Coyote or Yowler the Bobcat will have a chance to try young owl for a dinner."

DOG VICTIM BADLY HURT
Woman Bitten by Airedale Said to Have Fair Chance for Recovery

Mrs. Helen Gillies, 71 years of age, who was ferociously attacked by a large Airedale dog Saturday forenoon, yesterday was reported to have a fair chance of recovering at her home at 419 South Lorena street.

The woman received severe bite wounds in many parts of her body, police stated.

The attack occurred within a few steps of the woman's residence. She was crossing Lorena street, according to the police report, when the dog ran out from a near-by home and leaped upon her. As she fell to the pavement screaming the dog leaped upon her again and again.

H. W. Drake of 1048 South Evergreen street, and C. L. Goodley of 221 South Greenwood avenue, rushed to her aid and drove off the dog. She was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

Police are searching for the dog to fix responsibility for the attack and to have the animal tested for rabies.

PAVING PLEA REFERRED

The City Council has referred to the City Engineer and Public Works Committee the petition for the improvement of Harvard Boulevard from Manchester avenue to Ninety-second street with concrete paving.

Protests Will be Heard Today on Street Plans

The City Council today will take up protests against the improvement of Waterco street from Elsinore street to Sunset Boulevard, of Harper avenue from Willoughby avenue to Melrose avenue, of Curson avenue from Melrose avenue to Beverly Boulevard, of the De Soto avenue and Community-street district, and the establishment of set-back lines in Sixty-first street between Menlo and Vermont avenues, the establishment of set-back lines in Two Hundred Fifty-eighth street from Normandie avenue to the west city boundary, and the establishment of set-back lines in San Fernando Road between the cities of Burbank and San Fernando.

RANGE OF RADIO APTLY PAINTED
Auditors of Three Sermons Outnumber Congregations
Universal Solvent Brought to Nations' Problems
Age-Old Barriers Broken by Modern Communication

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 10:30 a.m., presents: Glenn Hood, "Songbird of the Yosemite," and George Hood, old-time reader. World-wide news at 12:30, 4:30 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Yesterday three sermons broadcast over national networks were listened to by more people than the combined congregations of all the churches in the United States. Radio thus is spreading the Gospel in vivid contrast to the efforts in the old Roman days when Matthew, Mark, Luke and John toiled ceaselessly to gain the ears of a handful of listeners.

In the political, religious and work-day life of this world radio is slowly tearing aside the obstacles of time and space, bringing into bright relief the international dissensions which have been nurtured through the ages through ignorance and lack of contact.

NEW POLITICS

A new technique will be demanded of diplomats and political candidates. Unleashed, radio could be bent to nefarious purposes; properly harnessed, it will be a boon to mankind. From the steppes of hinterland Russia to the sandswept dunes of inner Africa, radio will some day carry messages to peoples until then hemmed in by old-age barriers. Across a common, infinite air table of peace bread will be broken by the peasants and princes of this world—and understanding will replace fear and secret diplomacy.

Nations sentenced to solitary confinement in a geographical sense will emerge into the councils of the world and the air channels will flow brimful with the best thoughts of the world's keenest brains, irrespective of nationality or creed.

MIGHTIER THAN PEN

The surface of radio's capabilities is but scratched and it is fitting that as the pen became mightier than the sword, so today the microphone may prove mightier than the pen.

KHJ, at 11:30 a.m. today will present Irene Beasley, contralto, as the principal soloist in a program by Ann Leaf, organist. Her highlight numbers will be "Orientale," "Dance of the Silver Pool," "Golden Days" and "Kammennoi Ostrow." At 4:30 p.m., "Voices from Filmland" will feature Anita Page and Ukulele Ike in a half-hour of music and song. At 7 tonight KHJ's program director recommends his all-Spanish program as 100 per cent pure Spanish entertainment. At 8 tonight, KFRC's Blue Monday Jamboree will feature a platoon of harmonists players, a dissertation on the theory of relativity by "Pedro" and some uncommon sense from Frank Watanabe.

THIS AFTERNOON

KFI, at 2:30 this afternoon on the Pacific School of the Air, will feature Roland C. Ayres, well-known advertising man. At 6:30 tonight, "The Song of the Snow Maiden" will be sung by Mme. Marie Kurenko, Russian coloratura soprano. She will also sing that old favorite, "The Last Rose of Summer." At 7 tonight, the Rochester Civic Orchestra will feature that most quaint of wood-winds, the bassoon. The "Salut d'Amour" of Sir Edward Elgar is one of the familiar orchestra numbers to be played. At 7:30 tonight the Empire Builders will feature the "Old Pioneer," telling about bank and railroad bandits in the Old West.

KECA, at 3:45 p.m., will hold the dial of club women with a program given by the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

PARIS NIGHTS

KFWB, at 8 tonight will feature the first of a series of "Evenings in Paris" programs. The locale for each of the programs is one of the cabarets or theaters of Paris. At 7:45 tonight the Three Boswell Sisters will hold your dial with fifteen minutes of music and song.

KNX, at 7:30 p.m., will present a comedy skit, "Slow but Sure," while at 9 p.m., Freeman High's Male Ensemble will sing, among other numbers, "Wedding of the Painted Doll," "Singin' in the Rain" and "If I Had a Talking Picture of You."

KMTR, at 7:30 p.m., will feature Loren Lowell's Concert Orchestra and Mildred Ware, contralto, will present classic instrumental and vocal selections, while at 8 tonight the Kelley Kollegians will feature an hour's program of works of Herbert, Rimsky and Gaertner.

Protest Referred to Utilities Board

Complaint by U. S. Oles, 409 Lissner Building, against crowding of street cars, which he asserts is a menace to the public health, "indecent and destructive of the efficiency of workers" who ride on the cars, has been referred by the Health Commission to the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation.

Members of the board took the ground that the complaint is directed against the cars of the Los Angeles Railway Company and that the latter is making considerable effort to remedy conditions.

A CONTINUOUS CENSUS

A new question added to the census questionnaire is whether you own a radio. If the enumerators spend any time discussing radio with the persons to be counted, the work won't be over for another ten years.

DUTIES OF NEW POST FIXED

Duties of the new position of supervisor of community recreation created by the Playground and Recreation Commission, which recently gave Glen Grant of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Hollywood the emergency appointment, have been submitted by Supt. Hjelte and approved by the commission.

The duties are to develop and promote a program of activities by adults and children in various lines of music and art, promote wider use of trails and other outdoor recreation facilities, attention to home play and related work.

The supervisor also will take over supervision of work now handled by Glenn M. Tindall, including harmonica bands, community sings, playground orchestras, ukulele orchestras, mandolin and guitar orchestras, mothers' singing units, chorus units, miscellaneous groups meeting at playgrounds, music assistance to camps, industrial and other divisions.

Tindall will continue to retain control of plans for a music festival, management and leadership of the symphony orchestra of the boys' band, radio programs, a musical survey and scheduling use of the music studio in the Exposition Community Building.

STREET OPENING PLEA FILED WITH COUNCIL

A petition asking for the opening and widening of Alberta street to a uniform width of sixty feet has been filed with the City Council by property owners and referred to the City Engineer and the Street Opening and Widening Committee, and Street Lighting Committee.

Ruling Made on Contracts by School Boards

County Counsel Mattoon yesterday sent to the school board at Compton an opinion which states that school districts can do no business with a member of the board.

It had been asked if a school district could purchase materials from a dealer who is a member of the school board.

PLEA GOES TO COMMISSION

The request of property owners that a pedestrian signal be installed at the intersection of Alvarado and Kent streets has been referred by the City Council to the Police Commission and the Traffic and Street Lighting Committee.

CHAMBER FETE TO SET RECORD

Seven Hundred Reservations Made for Banquet

Affair Will Take Place One Week from Tonight

Willis D. Booth Scheduled as Principal Speaker

With more than 700 reservations made to date, Chamber of Commerce officials said yesterday that this year's annual banquet which takes place at the Ambassador a week from tonight probably will be the largest event of its kind.

Willis D. Booth, New York banker and a former president of the chamber, is regarded as largely responsible for the attention centered on the annual banquet this year, Secretary-Manager Arnoll said yesterday. His address, "Looking Ahead," is being awaited with a great deal of interest here, it is said at the chamber.

Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Lines, will act as master of ceremonies and other speakers will be Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin, who will give the invocation; Prof. Bruce Baxter, who will respond to the toast, "George Washington;" Shannon Crandall, former president of the chamber, who will give the valedictory, and President John O. Austin, who will give his inaugural address and introduce the principal speaker.

The banquet will start with a reception at 6:30 p.m. and the dining-room doors will be opened at 7 o'clock.

OLDEST CAR SHOW RULES BAR DEALER

Sellers and Employers May Not Enter Contest for Ancient Flivvers

Automobile dealers and their employees will not be permitted to enter ancient horseless carriages in the old motor car contest in conjunction with the seventeenth Automobile Show, which opens next Saturday afternoon at the Shrine Auditorium, according to information given out yesterday by Burt Roberts, executive chairman of the Motor Car Dealers' Association. Prizes for the oldest machines will go only to individual owners of antique vehicles.

"Several old motor cars owned by automobile dealers or their employees will be in the display," said Roberts, "but these cars cannot participate in the contest. There is no entrance fee for the old machines."

The rules of the contest are that entrants start on their own power next Friday morning at 10 a.m. from in front of the Coliseum and run to the Auditorium. No car less than twenty years of age will be eligible. The first prize is $100, second $75, and third $50.

REPAIRS REQUESTED

Anna Lee Tilley and a group property owners have filed a request with the City Council to direct that the curbs and property be repaired to its former condition at the site of the improvement of Riverside Drive between Vineland avenue and Sarah street.

GIANT TOY GIVEN PLAYGROUND

Mechanical Set Depicts Krupp Works

Henry Ford Would Approve This

MECHANICALLY minded boys of the Arroyo Seco Playground will have one of the most remarkable toys of its kind to experiment with, beginning today, following the setting up at this playfield of what is reputed to be the largest Meccano set in the world, a gift to the Playground and Recreation Department from Bullock's Department Store.

The huge contrivance, fashioned of steel parts made by a German toy manufacturing company, is an exact replica of the great Krupp iron works in Germany. It is eighteen feet in length, ten in width, and eight in height, and contains more than 200,000 individual parts. It was originally constructed at a cost of $3000.

The layout contains foundries, steel yard, beam sheds, and a huge machine shop in miniature, exactly as in a real factory. Small electric motors operate several overhead traveling cranes, two yard cranes, and a train of cars. Electricity also controls the machine shop and operates a series of drill presses, band saws, lathes, stamping and milling machines and a dynamo. A system of forty globes lights the model, inside and out, and the entire electrical movements are controlled by nine rheostats, centrally located.

According to Director M. C. Sparrow of Arroyo Seco Playground, who aided the boys of the playfield in setting up the outfit, the set will be used for exhibition purposes and to aid in the instruction of the various handicraft classes which are included in the activities of this recreation center.

Italians Will Banquet Envoy

A banquet to welcome Cavaliere Alberto Mellini Ponce De Leon, newly appointed Italian Vice-Consul to Los Angeles, has been arranged for 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Ray West Cafe, 2314 West Seventh street. The Italian Chamber of Commerce has arranged the welcoming dinner.

Active in preparing this testimonial are the chamber's officers, L. Valperga, president; E. Paggi, first vice-president; P. Romoli, second vice-president; Cavaliere John Lopizich, treasurer, and F. Castagnola, secretary.

OKLAHOMANS TO GATHER

Oklahomans will hold their monthly rally next Friday evening at Moose Hall, 1024 South Grand avenue, it is announced by M. K. Hinds, president of the society. The program will be followed by dancing.

AIRPLANE NEWS EXCHANGE

(Into all the interesting and out-of-the-ordinary news of the day finds a place on crowded wires or wires. Every evening The Times conducts a news exchange by airplane. By Western Air Express, T.A.T. and Standard lines papers of current and yester date from pivotal cities are received. Washington, D. C., contributes the Star only two days from the press; Indianapolis and Chicago, thirty-six hours; Kansas City, Salt Lake City and Phoenix are just halfway 'round the clock. Today's gleanings range in subject from, on account of residents of Washington, D. C., being fined for failure to remove snow from their sidewalks, to the story of the Kansas City boy who astonished the goldfish to silence while his father mowed the radio.)

A LAW WE MISSED

Washington (D. C.) Star, Feb. 14.

The city treasury was enriched by approximately $350 yesterday, when a full hundred Danville citizens were fined a total of $3.50 each, including the costs, for failing to remove snow from sidewalks adjacent to their property, as provided by the city ordinance.

All elements appeared before the judge—white and black, rich and poor, young and old. Various excuses were offered, but only two managed to evade paying the fine. The stork had visited the home of one man during the night of the snow, and another thought that a tenant, to whom he had rented a house, had already occupied it, when in reality he had not.

O, MUCH BETTER

Albuquerque Journal, Feb. 14.

A Carlsbad newspaper resents a news story in the Journal referring to it as "no two-bit town." It ought to appreciate being put in the metropolitan class. It's one of the livest and fastest-growing towns that the Journal knows of. Tourists appreciate the advantages the town offers. They willingly pay for real service and first-class accommodations and that's what they get there. It's not a two-bit town by any means, but a real little city that offers the tourist accommodations second to none. So that's that if it sounds better to any critical persons.

GOSH, IF THEY FIX OURS!

Salt Lake Tribune, Feb. 14.

More than a month has elapsed since a serious automobile accident has occurred in Ogden, it was revealed by traffic officers Wednesday. This record has not been equaled in this city for a long time, they declared.

The poor condition of the streets is largely responsible for this lack of accidents, the officers believe. Because of the recent storms, which have left the thoroughfares in bad shape, drivers are slowing their pace, and even though a few minor crashes have been reported, the slowly moving vehicles have prevented serious injuries.

WE SHOULD SAY NOT

Kansas City Times, Feb. 14.

Editor Eagby of the Craig Leader was visited by his father last week, who brought him the following item from the old home town: A man was accused of stealing hogs. He was tried before a jury and there was little evidence against him. He appeared in court dressed like a fashion plate. He also wore spats. The jury took a dislike to the spats and gave him two years in the penitentiary. The moral, says the editor is, "Don't wear spats when you are on trial for stealing hogs."

Chicago Tribune, Feb. 15.

The girl bandit who specializes in the disrobing of taxicab drivers resumed her activities last night when she and her escort robbed Leroy Betker, a taxi driver, of $14 and his trousers after he had driven the pair from Madison and Dearborn streets to 4023 North Spaulding avenue. Betker wrapped a blanket around his legs and drove to his home where he donned another pair of trousers.

CAVES

Phoenix (Ariz.) Republican, Feb. 16.

The Crystal caves, located in Pima county, ten miles southeast of Winkelman, will be reopened Sunday to the public, A. L. Logan, supervisor, said yesterday.

The caves are two miles east of the Mammoth highway in the rolling hills four miles from the Aravaipa Mountains. The place was discovered last April, and after several months of exhibition was closed down to reopen this Sunday.

SILENT IS GOLDFISH

Kansas City Star, Feb. 14.

A Kansas City household recently became the home of a new radio, and while the man of the house was trying to get a distant station the other night, the young son of the family was clattering his toys and chattering noisily.

"Be still you!" yelled fond father, working with the dials.

The boy, thoroughly squelched, walked over to the goldfish bowl, and shaking his finger at the surprised fish, sternly said:

"Yeah, and that goes for you, too!"

Panama is becoming a cross-roads of air transportation for the Americas.

VOTERS NEAR HALF MILLION

Angeles Harbor Assumes Importance as One of World's Trade Marts

Importance of the business relations of Southern California with South and Central America, as well as with the Orient, will be impressed this week with the observation of Foreign Trade Week. Business at the of Los Angeles has increased approximately ten-fold in the past fifteen years and the port has become one of the greatest in the nation, particularly as to Latin-American and Oriental trade. Figures show that since port's business has increased from $88,000,000 to $1,085,000,000, inclusive of ship-fuel oil. In passing the billion-dollar mark in its annual business, the port has become one of the world's most important. Photos below tell story of the port's standing as an export point.

PATHE REVEALS FILM PROGRAM

Thirty Features Slated for Season of 1930

Also 450 Short Subjects on Year's Schedule

Thirteen Million Dollars Estimated Expense

Approximately $13,000,000 will be spent by Pathe this year in producing a program of thirty special features and 450 short subjects, the most extensive schedule of activity in the entire twenty-six years of its existence, it was announced yesterday. The making of program pictures will be discontinued.

According to E. R. Derr, in charge of production, this means that the Pathe studios in Culver City will have no idle periods during the next twelve months. It further substantiates the denial of a merger between Pathe and R.-K.-O.

CUSTOM CHANGED

Pathe has arranged its production period into three groups of ten features each. The titles and stars of the first group have just been announced and similar information on the remaining groups will be forthcoming as soon as each preceding schedule is completed.

"In deviating from the customary system of announcing a complete schedule at the beginning of the year, Pathe will be in a position to take advantage of any plays or stories that prove sudden or sensational successes and to produce and distribute them while they are riding the wave of public popularity," says the announcement.

COMEDY VILLAGE

"Fully $250,000 will be expended immediately in improvements and new facilities for the production of the fifty-two two-reel comedies which will be filmed by Pathe at its West Coast studio this year instead of in New York. The entire comedy organization under the direction of John C. Flinn, is being moved out here from the East.

"New sound projection rooms and executive offices are being rushed to completion and a large number of permanent exterior and interior sets for the exclusive use of the comedy units are being erected."

WIDENING ORDER ADOPTED

The general ordinance ordering the widening of Orchid avenue from Franklin avenue to Hollywood Boulevard has been adopted by the City Council.

PLAYGROUNDS USED NIGHTS

Count Shows Evening Patrons of Recreation Parks Fair Fraction of Total

In a survey of attendance at the nineteen Los Angeles playgrounds which have lighting facilities, it has been found that 8790 persons made use of the facilities at night during a period of one week, according to a report by Supt. Hjelte to the Playground and Recreation Commission, which sought the information as an indication as to whether others of the thirty-nine playgrounds in the city should be lighted. Hjelte reported that the total attendance at the nineteen playgrounds, both day and night, was 76,485 for one week, showing the nightly attendance is approximately 12 per cent of the total.

Salvation Army Woman Officer Taken by Death

Mrs. Headley V. Jones, one of the best-known women officers of the Salvation Army, died at St. Vincent's Hospital early yesterday morning. She was the wife and co-worker of the former Commandante of the Temple, 832 West Ninth street, now under command of Adjt. Frank Howell. Their work recently was in the Pasadena Temple.

Mrs. Jones was born in the Province of Quebec forty-four years ago and was married in Canada twenty years ago. She leaves her husband and four children, Yukon, born while his parents were stationed in the Yukon, eighteen years ago; Lily, 16; Marjorie, 14, and Claire, 10.

PARTNERSHIP ENLARGED

The legal firm of Holbrook, Taylor & Tarr, with offices in the Title Insurance Building, announces today the association in partnership of Attorney Joseph Kurtz Horton, specialist in mechanics' liens and insolvency law. Mr. Horton's grandfather, Dr. Joseph Kurtz, was a pioneer physician. His father, R. L. Horton, is an attorney.

The Little Black Box

Capt. Stensland's device shows up peculiarities of face of artifacts beyond mistaking.

MORE than one lawbreaker has had his doom spelled out on the wall through the medium of a little black box in the office of Capt. Norris Stensland, head of the Sheriff's robbery-and-burglary detail.

The little black box is a baloptical machine, resembling somewhat in appearance and operation a stereoptical machine or magic lantern. In his many years of service in the Sheriff's office Capt. Stensland has given much study to lawbreakers and the baloptical machine now is an integral part in his crime-detecting activities.

The machine by means of a 500-watt light and reflectors reflects pictures or articles on a screen in any desired size. Its use in reproducing handwriting and fingerprints on an enlarged scale practically eliminates the necessity of microscopes. The machine and screen may be transported anywhere and documentary evidence and peculiarities of small articles, such as watches, knives and guns, brought out to an advantage.

In addition, a vis-a-film machine using rolls of films of convicts and wanted persons is used by Stensland's office to aid victims and officers in making identifications, displacing the old method of thumbing through heavy volumes of pictures.

COMMUNIST'S NEW TRIAL MOTION WILL BE HEARD

Convicted by a jury of interfering with police officers who were attempting to arrest Mrs. Lillian Silverman, Communist, while she was attempting to break up an antisovviet meeting at 2111 Brooklyn avenue on January 3, last, Aaron Feinberg, Communist residing at 529 1-2 North Cummings street, will appear before Municipal Judge Bogue this morning on a motion for a new trial. If the motion is denied he will be sentenced immediately.

Laibe Shapiro, 916 North Soto, convicted by a jury of violating the city handbill ordinance by distributing Communist literature on the Plaza on January 4, last, was fined $50 by Judge Bogue recently. His attorney filed notice of appeal on which the court set $50 bail.

Frank Spector, 2719 Folsom street, local secretary for the Communist party of America, was found not guilty of blocking the sidewalk, while addressing a Communist meeting attacking the Mexican government in the Plaza on January 4, last.

SERVICES HEARD BY ALL RACES

Cosmopolitan Meeting of Methodist-Episcopal Men Held at Plaza Center

Representatives of practically every race in Los Angeles gathered in the chapel of the Plaza Community Center yesterday afternoon to hear addresses by Methodist-Episcopal leaders and a musical program, sponsored by the Methodist-Episcopal men's movement.

Dr. Bert Edwards Smith of Chicago, executive secretary of the men's movement, introduced speakers, including Dr. Alonzo K. King, negro pastor; Dr. Carlis P. Hargraves, Sunday-school secretary of the Methodist-Episcopal church; Dr. E. M. Sein, pastor of the Plaza Community Center; Manuel Jaramillo, mayor of the Spanish-American Institute in Gardena; Dr. A. C. Stevens, Governor of the institute; W. T. Gilliland, superintendent of the Plaza Community Center, and Vernon M. McCombs, D. D., superintendent of the Latin-American mission.

Mario Cappelli, former member of the Vatican choir, and a girls' chorus from the Francis De Pau Industrial School of Hollywood, provided musical numbers. Francisco Quintanilla, former Mexican bandit, offered prayer at the start of the afternoon services.

Speakers stressed the point that the men of churches are charged with the task of carrying on and furthering Christian ideals.

Approximately 300 persons attended the cosmopolitan gathering. English addresses were translated by Dr. Sein into Spanish.

LAST RITES FOR PIONEER OF CITY SET

Mrs. Della E. Potter to Be Buried Today From Church She Founded

Funeral services for Mrs. Della E. Potter, Los Angeles pioneer, who died Saturday on the eve of her seventy-sixth birthday, will be conducted at 10:20 a.m. today at the First Baptist Church, Leeward and Westmoreland avenues, of which she was one of the founders. Interment will be in Rosedale Cemetery.

Mrs. Potter was born in [illegible], O. She came here in 1874 with her husband, the late A. C. Potter, former deacon of the First Baptist Church. The couple settled at Eighth and Figueroa streets, the vicinity later being known as Potter Park.

Mrs. Potter leaves one daughter, Mrs. Frederick T. Woodman, wife of a former Mayor of Los Angeles, with whom she made her residence at 514 Shatto Place.

Liquor "Plant" Arrests Made

John W. Fahey of 10733 Charnock Road, Culver City, and George J. Coleman of 647 Pickford street, Whittier, assertedly picked the wrong time to move liquor from a "plant" in Carthay Center.

Officers Rudolph, Barnes, Jordan and Kurtz reported seeing the two men drive in the back yard of a home at 1905 Shenandoah street at 9:30 p.m. and, after working for a half-hour, remove sixty one-gallon jugs of moonshine whisky from a "plant" in the ground and place it on their truck.

In Municipal Judge Curtis's court, Fahey pleaded guilty to possession. When he admitted the two prior convictions charged by Detective Lieutenant Caldwell, Judge Curtis sent him to jail for 120 days and imposed a $1000 fine. Coleman was granted until this morning for plea.

Nurses Institute to Open Today

Elnora E. Thomson, professor of applied sociology of the University of Oregon, is here to conduct an institute for executive and supervising public health nurses. The institute is being sponsored by the California State Organization for Public Health Nursing and will be held at the Los Angeles Nurses' Club, 211 South Lucas street, from today to Wednesday.

Forty-six public health nurses from all over Southern California have registered for the session. The institute will be repeated in San Francisco for northern nurses.

Miss Thomson is vice-president of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing.

Developments in Glab Case Hint Arrests

Developments today in the reopened Glab murder case investigation may result in murder complaints being issued against two suspects, according to Capt. Cato of the homicide detail. He has requested a conference with Dist.-Atty. Fitts to discuss new evidence that has been uncovered in the murder of John R. Glab, June 18, 1928.

The District Attorney may order the cesspool under the patio of the Glab premises drained in a search for the gun which the police believe was used in the murder. Whereabouts of Mrs. Glab and her niece, Miss Ethel Kaser, are unknown to the police, although the widow's lawyer telephoned during the week and offered to produce her if she is wanted. Capt. Cato asserted he did not wish to talk to Mrs. Glab at this phase of the investigation.

Judge Fines Twin's Client

Municipal Judge Bush is not practicing law while presiding in traffic court, Mrs H. F. Rogers of Huntington Park discovered.

Appearing as Judge Bush was about to leave the bench Mrs. Rogers, disregarding court attaches, approached the bench. "Mr. Bush, I'll plead guilty to that charge of passing between two other automobiles on Alameda street," she said.

"What's this," demanded Judge Bush. "Who are you?"

"I'm Mrs. Rodgers and you're my attorney," was the answer.

"But my dear madam, I don't practice law. I'm a judge."

"Aren't you Eli Bush?" Mrs. Rogers asked.

Judge Bush smiled. "That explains it, Eli Bush is my twin brother," he said. "If you want your plea of guilty to stand the fine will be $2."

Mrs. Rogers paid.

Taxpayers Get Setback in Suit

Superior Judge Gates sustained three demurrers against the injunction suit brought by taxpayers to block the assessments for the widening and paving of Manchester avenue. it appears from records of the Superior Court, but he gave the plaintiffs, suing as taxpayers, leave to amend.

The defendants intimated that a new petition will be filed this week.

About $250,000 worth of assessments is attacked in the suit, which asserts that the city omitted necessary condemnation proceedings and assessed property owners unequally.

Masquers' Club to Aid Gambol

The Masquers' Club yesterday added its support to the sixth annual gambol of the Catholic Motion Picture Guild. Two acts, especially written and staged for the gambol, will represent the Masquers at Philharmonic Auditorium Wednesday evening.

The casts will include Gaston Glass, Robert Graves, Little Billy, Sam Hardy, James Eagles, James Bradbury, Sr., and Paul Nich[illegible].

Boy Will Regain Mother's Care

Spending $75 a month on a boy to keep him in military school comes under the head of "luxurious indulgence," according to a decision of Superior Judge Guerin.

Judge Guerin ordered James P. McMickens to pay Mrs. Eva McMickens $50 a month for the support of their son.

"What a boy of 9 needs is not military training, but a mother's care," the court added.

THREE HELD ON CHARGES OF ROBBERY

Trio Believed Members of Quartet Who Held Up Man in San Francisco

Believed by police to be three of a quartet of bandits who held up R. W. Viverr of 382 Nineteenth street, San Francisco, in the northern city on the 11th inst. and responsible for the attempted robbery of the Triangle Theater at 842 South Main street, and several local hold-ups, Louis A. Roach, 20 years of age, Harrison R. Williams, 21, and Earl A. Harrison, 19, were arrested early yesterday morning.

They are held on suspicion of robbery. The arrests of Roach and Harrison were made at 1019 Overton street several hours after Detective-Lieutenant Sperry of the Central robbery squad had discovered what he said was Viverr's automobile parked at the rear of the address.

Roach and Harrison, detectives said, admitted arriving here from San Francisco a few days ago. Both have been tentatively identified, according to the detectives, in the attempted hold-up of the theater cashier, and in the robbery of S. S. Bryant in a gasoline service station at 1703 West Ninth street on the same night.

Detective-Lieutenants Sanborn and Kirk took Williams into custody later at his home at 1301 West Tenth street. Williams, the detectives stated, confessed the local robberies and implicated Roach and Harrison.

The arrest of the fourth man, who completes the quartet of suspects who drove here from San Francisco in Viverr's automobile, is expected today.

COURT AGAIN TO SET TRIAL OF JEFFRIES

Sandwich-Vending Device Promoter Faces Charges of Fraudulent Deal

Trial of the case of Elmer B. Jeffries, head of the Jeffries Automatic Service Company, vendors of automatic sandwich machines, is scheduled to be set for trial today by United States District Judge McCormick. The case was continued last week upon request of Asst. U. S. Atty. Redwine.

At one time the case came to trial. The charges against Jeffries were then dismissed upon a demurrer on the last day before the statute of limitations would intervene, but this order was later vacated by United States District Judge Pollock and the case again ordered set for trial.

Accused with Jeffries are three associates, George M. Petitt, Herbert G. Danforth and Dwight L. Seymour. The four are accused of defrauding about 11,000 persons out of thousands of dollars in promoting the Jeffries concern.

COMEDY OF CRAVEN IS COLORFUL

Star of "Salt Water," Gay Seabrooke and Others Aid Show's Merriment

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Quoting from Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie" that "ol' davil sea" is at work again, and this time he generates most of the troubles that occur in "Salt Water," a comedy, starring Frank Craven, which is just now to be seen on the stage at the Hollywood Playhouse.

Mr. Craven is presented by Henry Duffy in "Salt Water," and another important star is thus added to the footlight constellation which this producer has recently proffered. The redoubtable hero of "The First Year," "The Nineteenth Hole" and other plays known, is again cast in a familiarly husbandish role, though, in this instance, the setting of his ill-timed domestic adventures is different.

"Salt Water" written by Dan Jarrett, is about maritime affairs, as you might deduce from the title. Its leading character comes from a seafaring family, and he has the yen to captain a boat, but neither the means nor the appropriate opportunity to fulfill his ambition. In order to approach the desired goal he even essays to sell peanuts and popcorn aboard an excursion steamer.

This is all talked about in the play. The actual plot concerns the wife's investment, apparently ill-timed, in a ferry line. This speculative business enterprise is engaged in by her without her husband's knowledge, and as it involves the whole of their savings, the results, as it turns out, are temporarily disastrous (in a rather humorous way) to the family happiness.

The most spectacular highlight of the piece is the crashing of the ferry boat against the creaky old pier, which occurs off stage as the climax of the second act. The boat itself is then duly demolished by the explosion of the boiler. And Craven on the stage supplies plenty of additional fireworks, when he discovers that unknown to himself, he is the owner of the craft, and liable for damages. In the excitement over the whole catastrophe he turns his wife out of the house, and just as quickly he wants her back again.

"Salt Water" is a very lightweight comedy. Indeed, it would not be much of a comedy at all were not Craven present as its star, and were he not well aided and abetted in the humorous phases of the play by Gay Seabrooke, that inevitably amusing baby-voiced comedienne, who plays his wise-cracking sister.

The play lacks vitality in situations, however, there are many amusing passes in the talk that wins the laughter and the character drawing increases the tone of merriment. In addition to Mr. Craven and Miss Seabrooke, there is some excellent fun afforded by the portrayal of Cyril Delevanti as the freightboat owner who is trying to unload his old hulk, the Barracuda, on the somewhat gullible Mr. Horner, played by Craven. That name Horner, particularly as it is John Horner, probably has a small iota of significance in itself.

Pauline MacLean, Charlotte Stevens, Robert Lawler, Philip Morris, Byron Hawkins and Lowden Adams are other principals, Miss McLean appearing as the wife, and doing the part with commendable naturalness.

"Salt Water" is very picturesquely staged. Indeed, the scenic background is of material value in giving the happenings in the plot an air of reality, while Craven himself is eminently dependable in securing a large response of laughter in the brighter moments from his audience.

Miguel Fleta to Appear at Philharmonic

Fresh from European and South American successes, Miguel Fleta, one of Spain's foremost operatic tenors, will appear tonight at the Philharmonic Auditorium in his first American concert outside of New York City. Although his name is unfamiliar to most people in the United States, Fleta has had the distinction of being picked by the Metropolitan Opera Company to succeed the late Enrico Caruso. During the season of 1921-22 he made his debut there and immediately won acclaim which was more than duplicated the following season.

Million Dollar Theater Books "Night Ride"

With life guards watching every minute of the time, Edward G. Robinson, a well known actor, spent three days in the Pacific Ocean off Los Angeles Harbor during the making of the thrilling scenes which work up to the climax of "Night Ride," unusual newspaper picture, which comes to the Million Dollar Theater Wednesday.

"Night Ride" contains fast dramatic action, it is said, and is a picture of the newspaper game at its best and worst, with Schildkraut in the role of a reporter who, a few minutes after his wedding, is marked for death. Barbara Kent has the role opposite Schildkraut and provides the romantic interest. John S. Robertson directed.

Actor to Take Footlight Bow

Another of the cast of "Lummox" will appear on the stage at the United Artists' Theater tonight in the person of William Collier, Jr., young actor featured in the production.

The long search for an actor with the required personality and voice to create the character of Wally Wallenstein was ended with the selection of young Collier, it is said. The role of the handsome young husband whose wife attempts to turn him against his own mother was one of the most difficult he has ever been called upon to fill, Director Brenon is said to have declared.

Civic Repertory Opens New Play

Marion Clayton

Who portrayed a leading role in "And So To Bed," has been entrusted with an important part in "A Bill of Divorcement," which starts tonight at the Music Box Theater in Hollywood.

UNUSUAL FILM ANNOUNCED

"Men Without Women," Fox Movietone production, which is said to have created wide interest in New York, will follow "Anna Christie" into the Criterion Theater on March 6, according to an announcement.

"Men Without Women" was directed by John Ford. The new picture, which has been rated by several critics as among the eleven best screen productions of all time, is said to be unusual in its stark realism and dramatic power; well balanced with good humor and laughs, and to contain dialogue which is real and vivid.

The story was written by James K. McGuinness and Dudley Nichols, two newspaper men. The cast is headed by Kenneth MacKenna, Frank Albertson and Paul Page.

ENGLISH STRING PLAYERS EXCEL

Concerts Over Week-end Called Instrumental and Orchestral

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Concerts over the week-end included two notable programs of the London String Quartet which is playing in Pasadena in a series of four concerts in the music room of Mrs. H. A. Everett; a pianistic debut by Rina de Liguoro, which was pretentious but not justified; and an extremely popular program of the Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Dr. Arthur Rodzinski in the interests of those "who like what they know," to paraphrase a well-known bromide.

The Londoners, who are John Pennington, first violin; Thomas Petre, second violin; Philip Saimton, a violist new to the quartet, and C. Warwick Evans, violoncello, are giving a survey of "chamber music from Haydn to Hindemith." The first two programs last Thursday and Saturday evenings, consisted of the Haydn Quartet in B flat major, Mozart in D minor, and three Beethoven quartets; G major Opus 18, E minor, Opus 59, and B flat major, Opus 130. The British players are all excellent musicians and their interpretations of the well-loved claiso quartets meet with warm approval from the most exacting. The Coleman Chamber Concert group deserves especial commendation for presenting them in this way. In this, an ideal chamber music series, Los Angeles would do well to profit by the example. The quartet is outstanding in its authority and in the poetry and beauty of its interpretations. It is one of the ranking organizations of the world.

The London String Quartet has not yet settled itself into a homogeneous whole, however. The comparatively new first violinist, John Pennington, is a young man with gifts for fine violin playing, but his difficulty in submerging himself in an ensemble is only too apparent. Due to the changes in personnel in the last few years, the London String Quartet is not as smooth sounding as before and with a certain gain in virility and new ideas it has temporarily lost desirable finish.

Miss Calista Rogers' svery intelligent annotations to the programs added to their interest.

Another Saturday evening concert did not rank so high in music annals. Countess di Luguoro, a charming young Italian actress with distinguished friends in the music and picture world, was illy advised to give a piano recital at the Philharmonic Auditorium. Extreme nervousness which made her memory play tricks with her and the fact that she has not the technical equipment necessary to face a critical audience, made the presentation of Countess Liguoro by Impresario Behymer a pathetic affair. The lady is a painstaking amateur whose playing would be quite acceptable in a drawing-room.

'Latest Murder' to Reveal New Drama Thrills

Amusement lovers who are partial toward mystery plays, underworld and police stories, will welcome the Pacific Coast premiere of "The Latest Murder," is is said, which opens for a limited engagement of two weeks at the Figueroa Playhouse—Friday evening.

The story of "The Latest Murder" gives promise of a new mystery riddle, portrayed in a satirical manner by Dudley Ayres, Theodor Warfield, Del S. Lawrence, Ben Erway, Lydia Knott and Rhea Del Ruth.

Sophistication Attractive in Vajda Drama

BY JACOB COOPER

All the flavor of Continental Europe pervaded the play by Ernst Vajda, which was given a performance in the German language at the Windsor Square Theater by the Neuhaus German Theater.

The sophistication of "Grounds for Divorce" was not of the sodden kind that finds its way to the stage from the pens of less deft writers than Mr. Vajda of Hungary. In this play there is an almost childish simplicity woven in the outer worldliness of the characters.

Walter Bonn, who played the part of a Budapest lawyer—a "divorce specialist"—exemplified this undertone of simplicity. The great lawyer, who has conducted so many divorce cases so successfully, becomes involved in head-splitting (and likewise, side-splitting) marital entanglements and disentanglements in his own home.

The play itself was brilliantly written. There was a scintillation to the lines which kept the audience tittering. But the author must have been a little too conscious of his art in this direction, for he showed a tendency toward lengthy dialogues which, though scintillating in themselves, otherwise halted the sparkling progress of the play.

The star on this occasion was Fern Andra, and, whether by design or accident, this American-born actress was cast in the role of the lawyer's American wife. Her English accent and sometimes apparent effort to articulate some of the stauncher Germanic words left a question as to whether it meant a hindrance to her style or was just all in the play.

The finest characterization was that given by Costea Mooth as the friend of the family. Others who largely helped to bring things to an intriguing denouement were Gerda Mann, Eva Gordon, Fritz Steffani, Anders Von Haden, Greta Von Rue and Gretl Wickersham.

Gerhart Hauptmann's "Der Bibrepeis" is promised as the next offering of this group on March 7.

ACRESS GOES NATIVE

Kay Francis is the latest of Paramount's players to go native. She lends her charms and recognized sartorial splendor to "Let's Go Native," the rollicking musical comedy and romance in which Jeanette MacDonald, James Hall, Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher and William Austin appear.

Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation has purchased the screen-talking rights to "Blow the Man Down," novel by Thomas Broadhurst, playright, novelist and theatrical manager.

VINE STREET PREMIERES "NUT FARM"

Shirley Mason, Gloria Grey and Robert Treacy Enact Chief Roles

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

The good burghers of Hollywood turned out last night to see themselves as another saw them, the occasion being the premiere of a play entitled "The Nut Farm," by John C. Brownell. What they actually saw was a nondescript, second-rate comedy which, if ever it held the miror up to nature, was so sicklied o'er with a pale cast that it reflected images hardly at all. Intrinsically "The Nut Farm" is not a good play; the most that can be said for it is that it has its moments.

The playwright has divided his action into three acts, and called them, respectively, "The Plowing," "The Sowing" and "The Harvest." This imposing trilogy has to do with the efforts of one Hamilton T. Holland, a spurious producer, to fleece one Bob Bent out of $30,000, the bait being a motion picture which will make Bent's wife, Helen, one of the greatest stars in the world —"if not the greatest." To complicate matters further, Helen's brother Willie nurses a few private aspirations of his own—succinctly stated, to become a great director.

As it turns out, the picture is produced—as a drama. And, as a drama, nobody wants it. It is only when Mack Sennett, the comedy king, takes a look at it that he recognizes "Scorching Passions" as one comedy in a million. Thereafter Willie, like a certain Merton of fond memory, becomes the fair-haired boy of Hollywood. Emerson Treacy plays him—and plays him so well that while he is on the stage, Mr. Brownell's agricultural diversion is imbued with a winsome humanness it could never have revealed in manuscript.

The cast, by and large, is acceptable enough. Gloria Grey is entitled to considerable credit for making the movie-mad wife at least credible, Shirley Mason for a charming appearance in a role that gives her nothing to get excited about. Frank Mayo for a properly villainous aspect as the crooked promoter, and Arthur Lovejoy for a humorous if highly exaggerated portrait of a "scenarist." The others are Lloyd Taylor, Frankie Raymond, Eleanor Bronson, Forrest Taylor and Louis Fitz Roy.

Mr. Brownell evidently set great store by the climax to his second act. The fact that it is hauled in by the ears is perhaps beside the point, for I distinctly heard laughter all around me. The climax, which incidentally provides the best excuse of the name of the piece (in its slangy implication,) shows the various dramatic personae putting on a scene from "Scorching Passions" within the confines of a surprised Hollywood bungalow. Thus, one of the players impersonates a whirling dervish, another a troop of cavalry, another a band of Bedouins, another a horse—that is probably the most successful of them all, thanks to the realistic neighing of the actor—altogether a diverse and unique spectacle which would startle an uninformed visitor out of what I can confidentially define as a year's growth.

But the really comedy of Hollywood is still to be written.

CELEBRATED PLAYER IN NEW FILM

George Arliss Stars in "Green Goddesss" Coming to Warner Theater

George Arliss in the Vitaphone production of his noted play, "The Green Goddess," will open an engagement at Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood Friday.

When the Vitaphone version of "The Green Goddess" was completed recently at the Warner studio, George Arliss rounded out 1210 performances of the piece. This melodrama of the Far East is one of his best known vehicles. He appeared in it in the United States and England for several successive seasons.

Alfred E. Green directed this screen version and Arliss is supported by a popular cast, including Alice Joyce, H. B. Warner and Ralph Forbes. Nigel De Brulier, well known for his unusual character studies, also plays an important role.

Leo McCarey to Direct for Fox

Regarded as one of the most successful directors of comedy film productions Leo McCarey now intends to achieve the same degree of success in a new avenue—that of tense drama. Announcement has been made that McCarey has been signed to direct "Road House," an original story by Philip Hurn.

Richelieu's War Genius

I have said that Louis was military: from the childhood when he ranged little toy silver regiments and harnessed toy guns to dogs, the last great day before Perpignan. I have said that Richelieu was essentially a commander. Well, the two men having this one capital national quality in common, though very differently exercised in each, were linked by it. They were both, at heart, soldiers.

Louis XIII would never have made a good general officer; Richelieu would not only have made one of the best general officers in history, but did in practice act as a general officer of the highest talent; and if he had been called emperor instead of cardinal, the whole world would see it.

Louis XIII could never have swept over a mass of detail with his eye, choosing the exact instant in which to plant the blow, to fall on the defensive, or to retire, organise, and triumph through organization. He could not ever have handled great numbers of men.

Richelieu had all those qualities. But both men differing so vastly in the degree of their military talent, were military to the core and therein is found the true point of contact between them.—[Belloc's "Richelieu."

WOMAN SOUGHT IN NEW FRAUD

Trial Airs Tale of Fleecing Laid to Emily Peterson

Suit on Deed Cancellation Causes Forgery Plea

Court Holds Fictitious Use of Name Voids Deal

Another transaction in high financing asserted to have been perpetrated by Emily C. R. Peterson, sometimes called a female "Ponzi," now a fugitive from justice, where'n she is accused of fleecing three persons in a land deal, has come to light in the trial of a civil suit before Superior Judge Yankwich.

EMILY C.R. PETERSON

The suit was brought by Winifred M. Bathey against Miss Peterson, Camir Jaussaud, Louis C. and Mary Posty to cancel a deed Miss Bathey made to Jaussaud, and a deed of trust he made to the Postys. Judgment was entered in favor of Miss Bathey.

NAME FICTITIOUS

Miss Bathey testified she met Miss Peterson in the spring of 1927. She owned a lot in Venice which Miss Peterson agreed to sell. On July 14, 1927, Miss Peterson told her, she testified, that she had found a buyer, a Casimir Jaussaud, who agreed to pay $2300 for the property.

The deal was to be made by giving Miss Bathey a deed of trust executed by Jaussaud to Louis C. and Mary Posty on another piece of property.

The transaction was completed and Miss Bathey paid Miss Peterson a commission of $115. From July, 1927, to February, 1928, Miss Peterson paid, presumably for Jaussaud, who later proved to be a fictitious person, the sum of $175 to Miss Bathey. As part of the same transaction whereby the property of Miss Bathey was transferred to "Jaussaud" a deed of trust in the name of the fictitious "Jaussaud" was executed to the Postys for $3000. The Postys actually paid Miss Peterson $2300 for the deed of trust, on which, up to April, 1928, they had received back $750.

It appeared at the trial that Jaussaud was a fictitious person, that he did not have title to the property on which the deed of trust was given to the Postys. The Postys never claimed the deed of trust and testified in court they had never signed the transfer to it. They said th'r signatures on it were forgeries.

WOMAN DISAPPEARS

Miss Peterson disappeared in April, 1928, according to the court records, and is now a fugitive, having been indicted by the grand jury for forgery.

In court the Postys held that they had acquired the deed of trust in good faith and without knowledge of criminal acts of Miss Peterson. Judge Yankwich, however, decided that, it appearing that Jaussaud never accepted the deed and that it never was delivered to him, the deed to him, from Miss Bathey, was void; therefore, the Postys could acquire no right from an asserted deed of trust made by Jaussaud to the property.

TRANSACTION VOID

"Ordinarily," ruled Judge Yankwich, "an innocent purchaser for value from one who appears to be the record owner will be protected against any claim not of record. But this rule applies only to transactions which are merely voidable. Where the transaction by which the first transfer was made is void the rule does not apply.

"I am satisfied that all names used were forged by Miss Peterson and that the deed was made to a fictitious person. Such a deed is a nullity under the law. The rule is that while a person may acquire property under a fictitious name, property cannot be conveyed to a fictitious person. A deed to such a grantee had been designated in the deed. The reason for the rule is that, by the very nature of a deed, there must be a grantee to whom delivery is made and in whom the title can vest.

"This is a case," Judge Yankwich concludes, "where the parties before the court were all victims of the criminal acts of another. It is to be regretted that either should suffer a loss. But there is no escape from the conclusion reached. The Postys will have to resort to proceedings against Miss Peterson when she is brought to justice, which I hope, will not be long delayed."

SICK MAN STRANGLES SELF WITH MUFFLER

Suspending himself from a shelf by a silken scarf, Robert Passtor, 24-year-old mechanic, early yesterday ended his life in the bathroom of his home, 920 South Hobart Boulevard, after a prolonged period of ill health. His body was found when officers were called to the home by the dead man's sister, Mrs. Margarite Flanery, when she was unable to open the bathroom door. The body was removed to the County Morgue.

JOLSON'S WIFE TO BE NEW LEADING LADY

Ruby Keeler

Ruby Keeler, who is Mrs. Al Jolson, has just signed to play Jolson's leading lady in his next film, a black-face story as yet untitled.

Mrs. Jolson is not going back to the footlights, for a time at least, and will remain with her husband in Hollywood, it was announced yesterday. This will be her first appearance in pictures.

Jolson's new story is being written by L. G. Rigby and Harold Attridge. The latter has written a number of Jolson's stage plays. Darryl Zanuck and Robert Crawford, head of Warner Brothers music department, have seven teams of music writers composing songs for the story.

Thief Takes Nickel Bank

A fingerprint left on a silver spoon may be the means by which the police will identify the thief who broke into the home of A. T. Doke at 331 East One Hundred and Eighth street early yesterday morning and stole a child's bank containing 5 cents. Officers found the spoon on top of the buffet where the burglar had rummaged for valuables. He took nothing but the bank.

Youth Dead of Gunshot Wound

Tyrel Muldey, 17 years of age, of 605 North Lafayette Park Place, died yesterday in General Hospital from gunshot wounds believed to have been received while hunting at Dry Lake, near Lancaster.

Hospital attendants said the youth was brought in for treatment Saturday night by persons who stated he had been injured in that manner. The Sheriff's office, having received no further information, is conducting an investigation.

AUTOIST SENTENCED; WINE TONIC BLAMED

Two bottles of wine tonic and an automobile, according to testimony in Municipal Judge Valentine's court, brought Shelby Jackson, barber of 943 Albany street, a sixty-day jail sentence, imposed after Jackson had been found guilty of reckless driving. Officers declared they saw Jackson's car swerve just in time to miss one driven by K. Doi, at First street and Central avenue. They commandeered Doi's machine and pursued Jackson through alleys and around corners to Fourth and Spring streets, where Jackson's car crashed into a Los Angeles Railway emergency truck. Two witnesses declared Jackson had been drinking. Following his arrest, the defendant admitted drinking wine tonic, officers said.

BOY HAS THRILLING TIME CHRISTENING NAMESAKE

To Forbes Hauptman, 4-year-old son of George Hauptman of Los Angeles, went the honor of christening his own namesake, the 580-ton steamer Forbes Hauptman, a new entry in the intercoastal fleet of the McCormick Steamship Company. Mr. Hauptman is a director of the line.

The ceremony took place at the McCormick terminals here this week-end on the vessel's arrival from the Atlantic Coast as her first trip in the line's service.

Young Forbes broke the proverbial bottle over her bow all right, but he had a thrilling time doing it. The first two efforts were duds and Forbes got thoroughly disgusted. On the third try the bottle flew off into space and crashed before onlookers below. Another bottle was produced and the christening was duly done.

The ship takes her place as the thirty-fifth operated by McCormick in the coastwise, intercoastal and Pacific-South American service. She was bought from the Shipping Board recently as the Western Ally, and converted into an oil burner, rated at fourteen knots, but to be held to a twenty-one-day schedule between here and New York. Capt. Martin Muhrer, commodore of the fleet, commands her.

MOUNTAIN CLIMBER. CITY GUEST

Dr. Best, Musician and Member of Alpine Clubs, Arrives From East

Dr. Cora Jonstone Best, physician, musician, mountain climber, a member of the Canadian and Japanese Alpine Clubs, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and is registered at the Biltmore. Dr. Best, who through her paternal ancestry is descended from the Johnstone Hopes of Scotland and traces her descent from Napoleon through her mother, has made twenty-five pioneer ascents of mountain peaks including Mt. Iconoclast, Mt. Pisa and Mt. Tupper in the Selkirk range in Canada.

Last year she climbed Fujijama during the winter season, the first time a woman ever had ventured to its summit in the snow. She has been awarded the distinguished climbers' badge by the English Alpine Club, and has climbed most of the famous peaks in America, Canada, Japan and the Swiss Alps.

Dr. Best is a linguist and an accredited geologist. She is a versatile musician and although the harmonica is her favorite instrument, one of which she always carries along with her, she plays the violin, piano, cornet, ukulele, trapdrum, xylophone, and at one time played first violin in the Thomas orchestra of Chicago.

The first thing Dr. Best did on arriving in Los Angeles was to charter an airplane and fly to Catalina, taking with her Miss Leta Horlocker, local artist.

Dr. Best will return east in a few weeks and go immediately to Iceland where she will remain to attend the Icelandic Thousand Year celebration, and from there she will go to Europe where she intends making an ascent of the Matterhorn.

Ohio Judge to Sit on Local Federal Bench

John M. Killits, United States District judge for the northern district of Ohio, tomorrow will begin sessions of the Federal court here, filling temporarily the vacancy created when United States District Judge Henning recently resigned.

Judge Killits was assigned to duty here because of the crowded condition of the court calendar, due to the resignation of Judge Henning. He will hold sessions here for about six weeks.

Police Hunting Thief With Lots of Small Change

In an effort to capture the thief who entered the home of Mrs. Grace E. Harrison at 2102 Kelton avenue, Westwood, early yesterday morning, police have asked shopkeepers to watch for a customer with a large quantity of small change.

The thief obtained $64 in quarters and $6 in dimes and pennies and $400 worth of jewelry. He entered the Harrison home with a passkey.

Canadians Will Crown Beauty

Miss Marion Cook of Toronto will be crowned Miss Canada as the climax of a parade and picnic in Pasadena, April 13, next, according to plans perfected last night at a meeting of several Canadian societies in the Philharmonic Auditorium. Miss Cook was selected Saturday afternoon at a reunion picnic of Canadians in Exposition Park, and was presented to the members of the group last night.

John Hooper, president of the Canadian Tourists' Society, last night announced that a ball will be held on March 8, next. In a short address he declared that "Canadians who come to the United States to live and to work, should become citizens of this country and not remain as British alien residents."

The three-day convention of the Canadian societies will end tonight with a social gathering at the Angelus Hotel.

Judges Again Name Hollins

Announcement has been made by United States District Judges James and McCormick that they have reappointed Samuel P. Hollins as United States Commissioner at Fresno. The appointment runs for four years.

Commissioner Hollins has held the same position at Fresno for several years.

SUSPECT RELEASED

Chauncey Butler Apple has been ordered released by United States Commissioner Head. Apple was accused of bringing Imogene Grey, 20 years of age, from Salinas, Kan., to Los Angeles for improper purposes. The court held there was not sufficient evidence to warrant holding the defendant.

YOUTH MAY BE TRIED FOR DEATH

Boy's Stepfather, Whom He Struck in Attempt to Stop Fight, Dies of Hurts

FRESNO, Feb. 16.—Edward Bullard of Navelencia died at the County Hospital here early today as the result of a fractured skull inflicted with a shovel by his 18-year-old stepson, Everett Leighton, and the boy probably will be charged with murder. It is the first time in Fresno county history that one so young has been held on such a charge. The fatal injury was inflicted by the youth about 2:30 a.m. Thursday when Bullard and Tom Street were engaged in a fight at Navelencia. According to the boy's statement to Asst. District Attorney Stewart, he struck Bullard over the head with the shovel when he feared his stepfather was about to choke Street to death.

The county authorities learned of the boy's part in the affair when he was called to the District Attorney's office for questioning after Bullard was brought to the County Hospital. Prior to young Leighton's confession that it was he who crushed Bullard's skull, it was believed that the injury was inflicted by Street, or when Bullard struck his head against something during the fight.

Leighton has been held at the Detention Home here since Friday and Stewart announced that a murder charge probably will be filed against him.

Water Company Gets Judgment in Braley Suit

HANFORD, Feb. 16.—Superior Judge Lamberson of Visalia has awarded judgment for the defendant in the case of Edward Braley and other landowners on the Empire tract near Stratford, against the Empire Water Company. The case was tried last May and ordered submitted on briefs. By the action Braley and his associates sought to have the court declare that the water company is a trustee of the water distributing systems. Also it was asked that the court declare the said trusteeship terminated and the trustees ejected.

In the memorandum of opinion filed with the judgment the court finds that certain shares of the capital stock of the Lemoore Canal and Irrigation Company are held in trust by the company for the landowners and that, although judgment must be given for the defendant water company, it is the opinion of the court that the defendant water company has "violated its duties under contract entered into with the plaintiffs." The court finds, however, that the defendant is not a trustee as to the ditches.

WILL CUTS OFF THREE OF WOMAN'S KIN

Because the daughter and granddaughter of Mrs. Nellie Siler, 2108 Brighton avenue, Wilmar, "left her alone in her illness," she cut them off with $1 each, according to her will, on file in Superior Court. The estate of Mrs. Siler, worth $10,000, is to go to Mrs. Lora Strong, a niece, after payments of $500 have been made to Ella Robinette, a sister, and Docie Pay, a niece. Those who are to receive $1 are Mrs. Sonia Evans, 246 East Fifteenth street, Santa Monica; Corinne Walsh, and Tom Patterson, son of the decedent, 120 Pierce street, San Francisco.

DINNER PLANNED FOR LIFE INSURANCE MAN

Plans for a dinner in honor of William M. Duff, the Equitable Life Assurance Society's Pittsburgh agent, tomorrow evening are announced by friends. Duff arrives tomorrow morning for a two-day visit. The dinner host will be Martin Prenter of 4543 Pickford street, Duff's father-in-law. Mr. Duff married Miss L. May Prenter in South Pasadena eleven years ago. They since have made their home in Ben Avon, a suburb of Pittsburgh.

Foreign School Art Work Shown

The Los Angeles Museum at Exposition Park is showing for two weeks an international exchange exhibition of school work in industrial arts and drawings. The material was derived from the International Art Congress in Prague in July, 1928. It includes original works of children between the ages of 5 to 16.

Also continuing through February are the drawings and paintings by Federico Cantu, and drawings by Mater Dominica Pehrisger who has been a cloistered man in Salzberg, Austria, for nearly thirty years and is doing, strangely, contemporary things.

The water colors by Elizabeth Spalding and John Whorf and the exhibition of contemporary American paintings continue to attract the attention of many visitors.

Hunt Ends for Fallen Plane

Abandonment of the search for an airplane, reported by a truck driver to have fallen in flames near the Ridge Route last Thursday night, was announced last night following a fruitless hunt by two Douglas observation ships of the National Guard.

Capt. Claude Morgan, head of the Sheriff's aviation detail, reported that the two planes, piloted by Lieuts. V. Chappiet and Victor Walton, flew back and forth for several hours over the territory where the plane was believed to have fallen.

It was the belief of Morgan and the two reserve officers that the truck driver had seen a small meteor fall and mistook it for a blazing plane.

Flying Lever Hits Railman

Struck by a flying brake club, John Bagle, 34 years of age, Southern Pacific Railway yard man, was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital early yesterday with a broken back. The accident, according to police, occurred on Spring street near the River Station. Bagle lives at 735 American Place.

Bagle, it was stated, was aiding in the switching of cars at the time.

Baron Levi Recalls Ties to Los Angeles More Than Half Century Ago

Baron George Henri Levi, bibliophile and the world's foremost authority on ancient duelling, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to Los Angeles yesterday memories of the city in which he paid his last visit here 31-year-old bibliophile is on of California and Nevada in search of rare books for 4000-volume library on which he says is the world's best. He came here from Reno the Dollar Around-the-world President Wilson.

"I remember Los Angeles as a sleepy Spanish town of about in 1876," he said, "and still how the horsemen used to go tearing into the Plaza on afternoons.

"One of the greatest days in my life was the battle here in which I participated in that year's Gen. Sherman quit in the Territory."

Baron Levi received his title from his father, who was decorated for nobility in 1863 by King Victor Emanuel, first King of united Italy. He proudly wears in his lapel ribbons of the Italian decoration of valor, awarded for his service in the World War.

ZUKOR IN CITY FOR VACATION

Film Executive Will Spend Two Weeks in Direction of Production Plans

Adolph Zukor, president of Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, arrived in Los Angeles from New York last night on the Santa Fe Chief. He was accompanied by Ralph A. Kohn, treasurer of the corporation; Harry M. Goetzman, assistant treasurer, and Walter Wanger, general manager of the production department.

Zukor and the other executives will remain on the West Coast about two weeks. While here, in addition to the usual annual vacation, they will attend conferences on the corporation's production plans for the 1930-31 season.

The visiting executives were met at the station by Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of Paramount, in charge of production; Sol Schulberg, general manager of the West Coast production; B. P. Schulberg, executive manager of the Coast studio, and a host of Coast and Behemk, Inc., officers and leaders of the industry.

"With a Southern California booster like Jesse Lasky on hand to get in touch with me, he can see that I spend my vacation in Los Angeles," Zukor declared as he stepped off the train.

Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh returned to the home of Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh's father, Dwight W. Morrow, in Santa Barbara last night following a week's flying trip to the Santa Fe Valley estate, heart of many thousands of acres owned by the late Mr. Morrow and of John J. Mitchell of Chicago.

The colonel spent part of the day inspecting three sites, one of which Santa Barbara may acquire as a municipal airport.

The northern trip was made in Lindbergh's old plane, a Falcon army-type. The return coast, however, is to be in a Lockheed-Sirius monoplane now at the Burbank factory.
